WOOLLAY TOWN HATS! Messrs. WOOLLAY & SON, NEAR GRANITEVILLE, S. C.,

ESPECTFULLY announce to the citizens of South Carolina and the South at large, that they are now prepared to turnish

HATS OF EVERY STYLE AND QUALITY, As well made, of as good ma'erial, and on as reasonable terms as can be found any where in the Co!. Simkins, Editor of the Advertiser, a man of taste and good judgement, commend our Hats in the following style:

" Messrs. Woollay & Sox, residing between Graniteville v llage and the Graniteville Depot, have established a hat making business which deserves honorable mention. They exhibit specimens of their work at our late District Fair, which readily took a premium. Their hats of all kinds commanded general admiration. Have ing procured one for our own caput, we can speak advisedly upon the subject. Messrs. Woollay's fine dress hats are of superior quality; and, though very taking at sight, they decidedly improve on acquaintance. The one we now wear is a capital hat, and we like it better and better every day. General McGowan, of Abbeville, wore of one from his last visit down this way, and we have no doubt he is delighted with it. All who have tried them, like them. An experienced dealer in the article examined ours the other day, and, not knowing it was of Edgefield manufacture, frankly gave the opinion that it was a first rate hat. This is the candil expression of one who trades with the best houses of New York. Messrs. Woollay not only make fine hats but common ones,-not only men's hats but boy's hats,-plantation hats and business hats,—young America's hats and Senators' hats. We wish them much good luck in their business. They ought to be encouraged in their handsome and useful branch of manufactures. Messrs. Woollay, we had almost forgot to say, took the premium at the last State Fair, and we confidently predict that they will do so at the approaching Columbia Fair. Why? Because their work is good, and no mistake. Under the circumstances, should not Messrs. Woollay be encouraged, especially by the people of Edgefield among whom they have cast their lot? Surely they should. Send down then to them at Graniteville -send your measures and order your hats Try them, merchants. Try them, planters. Try them, all of you. Their enterprize is a good one. Their work is good. Their prices are fair. Their hats are both fine and comfortable. Try them once, and we venture to say you will try them again.' Persons desiring further information will please address us at Graniteville, S. C. J. WOOLLAY & SON.
