FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 7. The fire which Governor Walker has upon his rear will not, probably, induce him to throw up his commission. Should he not be sustained by the administration, he will of course resign, and hazarded much popularity by accepting the Governorship of Kansas; and if he had any aspirations for the Presidency, it was the surest way to defeat them by taking that office.

The Northern anti-slavery party first commenced the fire upon him, but slackened it after his Topeka address. The South now opens its batteries, not only upon him, but the administration, so far as they sustain him, and they call upon the President to remove him.

The Cabinet have considered the subject, and though they may think that Governor Walker has gone rather too far, they will not decide to dismiss him. It was rumored that an authentic exposition of the views of the administration on the subject was to appear; and it probably may be found in the article in the Union of this

This article maintains the right of the people of Kansas to decide the question of slavery for themselves, and declares that the constitution of Kansas must come from the people themselves; and that this is the only mode for settling a strife disastrous to the interests of the country, and, perhaps, dangerous to the peace of the Union. The Union also states that Gov. Walker is in active co-operation with the Democratic party in Kansas, and is supported by the pro-slavery press of that Territory; and that no complaint of his conduct arises from the quarter from which it ought to come, if there was any ground

Russia does not agree to military cooperation, but will employ all peaceful means for the purpose of inducing China to open her ports to the commerce of the world, and also to receive diplomatic representatives at the seat of Imperial Government, Peking.

LATER FROM KANSAS.

St. Louis, July 7 .- An unpublished letter in the Republican says the Democratic Convention which met at Lecompton on the third, was composed of a majority of pro Slavery men; but that the whole Democratic party will support Walker's inaugural, and the submission of the Constitution to the people. Resolutions were passed excluding all sectional distinctions—adopting the Cincinnati platform assuming that the name "National Democracy of Kansas," embraced all Democrats, whether from the North or South. Governor Walker was invited to address the Convention, which he did with great effect. Ex-Secretary Marcy died at the Sans Souc Hotel, Ballston, at noon on Saturday 4th inst. He complained of a pain in his side shortly after breakfast, and walked to the office of Dr. Moore. Not finding the doctor in he returned to his room in the hotel. In a few minutes after the doctor came and found Mr. Marcy lying dead in his room on a couch, with an open book on his breast. Kansas.—The following is an extract from the Herald of Freedom, the leading organ of the free State party of Kansas, which is published at Lawrence in that Territory. The article from which this extract is taken, appears in its issue of the 23d of May, and is throughout a yielding of the point that Kansas will be a slave State.

We are fully satisfied that the "powers that be" have resolved to form a State Constitution which shall be silent on the question of slavery. They expect to organize under that Constitution and send up two Senators and one Representative; and they expect to secure seats in the next Congress. National Democrats of course, they will secure seats, and the question will be settled for all time. A pro-slavery legislature will legalize the institution of slavery, and make the holding of slavery as it now does in some of the southern States, the qualification of a votor. The institution is fixed, the people are disfranchised, and the question is permanently settled. The Republican party may triumph in 1860, but the question is beyond the reach of politicians. True, a new set of men, may get into office, but the one hundred and thirty thousand square miles of Kansas is doomed to the bondman's. lash, and

TO FEMALES. DEBILITY AND PROSTRATION OF SYSTEM, NERVOUSNESS, PAIN IN BACK AND LOINS &c. &c.

As a remedy for weak and debilitated Females As a remedy for weak and debitated remains, there are few, if any, equal to BLISS' DYSPEPTIC REMEDY. Its action is prompt and effectual, and unlike nearly all other tonic preparations, such as con, bismuth, acids, bark, &c., whose action is atded with more or less of irritation and excitement to the system, is purely a tonic, and entirely free from any irritating qualities, and, from this fact, is peculiarly applicable to those cases of long continued debility. frequently met with among females.

It will be remembered that nine out of every ten of those cases of long continued debility, arise from dis-ease of the stomach. Debility, loss of strength, languer and prostration of system, are mere symptoms of disease, a disease which in a great majority of cases, is in the mucus membrane of the stomach, and to this membrane should remedial treatment be directed, that the cause may be removed, and with it the prostration patient—her temperament, condition, and state of the system. It should be remembered by every female that the disease which they look upon as "general debility" and prostration of the powers of the sysking. It would be too much to expect of this or any other Remedy, that a disease which has been growing upon the patient and taking deeper and deeper root into the system, year after year, shall be cured in a process, for an entire change has to be wrought throughout the whole system,—the impoverished blood must be improved both in quality and quantity-all suppressed and deficient secretions restored-tone, strength and vigor given to the muscular system-the vervous system braced up; and to bring about all these changes, not only a good remedial agent must be made use of, but time must necessarily be had for the system to bring about such great and important changes. Let these facts be remembered by all pa-tients, whether they take Bliss' Dispeptic Remedy or also be remembered in the taking of this Remedy that there should be a perseverance and regularity, and as much of the auxiliary treatment carried out as cir-cumstances will admit of. If this is done, the patient may rest assured that there will be a gradual and steady improvement; the debility and prostration, and the whole category of little pains and aches, pains in the back, loins, face, head, &c., will all gradually subside. I am very frequently inquired of whether it would not be well to take some of the preparations in con-junction with the Remedy. No; take nothing, for you need nothing else; and besides, the preparations of iron, bismuth, &c., would, in a great many cases, produce only an additional irritation of the stomach, the very thing that you are trying to get rid of; and not only this, those preparations would do no good, for they would not be taken into the circulation from the closed state of the mouths of the lactael vessels, which I have already described in my previous advertisements. In conclusion, let me once more assure very female, that by a steady and persevering taking the trial of it, as neither the proprietor, nor those having it for sale, desire any one to take it unless they

A MAN 6 feet high, of large frame, black hair, eyes and beard, and dressed with white coat, black pantaloons and soft hat, and calling himself POPE, and a planter from Marion District, borrowed from me on Tuesday morning last, my sor-rel MARE, to ride across the River to Glymph's Store, on business of pressing importance, and to return immediately. After leaving Monticello, he turned to Hughy's Ferry, asked for Mr. Wise, (at several places) who lives, as he said, near McNary's Ferry, on Saluda. As he is now, probably, far out of the State, and has likely traded the Mare, I will give $25 for information of her. She is about 15 hands high, no white remembered, excepting a few roan hairs, light sorrel, and the left fore knee slightly sprung. She is a rapid single footed pacer, trots fast, walks and canters well and is newly shod.
