WEDNESDAY, NOV 11, 1868. The Democracy of South Carolina. The smoke has not yet cleared away sufficient ly from the political battle-field in our State to see distinctly the true condition of affairs, but there seems just now a strong probability that the Democracy have carried South Carolina by a small majority. We will not, however, exult too soon. At all events, the Democracy of the State have fought a good fight, and sovered themselves with glory. REED, as Representative in Congress from the 3rd District, and SIMPSON, from the 4th. are undoubtedly elected. The white men of South Carolina have been true to her Democratic history, and true to those great principles, now obscured, but destined to shine forth again, and ty, glory and renown.
