Cheer up, brother, let thy vision Look above, see! light is near, Soon will come the next transition, "Trust in God, and persevere." Brother, has life's hope receded,

Hast thou sought its joys in vain? Friends proved false when mostly needed, Foes rejoicing at thy pain? Cheer up, brother, there's a blessing Waiting for thee -never fear;

Fies forgiving, sins confessing, "Trust in God, and persevere."

Brother, all things round are calling With united voice, "be strong!" Though the wrongs of earth be galling, They mu-t lose their strength ere long. Yes, my brother, though life's troubles Drive thee near the dark despair, Soon 'twill vanish like a bubble, "Trust in God, and persevere."

ile, from His high throne in Heaven Watches every step you take, He will see each fetter riven Which your focs in anger make.

Cheer up, brother, He has power To dry up the bitter tear, And though darkest tempests lower, "Trust in God, and persevere."

Brother, there's a quiet slumber Waiting for thee in the grave; Brother, theje's a glorious number Christ in mercy deigns to save; Wait, then, till life's quiet even Cluse round thee, calm and clear, And, till called from earth to Heaven, "Trust in God, and persevere."

Sut Luvengood and his Dad's Dorg. At the request of our "Devil" we republish "Sut Luvengood's" plan of bursting up a "wuthless old hoon dorg." It is an old story, but a good one, and will bear repetition:

When I wer a boy, and my legs not longer than John Wentworth's, dad fotched home a durned wurthless, mangy, fleabitten, gray old fox houn, good for nuthing but to swaller up what orter lined the bowels of his brats. Well, I naturally took a distaste to him, and had a sort of hankerin arter hurtin his feelings and discumfortin ov him every time dad's back wer turned. This sorter kept a big skeer allers afore his eyes, and a orful yell ready to pour cut the first motion he seed me make. So he larnt to swaller things as he run, and allers kept his laigs well under himself, for he never knowd how soon he might want to use em in totin his infernal carcus beyond the reach ov a flyin rock. He knowed the whiz ov a rock in moshun well, and he never stopt tu see who flung it, but just let his head fly open tu gin a howl room to cum, and set his laigs a gwyin the way his nose happened to be pintin. He'd shy round every rock he seed in the road, for he looked upon it as a calamity tu cum arter him sum day. I tell you, Georgy, that miles into quarters? They'll do. Well, one day, I tuck a pigs bladder ni unto the size ov a duck's aig, and filled it with powder and corked it up with a piece ov spunk, rolled it up in a thin sculp ov meat, and sot the spunk a fire, and flung it out; he swallered it at a jerk, and sot into gitting away fur doin it. I hearn a noise like bustin somethin. and his tail lit on top of my hat. His head were a way down the hill and hit took a death hold onter a root. His fore legs were . fifty feet up the road makin runnin moshuns, and his hind ones a straddil ov a fence. Es tu the dorg hisself, es a dorg, I never seed him agin. Well, dad, durn his onsanctified soul, flung five or six hundred under my shirt Watches, Clocks and Jewelry with the dried hide of a bull's tail, and gave me the remainder next day with a wagon whip he borrowed from a fellow who was waterin his hosses; the wagoner got sorry for me, and hollered me to turn good's Revelations. Not long since, a middle-aged gentleman and a young lady happened to be the only passengers starting that morning in the stage for J ---. They were strangers to each other. The lady was carrying a large white rabbit-a pet. Just before the stage stopped at a tollgate, the lady asked the gentleman to tels, rights and credits of Samuel Brooks, late of hold the rabbit a moment, while she ar- the District aforesaid, dec'd. ranged some of her packages. He took it, covered it in his shawl, and snugged it in a manner quite fatherly. The gatekeeper noticed it asked if it ask the vehicle had resumed its journey, the gentleman handed back the pet, saying, "What beautiful eyes—just like its mother's!" "Yes," responded the damsel, since Eda was, at her own request, allowed to go to Sabbath School, her first time, and there she learned the startling intelligence that she was made of dust. Little Eda's mind was fully impressed with the importance of the great truth as was made of the Boltzmann of the District aforesaid, and chattels, rights and credits of Abmer W. Asbill, late of the District aforesaid, importance of the great truth, as was eccased.

These are, therefore, to cite and admonish all the kindred and creditors of the subject, in the shape of questions answerable. This morning, however, she propounded a stunner, which brought down the house. Intently watching her mother sweeping, as if to learn the art she must should not be granted.

Sixual deceased, to be and appear before me, at our next Ordinary's Court for the said District, to be holden at Edgefield C. H., on the 4th day of Nov. next, to show cause, if any, why the said administration should not be granted.

Just as the dirt was to be swept into the street, the little philosopher burst forth with "Ma, ma! why don't you save the dust to make some more little girls?"

Going to H—L Alive.—At a farm ouse recently, in the lower end of Knox ouse recently, in the lower table had ounty some one at the supper table had house recently, in the lower end of Knox county, some one at the supper table had been reading the Governor's proclamation calling out the militia. The old lady listened with a first and credits of Thomas McKie, late of the District aforesaid dec'd. listened with painful attention. Dropping her knife and fork and wiping her mouth with the corner of her apron, she broke forth: "I just believe this war ain't over yet. These folks are goin' to begin to shoot one another again. I'll tell you, folks, what it is, if Brownlow don't die soon he'll go to h-l alive." After which she finished her supper.

When the celebrated Patrick Henry, of Virginia, was near the close of his life, the Bible, and addressed a friend who A LL persons having claims against the Estate Upon Cost Prices, and Lower than any other House in

The thought pained me more than the appellation of Tory; for I consider religion of infinitely higher impor-tance than politics, and I find much cause to reproach myself that I have lived so long and given no decided public proof of my being a Christian."

"Don't Like My Business." There is no greater fallacy in the world than that entertained by many young men that some pursuit in life can be found wholly suited to their tastes, whims and fancies. This philosopher's stone can never be discovered, and every one who makes his life a search for it will be ruined. Much truth is contained in the Irishman's remark: "It is niver aisy to work hard." Let, therefore, the fact be always remembered by the young, that no life-work can be found entirely agreeable to a man. Success always lies at the top of a hill; if we would reach it, we can do so only by hard, persevering effort, while beset with difficulties of every kind. Genius counts nothing in the battle of life. Determined, obstinate perseverance in one single channel, is everything. Hence, should any one of our young readers be debating in his mind a change of business, imagining he has a genius for some other, let.him at once dismiss the thought, as he would a temptation to do evil. If you think you made a mistake in choosing the pursuit or profession you did, don't make another by leaving it. Spend all your energies in working for and clinging to it, as you would to the life boat that sustained you in the middle of the ocean. If you leave it, it is almost certain that you will go down; but if you cling to it, informing yourself about it until you are its master, bending your every energy to the work, success is certain. Good, hard, honest effort steadily perserved in, will make your business or profession grow, since no one should expect to reach a period when he can feel that his life work is just the one he could have done best, and liked best. We are allowed to see and feel the roughness in our own pathway, but not in others; yet all have

"BEAUTIFUL RIVER."-Sabbath day s the beautiful river in the week of time. The other days are all troubled streams, whose angry waters are disturbed by the countless crafts that float upon them; but the pure river Sabbath flows on to eternal rest, chanting the sublime music of the silent, throbbing spheres, and timed by the pulsations of the everlasting life. Beautiful river Sabbath, glide on! Bear forth on thy bosom the poor, tired spirit, to the rest which it seeks, and the weary watching soul to endless bliss!
