

A company of Southern ladies were one day assembled in a friend's pralor, when the conversation chanced to turn on earthly affliction. Each had her story on peculiar trial and bereavement to relate except one pale, sad looking woman, whose lustreless eye and dejected air showed that she was a prey to the deepest melancholy. Suddenly arousing herself, she said in a hollow voice, "Not one of you know what troubleis."

"Will you please, Mrs. Gray," said the kind voice of a lady who well knew trouble.

"I will if you desire," she replied, " for I have seen it. My parents possessed a out of the vessel the above soaps, pour competence and my girllood was sur- in water enough to wash off the sides and rounded by all the comforts of life. I bottom and boil 20 minutes. Then pour seldom knew an ungratified wish, and off to cool, and you have elegant jeliy was always gay and light hearted. I soap for washing clothes, etc. married at nineteen one l loved more than all the world besides. Years rolled on peacefully. Five children sataround our table, and a little curly head still nestled in my bosom One night about sundown one of those fierce black storms came on, which are so common in our Southern climate. For many hours the rain poured down incessantly. Morning skiwned, still the elements raved. . The whole Savannah seemed atioat. The little stream near our dwelling became a regular torrent. Before we were aware of it. managed, with my babe to reach a little ing trees were standing, whose dense foliage affords some protection, while, my husband, and sons strove to save what unt trouble.

" Prosently my sons saw their danger, and the struggle for life become the only and I watched their efforts to escape with such agony as only mothers can feel. They were so far off I could not speak to them, but I could see them closing nearer and nearer to each other, as their little island grew smaller and smaller.

"The sullen river raged around the huge trees; dead branches, upturned trunks, wrecks of houses, drowning cattle, messes of rubbish, all went floating pass us. My boys waved their hands to me. then pointed upwards. I knew it was a farewell signal, and you, mothers, cannot imagine my anguish. I saw them all perish, and yet-that was not trouble.

"I hugged my baby close to my heart, and when the water rose to my feet, I climbed into the low branches of the tree, and so kept retiring before it, until an ed-yet that was not trouble.

" My baby was all I had left on earth. I labored night and day to support him and myself, and sought to train him in the right way; but as he grew older, evil companions won him away from me. . He ceased to care for his mother's counsels; he would sneer at her entreaties and agonizing prayers. He left my humble roof that he might be unrestrained in the pursuit of evil; and at last, when heated by wine one night, he took the life of a fellow-being, and ended his own upon the scaffold. My Heavenly Father had filled my cup of sorrow before, but now it ran over. That was trouble, ladies, such as I hope Ilis mercy will spare you from ever experiencing. There was no dry eye among her listeners, and the warmest sympathy was expressed for the bereaved mother, whose sad history has taught them a useful lescon-Baltimore Patriot.

Domestic Recipes for Blockade Times.

TO MAKE FAMILY SOAP .- Take six pounds of bar soap, one quarter of a bound of sal soda, three teaspoonfull spir ts turpentine, one and a half teaspoonsfull of camphor, two teaspoonsfull of salt. Cut the scap up fine, boil the water and add all the ingredients, and boil 30 min-utes, take off and pour into shallow vessels to cool and harden.

Ladies-no peck of lime; add thereto as much water one loved a husband more--but that was as will dissolve the lime and leave about two gailons of clear water after it has been well stirred and settled. Let it stand about two hours, and then pour off the consideration. They were brave, loving clear liquid into another vessel. Now boys as ever blessed a mother's heart, add to it three ounces of pearlash for every gallon of the liquid, stir it well, and, when settled, bottle it for use. This liquor is to be diluted with water, to suit the strength or delicacy of the colour of the cloth. It is applied with a piece of coarse sponge, rubbing out the grease, and applying clear water afterwards.

Per contra, cotton is selling in the Southern markets at from 9 to 12 cents, and in the Northern at 22 cents. The South can better afford to sell the royal ! staple at 6 cents than the North can to buy it at 22 conts.

All this is the fruit of the Yankee war. Which side suffers most from the change ? | Which is the most badly "hart?"

APPLES FOR THE LADIES .- We learn that an old gentleman, from Blount county, with a load of fine apples, in going by the Baptist Church yesterday evening, and on seeing (as is always the case) a large number of our patriotic and benevolent ladies busily engaged sewing, supposed it to be a tailor's shop, and went in, and endeavored to sell them his apples. The ladies informed him that they were working for the soldiers, and they had no money to buy his apples. The old gentleman studied awhile, asked if they did p.t get paid for the work they were doing. They, of course, told him they did not ; that they were working for our brave soldiers in the field, and that their object was purely a benevolent and charitable sortment on examination Whereupon the old man said, "Well, I suppose you want the apples, and as you are working for the soldiers, you can have fem for nothing," and he generously donated his whole load of fine apples to the ladies .- Montgomery Mail.

MINISTRATION .- A Baltimore paper says : The Administration does not seem to care a straw as to the debt which is accumulating against the people. The people themselves begin, however, to think upon this matter and figure up the amount. The Washington Star, referring to a little item of thirty-nine thousand dollars, thrown away by Gen. Sickles in the purchase of useless guns for his brigade, says: "God help the war tax payers." If the war goes on at the present extravagant rate, "the war tax payers" will need some extraordinary help, for they will not be An extraordinary Cabinet meeting was held last evening from 73 till 10 o'clock, able themselves to raise the enormous amount of debt which is heaped up against
