MR. EDITOR:-A few evenings since being thrown in the society of a very illiterate female. some observation was made in relation to artificial teeth :--she remarked that a dentist had kindly offered to extract all of hers--and furnish a complete set gratis-and she was perfectly willing too to bear the extraction, but had no idea having them replaced by others. Thinking it rather strange, curiosity prompted me to enquire her objection .- " Why," said she, " I could'nt stand to have 'em ribited to my jawbone, and that's the way they fix 'em in-it hurts particular bad I know."

Thinks I, good woman, if that's your notion of setting teeth, I don't wonder at your resolve to gum it the balance of your days .- Do you, Mr. NELLIE. EDITOR ?

A correspondent of the Charleston Standard, writing from Sumterville, South Carolina, on the 9th June, after noticing the unfavorable appearance of the crops, says:

My own opinion is, that, as a general thing. there cannot possibly be more than a half crop this year of every thing, and as we all made shor crops last year, what are we to do for the support of man and beast ?"

I was told this morning by a respectable gentleman, that a certain class of the people-I allude to the poor-are actually in a state of starvation, and I know that in many places they must suffer, unless aided from some source. 1 think our State Executive ought to call a Convention for the purpose of devising some plan by which the poor of the State might be fed for one or two months at least. The State is able to help them, and I think it ought to do so; if not, the burden will fall on a few private individ-uals. I think that the State could space at least Dr. M'Lane's Celebrate Liver Fills: one hundred thousand dollars, and not miss it.

The Sugar Question.—The N. Y. Times prediets a fall in the price of sugar. Just now there is a concerted movement among the speculators to keep it up, but it will not avail:

"The prospects for a full crop are highly encouraging. The high prices which have ruled the past two years have stimulated the production, while they have caused a diminution of consumption, and the natural consequences are increasing stocks and a tendency tolower prices. Besides, the crop of Louisiana promises to be nearly foar times greater than it was last year, and the yield of maple sugar has been much larger than was ever before known."

The New Slave Trade.—We announced some time since that Messrs, Regis, of Marseilles, had made a contract for the transportation of 20,000 African apprentices to the French colonies. We now learn from the Barcelona Fenix that the first vessel for this traffic has sailed from Marseilles, provided with sea passports by both the French and English governments for the coast of Africa. She takes out a cargo of small value, which is to be profitably invested in contracting negroes for ten years' service and conveying them to Martinique and Gonadappe. SOMETHING IN THE ATMOSPHERE. The editor of the Hantsville Independent, who was among the number of the guests of our city during last week, writes the following in a letter to his paper: We left the city of Augusta about nine o'clack, and passed over the Savannah river into the farfamed State of South Carolina. When fairly over the river, I felt a sensible change comover the spirit of my dream. I felt remarkably fighter, and if a man of resolution and nerve is choice. - Charleston Courier.

A stranger recently walked into the police court room at Woreester, Mass., and inquired what whiskey was worth a quart. Being told twenty-live cents, he ordered an enormous black ment to engage the enemy, when every soldier was bottle filled with the creature, whereupon the either leaning forward, in breathless expectation, or police man filled it with water, took thirty-seven and a half cents for it and advising him not to take any till he got outside of Worcester, for fear of being arrested, let him go. They think there was probably some tall swearing when the beatle was opened.

OBITUARY.

DIED, of Cholera Infantum on the 5th of June, 1857, MARY JOICE, infant daughter of George , and Emeline Sheppard, aged one year and four nonths, and twenty-seven days.

Why should we weep when one so young is called tway from earth? This babe knew naught of the charms or ills of life. With a her innocent breast o ties had been formed to bind her to earth. She had not become identified and entwined with the bjects around her through the affections, the only edium through which life and earth, and earthly hings are rendered sweet. She had not experienced the loss of a dear friend, in whose life and companonship was bound up all of earth, that made life agreeable. She lived not to feel the bitter pangs that I llow the wreck of dear'y cherished hopes and expectations. She lived not to see bright visions of ensure and happiness, dependent upon the affecon and society and sympathy of loved ones, vanish and leave the heart barren and desolate in the orime of life. These are the ills of maturer years the has escaped them. Her bright spirit, untarished by sin, has been horne away to Jesus' arms, nd in Heaven she will be educated and trained for an eternity of bliss. Let her parents, therefore ning'e tears of christian joy and gladness with hose of parental grief and sorrow.

DIED, at the residence of her husband in Edge field District, on the 31st May last, Mrs. NANCY BUTLER, consort of John Butler, in the 55th year of her age. The deceased was the daughter of John Jourdan -was married to John Butler in 1819, and joined be Baptist Church at Good Hope in 1822. Her bristian life was not only consistent, but it was an xhibition of the power of the Gospel she had proessed. Her deportment as a wife, a mother, a neighdor and a Christian, was marked by gentleress, kindness and quietude, which endeared her not oniy to her family, but to the community in which she lived. She left the world with expressions of her assurance of entering a better country-and an spressed desire for her family to meet her in Heaven. She eft to her husband and five children the rich legacy of a pieus life. May they follow that example, and meet with her who has gone bef re, in that land where there shall be no more death.

Dien, also, at the same place and on the sam Jay, JOHN J. BUTLER, son of John & Naney Butler, aged 14 years. This youth requested his riends around not to grieve for him,-that he was appy, and going to be with Jesus. He continued a sweet and affecting conversation to those loved ones around him, until the faint whispers of his oice were lost in death.
