

The Methodist Supper. The supper, being gotten up by the ladies of the Methodist congregation to buy a new bell for their Church, will take place, as before announced, at the Masonic Hall, on Thursday evening the 25th inst. Considering the vast quantity of delicious edibles which will then and there be displayed—and more especially the purpose for which they have been prepared—these ladies deserve the largest patronage and success.

Hear! All Ye Disabled Soldiers. A formal or three weeks back, a communication from Gen. Olin to Capt. Benj. Roper, Tax Collector of Edgefield District, was published in this paper. In the said communication, the Governor requested Capt. Roper, to gather and forward to him a list of all men of this District who have been disabled by the casualties of the late war. Simultaneously with the publication of his Excellency's letter, Capt. Roper requested all persons so disabled to send him their names and a statement of their loss of limbs, &c. This request is now reiterated. His address is Edgefield C. H. He is anxious to send on this list in the early part of November. Soldiers disabled during the war will not be acting wisely to neglect this matter.

A Plain Statement. The Conservative Party, or the party of President Johnson, has to gain twenty-two Representatives in Congress in order to be able to prevent the passage of bills over a veto. The elections are over in Maine, Vermont, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Iowa, and the Conservative Party has gained not a member. Further elections will take place during the month coming.

Beauty, Fashion, Intelligence and Taste. Assemble daily, and we may say nightly, at the brilliant Military Bazaar of Mrs. Reed in Columbia. It is said that such a bazaar and well-attended assortment of fall and winter Goods, as Ribbons, Fashionable Flowers, Bonnets, &c., &c., &c., never was seen in this South. Her advertisement in another column will tell her own whereabouts.

On the way to Fort Delaware. The Philadelphia Ledger of the 13th inst. says that the four Anderson (South Carolina) prisoners, the Messrs. Keyes, Senior and Junior, Byron and F. J. Stowers, convicted at Charleston South Carolina, of the murder of Union soldiers, passed through Philadelphia on Thursday, 11th inst., on their way from the Tortugas to Fort Delaware. They were in charge of Capt. Crabb, 5th United States Artillery.

M. Hyams & Co. At the Old Stand of G. T. DORTIC, 173 Broad Street, Augusta, opposite the Augusta Hotel, their advertisement in another column is a gem in its way—enough to make the mouth of asking water. It gives an exaggeration to deceive the unwary. The Groceries, the Wines, the Segars, the confectionery Luxuries in general, of Hyams & Co. are deservedly famous for their excellence; and there is every indication of their retaining this reputation for a long time to come.

Read This Paragraph by all Means. We hope that, in the flood of advertisement from Charleston and Augusta, our people are not overlooking the card of their long-remembered and well-proved fellow citizen, S. E. BOWEN, Esq., of Hamburg. He has changed his Grocery Agency into a General Commission Business, and will pay the Highest Price for Cotton, and Country Produce of all kinds, or will receive the same to Storage. But read his Card. Edgefield people know him too well for us to undertake the unnecessary task of saying commendatory things about him.

Ambrosial Times. Our generous friend Capt. E. F. SMITH, who lives in the hospitable region of Harmony, has sent the A. L. C. a couple of Bottles of unapproachable Corn Whiskey, clear and balmy enough to have been distilled by the coasts of Japhet. Consequently we are all delightfully excited, and say to friend SMITH: Command us, and we are your slaves.

We Express Our Regrets. The Chronicle & Sentinel of Augusta, as popular and as much honored on our side of the Savannah as on its own, pays us the compliment of being aware that we were late in Augusta, and did not during our stay make the acquaintance of the able and estimable gentlemen who form its editorial staff. That we did not call on them is a mistake. We called, and had quite a flirtation with a polite lad who sat on a high bench before a high desk in a high room, and who informed us that Gen. WRIGHT was out. And we intended too to call again, for making the acquaintance of Genl. WRIGHT and Mr. ARKINSON and Mr. MOORE was an honor and pleasure we had especially proposed to ourselves. But this was one of the times—how often is it so!—when the proposing of man and the disposing of Heaven did not run in the same groove. As a future occasion we hope this proposing and disposing will run more smoothly together. And if so, we will claim the promised opening of the "key of bolts," and talking therefrom a tall big and long, will nail up our name firmly in the list of the Chronicle & Sentinel's best friends.

"One Price Store." See the advertisement so headed. 'Tis that of FRAZIER & SANDERS. No dealers know better than these how to please every fancy, nor do any enjoy more extensive facilities for buying the newest and most elegant goods in the market. Their goods are varied to suit every taste and capacity, and persons about to purchase any articles in the line of the "One Price Store," will consult their interest by giving FRAZIER & SANDERS a call.

James M. Youngblood With R. C. & H. H. Easterling. In another column will be found the advertisement of the Messrs. EASTERLING, than whom no Grocery or Commission Merchants in Augusta are more popular, or more resorted to. Their establishment, near the lower Market, is generally so thronged as to remind one of the crowd at an agricultural fair in a county town. Their stores give an exhibit of Groceries which cannot fail to please every seeker.

Death of Dr. R. W. Gibbs. We regret to observe in the Carolinian, of the 16th, the death of this eminent citizen of Columbia. The Carolinian says: "After a long and harassing illness, this well known and well-beloved citizen died yesterday afternoon; and to-day that that is mortal of one whose life is a part of the history of our State, and whose associations we know, will be laid to rest in the shadow of Old Trinity. We may not look upon his gentle form again, but he leaves behind him a memory and an example that will not be soon forgotten. As a high official of the State, the record of Surgeon-General Gibbs will be preserved among the precious heir-loom of the family. As a public servant, a devoted physician, a citizen of worth and virtue, a promoter of art, science, taste and enterprise, he will be long missed from the circles he was wont to adorn. "The shadow of a solemn sorrow" rests upon us, but who has gone before now wears the crown immortal!"

Another Triumph of Enterprise. The grand Dry Goods Establishment of the Messrs. RICHARDS in Augusta. These gentlemen are refugees from Fredericksburg or Alexandria, Va., but they are as well known in Augusta for worth and integrity as if they had lived there all the days of their life. Their advertisement in another column will show the attention of all men, all women, all children. The Constitutionalist describes this new store thus: "RICHARDS BROS. FINE STORE.—On account of a press of our matter the following description of the Messrs. Richards new store, near the Planters' Hotel, was crowded out of yesterday's issue. The building was commenced the 5th of July. It is three stories high, one hundred and twenty feet long, and thirty feet wide. J. S. O'Connell, contractor, has done the masonry, brick work, and iron work; Boardman and Peckard, iron work, and J. N. Fisk, painter. The store room is now complete, only lacking the large show windows of French plate glass, which are soon to be placed in front, leaving a main entrance of fourteen feet. As you enter the store room you see on each side notions and small wares of all kinds for ladies' and gents' use. Below this on the right are all kinds of new goods from the lowest to the finest fabrics. This department extends to the rear of the building. On the opposite side near the entrance are all kinds of cassimere, cloths, &c., &c., and below this are heavy goods of all kinds, such as brown, bleached shirtings and sheetings, linen goods, toweling, bed blankets, &c., &c. Extending through the centre of the store are counter counters, upon which are displayed samples of embroidered notions, ribbons, &c., &c., half way between the rear and back is a magnificent skylight which throws a beautiful and soft light upon the whole store; and just under this are made arrangements for displaying cloths, the middle of the store. In a stair leading to an upper room, which is used exclusively as a warehouse room. In this are piled up all kinds of goods, from which merchants may make good selections, and at prices comparing well with those in the Northern cities. It was a visit to alone see this admirably arranged store, but the Messrs. Richards are so desirous to reach their views in another way, and do it by offering goods at the smallest advances over cost possible; and this they can afford to do, as they have no high rents to pay."

Madame Victor Pettit. A woman whose written life would make a stranger and more interesting than fiction. She is at the head of a great French and English Boarding and Day School in Charleston, where she has lived for ten or fifteen years past. We beg for her card particular attention and consideration. We know her well. She is a woman magnificently accomplished; and her energy and administrative talent are equalled only by her conscientiousness and high sense of honor. She was Maria Van Noerbeek, and taught in the Pensionnat in Brussels which has been made so famous by Chateaubriand. Emily Ponticotti, one of these distinguished women Madame Pettit knew well and helped to educate. Since leaving her own country, Madame P.'s life has been one of standing vicissitudes; but in was as in weal she has proved herself a heroine in the battle of life. If ever woman deserved encouragement and patronage on account of learning, energy and great strength of character, that woman is Madame Victor Pettit. Her step-daughter, formerly Miss EMILIE PETTIT, now Mrs. BARNOR, and teacher of music in this school, is perhaps the best pianist in the State. We most earnestly and urgently commend to the people of Edgefield District the Boarding School of Madame Victor Pettit, No. 10, Broad Street, Charleston.

Mrs. Bonnetheau, Daughter of Mrs. Dupre. Who, except the extremely young, does not remember Mrs. DuPRE's famous and elegant Female School in Charleston? That school, to which, ten or twelve years ago, almost every young girl was sent to be finished and polished. Mrs. BONNETHEAU, to whose advertisement we call special attention, is a daughter of this same well known Mrs. DuPRE. She has opened a French and English School for young ladies so near as Augusta. She is a teacher of long experience, is a lady of the most finished education and accomplishment; has spent half her days in European capitals learning all that is useful, aesthetic, artistic; and will, we are sure, disappoint the hopes and expectations of no parent who entrusts a daughter to her care and tuition.

A Famous Rest for the Weary. Famous in the past, but destined to be infinitely more famous in the future. We mean the Planters' Hotel, Augusta. It has been kept for years past by Mr. ROBBINS, and, he having retired, it has fallen into the hands of the great NICKERSON. The great NICKERSON of Charleston and of the Mills House, and more recently of Columbia. The Planters' has been rehabilitated without regard to expense; its elegance and luxuries we have seen with our own eyes. We had the honor of being conducted through it by Dr. DEXTER, a high-toned gentleman whom the vicissitudes of war have driven from his home in Barwell; he will act, if we mistake not, as clerk and general superintendent of the new establishment. So the Planters stands once more with open doors, and beckons its friends from North and South, and East and West. They will find it in the same place, that elegant up-town corner. They will find dining saloons abounding in comfort, larders abounding in the choicest products of the market, kitchens most wonderfully and conveniently arranged, and, in short, an establishment which will be from top to bottom, inside and out, first-class. A card from Mr. NICKERSON in another column will throw still further light on this important subject.

Pennsylvania Elections. An intelligent and well informed gentleman, of high position, a citizen of the "Keystone State," in a private letter addressed to the editor of the Nashville Union and American, under date of the 11th, says: "Gentry's majority will be less than ten thousand, and the Radicals will lose a large amount of money. They bet largely on 15,000 and 20,000 majority for Geary. This is some consolation at least. The Radicals carried the State last year by 22,160, so that we have gained at least 12,700 votes. "What the result will be, God only knows. The Radical Congress at its next session will no doubt carry things with a high hand; but I do hope and pray that President Johnson will have the nerve to recognize the Southern members, with the Democracy of the North, as the only loyal and constitutional Congress. We polled at the last election about 600,000 votes, and the result shows the parties are nearly equal, and if the Radicals push things to extremities, they will suffer for their impetuosity, all that a bitter war can bring upon them."

James Stephens, Pontiac Head Centre, via a speech at St. Louis, on the 18th, in which he declared that the battle for Irish independence would commence on Irish soil before new year.

Mr. H. S. Casson, Esq., was elected Sheriff of Abbeville District, on the 9th inst.

The Augusta Daily Press, of Wednesday last, says: "The number of Cotton and produce wagons in town yesterday, gave our streets the lively and business-like appearance they rejoiced in, in the 'old times'—the time of peace and general prosperity."

General Butler said in a recent speech that the rattlesnake was no brother of his. This announcement will go far towards removing the odium that attaches to that reptile.

When the War began.—The Journal and Messenger says the Attorney General and Second Comptroller concur in the opinion that the 20th of August, 1866, is the date of the President's proclamation declaring the insurrection to be at an end, should be taken as the date of the termination of the war.

Improvement of the President.—Hon. Thomas Williams, a Radical member of the present Congress, and re-elected by an increased majority in Pennsylvania, pledged himself publicly that if elected he would prefer charges of impeachment against President Johnson.

Twinnam & Summers, At 316, Broad Street, Augusta. If we are not mistaken, this is a branch of a very long-established and widely-known house in Savannah, Ga. As will be seen by their card, in another part of to-day's issue, they are Shipping and Commission Merchants, and offer for sale Bacon, Corn, Flour, Whiskies, Wines, Brandies, &c. If we remember aright, their spacious warehouse is almost immediately opposite the Planters' Hotel. TWINNAM & SUMMERS of Augusta are young gentlemen, reliable, energetic and courteous. We hope their names may become widely known throughout Edgefield; and that Edgelfield patronage may conduce much to their future prosperity.

The Radical chiefs distrust General Grant. They threaten that they will "unmake him as quick as he was made," if he takes side with the President in the struggle which they contemplate between him and Congress. He is openly denounced as a rebel sympathizer and revolutionist. If they supersede Johnson they will not permit Grant to remain at the head of the army. Ben Butler will doubtless be their military chief.

A letter has been received in Washington city from Lieut. Gen. Sherman, discussing the political situation and emphatically approving of the President's policy of restoration.

Dispatches are still passing over the cable line between Maximilian and the Emperor of France. The 1st one, sent this week, from New Orleans, where it was received from Mexico, cost nearly $10,000 in currency, the cash being furnished promptly by Max's agent.

The United States Internal Revenue Collectors for Texas have authorized planters to send their cotton to their consignees, from whom they will collect the taxes. This is done so not to detain the cotton unnecessarily on the plantations.

Parson Henry Ward Beecher made a speech at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, New York, on the 16th, in the course of which he advocated the passage of the constitutional amendment. He expressed his confidence in the good disposition of the South, characterized the Republican party as the true guardian of the Government, and declared it to be the duty of the North to educate the South into a recognition of entire justice.

The Governor of Mississippi considers the Constitutional amendment as an insult to the whole people of the South, and says he presumes that it will only be necessary to read it to the Legislature for that body to reject it. The Legislature merely ordered the message to be read.

The Secretary of War, in conformity with the recommendation of the Surgeon-General, has issued an order disinclining, on the 1st of November next, the military quarantine established in Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas.

From Washington. WASHINGTON, October 19. The State Department has received a communication from our Consul at Gympas, dated Sept. 11, stating that the execution of that port and the State of Sonora by the French squadron had forced to take place on the 14th of September. He was officially informed of this fact by the Admiral in command. The preparations for embarkation which have been going on for the last few days, and the fact of the withdrawal of these forces have created a panic among the population, both native and foreign, and in consequence the steamer which leaves on the 13th for Mazatlan and San Francisco would be crowded beyond her capacity.

The merchant and respectable families not compromised in the political difficulties apprehending danger from the lower classes during the interim of the withdrawal of French troops, and the entering of the Liberal forces, have sought the protection of the United States Consul, who has addressed a letter to Gov. Purgess, the Chief of the Liberal forces of the State with an appeal to his generosity and who are now preparing to flee from the country. This had the effect of quieting apprehensions.

The State Department has received a communication from our Consul at Peru, informing the Government that a native Ohij resident in Lima has left for the United States, with the object of contracting for ten thousand families of negroes for that country. This speculation is under the purview of free colonization; but in fact, the negroes are to be sold in the same manner as the Chinese Coolies, for the term of eight years. The State Department has issued circulars to the Governors of the several States, suggesting all legal and moral measures to be used to prevent the consummation of such a wrong.

A delegation from North Carolina and Virginia, called upon the Commissioners of Internal Revenue this morning with a view to having a change made in the regulations issued by that officer governing the shipment of cotton.

The Results of the Recent Elections may be summed up as follows: The Radical majority in Pennsylvania has been slightly reduced, compared with the elections of 1862-45. The Conservatives lose one member of Congress. The Radical majority in Indiana has been short of several thousand votes. The Conservatives have gained one Congressman. In Ohio the Radicals have increased majorities. Still, the Conservatives have gained one Congressman.

Iowa is ultra Radical and holds about her usual majority. All her Congressmen, six in number, are Radicals. The Radicals had it their own way in the Baltimore municipal election, fully two-thirds of the voters being disfranchised by the construction placed upon the registry law at the eleventh hour by the Radical officials.

RADICAL MEETING.—The New York Times of Monday tells the South not to be obstinate and reject the terms of admission to re-join the Union. The sentiment of the presentation, proposed in the Constitutional Amendment, and in another column has the following: THE MASS MEETING.—The Radical Republican meeting at Cent. Institute last evening was very successful. The hall was crowded and still scarcely a foot of standing room was left unoccupied, and five or six thousand people gathered about the outside stands. The principal addresses were delivered by Hon. Hannibal Hamlin, ex Vice President, and Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts. It was a noticeable feature of the assemblage that the more radical the utterances of these thorough Radical orators, the greater the applause and enthusiasm of the crowd. The sentiment uttered by Mr. Sumner to the effect that while he recognized that the Southern States were as much in the Union as ever for all purposes of taxation, &c., they could not be represented in Congress until Congress chose to admit them, was received with great cheering and cries of "keep them out."

CITY OF CHARLESTON STOCK.—The News says we are allowed to learn that sales of Charleston Six Per Cent. Stock has lately taken place at seventy five cents on the dollar. This is a considerable advance on the price which has lately prevailed, and we hope that it is an indication that our local stocks, which have been much depressed, will soon bring a price in the market equal to that of the cities of Savannah and Augusta.

When the War began.—The Journal and Messenger says the Attorney General and Second Comptroller concur in the opinion that the 20th of August, 1866, is the date of the President's proclamation declaring the insurrection to be at an end, should be taken as the date of the termination of the war.

HYMENEAL. MARRIED, on Thursday evening, the 18th inst., by the Rev. D. D. BRUNSON, Mr. OSCAR CHEAT, Gardener, and Miss MATTIE L., daughter of S. W. Gardner, Esq., all of this District. In this case we have to thank the fair and youthful bride for a handsome present of wedding cake. And to her, and our young friend whom she has promised to love and obey, we beg leave to offer our kindest congratulations. May joy and love ever attend their footsteps upon the path of life, no longer divided; and all be bright and pleasant and hopeful, above, about and around them, to the very last chapter of life's uncertain book.
