From the New York Observer.

"We have had in use for months past one of West's pumps, which has given us more satisfaction as a fore and infing pump than any we have ever used. It is one of great power, and well adapted for ship's decks, mines factories, greenhouses, graperies, etc. The Mining Chronicle and Railteny Journal says: It is recommended for its extreme simplicity of construction, great strength and consequent durability and cheapness of repair. There is no stuffing box—the pressure being held by a cap-packing like upon the working-platen, working in a cylinder, fitted for the purpose within the upper air chamber—which we think a great movement, as stuffing is sollable to be deranged and leak under strong pressure to say nothing of the less by friction incident thereto.
