Draws on the Harness Again. As will be seen by reference to our advertising column, our old and much esteemed friend, Dr. G. We will say nothing about the green pastures, but as regards the cooling drinks, Dr. SANDERS has boldly taken up the cudgets against old Sol. In short, the Doctor has opened his Soda Fount, and dispenses daily such Soda Water as would almost revivify a dead man.

Sweepingly Patronized!

Sweepingly patronized is the Augusta Grocery Establishment of F. E. STEVENS & Co., next door below the RICHARDS Brothers. They have, in this issue, a list of New Groceries which it is astounding to contemplate.

Home Skill and Home Taste.

We have just had the pleasure of inspecting a beautiful work of art at the Drug Store of Messrs. MARKERT & CLISny-a Prescription Case made by our fellow townsman Mr. JAMES PAUL. This Case is crescent in shape and consists of seven panels, each panel containing a gorgeous pane of stained glass. It is gorgeous pane of stained glass. It is constructed throughout of the most of the constructed throughout of the most exquisitely polished black Walnut. It is not, however, of the material or design, beautiful as they are, that we desire so much to speak, as of the admirably artistic manner in which the whole work is executed, reflecting, as it does, the highest praise and credit upon the ability and skill of Mr. PAUL. It is really worth a visit to MARKERT & CLISBY'S to see and inspect this beautifully made, and no less beautifully appointed, Prescription Case.

Supposing he can as well supply his own wants in his own town, District, or State, as elsewhere, he wrongs himself when he goes elsewhere to spend his money. When it is known that this is his rule of action, every fair dealer in his neighborhood will aim to trade with him, so as to enable him to realize the worth of his money. It is an injury to the place in which you live, to use your spare money for the benefit of a place elsewhere, and thus create a rival. Build up your own home interests, and thereby you increase the value of your own property. You will share in the profits if you wish to sell or remove at any time. In this old town, Spring is radiant and triumphant. In the park and around the public square the trees are as deeply green as in July. As we gaze from our window on this beautiful April morning all looks frightfully calm and peaceful And as if to illustrate the scene, a young salesman in a popular store across the way, closes both his front and back doors with an angry bang, and says jeeringly, "For fear I shall sell all these new goods before we can get more, I'll close up and bar out the crowd."

And there comes Dr. SANDERS, and we are reminded that he is the person hereabouts who first had green peas this spring. The Dr. had them more than two weeks ago; and next to him comes our friend CHARLIE CHEATHAM. But as regards cabbages CHARLIE is ahead of the Dr. So you all know now who are the two "big injuns" in the gardening

And perceive those nine little negroes going to school. Each one is abundantly laden with books, and each one, in turn, announces, in a sing-song voice, and with a peculiar African caper of the legs, "Iknow-my-less-o-n.!" the voice rising very high upon the last syllable. The negro school-house and the negro graveyard are upon the hill in the rear of Mr. BRYAN's residence, and the spot for so new a one, is curious and well worth vis iting. Both the number of graves and their floral decorations are subjects of surprise and astonishment. The school. we believe, is quite large. The most salient feature of our village

A day ar two ago we overheard a man who was trying to get a drink in a barroom on credit, say, "I'm colder of money just now than I ever was in my life be fore." There was a flatness and force about the expression that struck us wonderfully. Could anything be more strongly or more hopelessly expressive? We have added a chorus "Cold, Colder" Coldest," and we should like to see the man or woman in these parts, who could not take it up with a full and feeling

We learn (says the Anderson Intelligencer) from Judge Orr that there was little or no business before the Court, at Pickens last week, and that only two bills were given out to the Grand Jury, one of which was ignored. On the civil docket, no ease of importance went to trial. It will be remembered that the November term was even more destitute of interest, as there was not a single inof interest, as there was not a single indictment or any business before the Court. UNIVERSAL LIFE INSURANCE CO surance Company of the United States.

The business of this Company is EXCLUSIVE-LY confined to the Insurance of first class healthy lines. The Distinctive Feature of the Stock system of Life Insurance, as op-posed to the Mutual, is a low rate of premium for a stated sum insured, which is immediate, secured and certain; in lieu of a high rate of premium with a promised dividend, which is DISTART, CONTINGENT and PROPERTAIN; this so called dividend being merely a return of a portion of the excessive and unnecessary premium charged in the first instance. Illustration.

Suppose that an individual aged thirty desires to devote $200 a year for the purpose of will imme 'intoly secure him in the UNIVERSAL the sum of $11,751, payable on his decease. This sum, paid to a company charging the or-dinary mutual rates, would secure him the sum of $8,474—difference, tumediately secureil, in favor of the UNIVERSAL, $3,277. To illustrate the importance to the policy holder of low premiums in more general terms, it may be stated that by a reduction of thenty-fire per cent. in the rate of premium, the same amount of money will secure a policy thirty-three and one third per cent. greater, and likewise that a reduction of twenty-five per cents in the rate of premium is precisely equivalent to an annual cash dividend of thirty-three and one-third per cent, naughle in advance, or to a constituted per cent, naughle in advance or to a holder, who takes portion of the risk himself. The Premiums charged by the Universal are as low as the actual experience of insured life in this country will justify, and on the ordinary Life and Ten-Year Non-forfeiture policies are NEAR-LY ONE-THIRD LOWER than those charged by the majority of Mutual Companies.

Special attention is asked to our "Return Premium Plan," by which the amount of the policy is secured simply by the temporary deposit of the annual premiums, which are re-turned in full, together with the amount as-sured, to the holder of policy when it shall become a claim upon the Company.

A clause is inserted in the policies issued by the UNIVERSAL, in which these results are dis-
