

From Peters' Musical Monthly. Widder Spriggins' Daughter. BY A. T. GORHAM. 'Twas on a beautiful Summer morn, When things were up and down, And all among the pumpkins vines, The humbler bees were humming;

all times no matter how dark the hour, bitter the past, unfortunate the present, or seemingly immodest such demands for the right—Pomeroy's Democrat.

Brevities and Levities. One of the finest qualities in a human being is that nice sense of delicacy which renders it impossible for him to be an intruder or a bore.

General Wade Hampton has pronounced! According to his opinion, the Democracy of the Southern States must take back seats in the next Democratic National Convention; remain passive spectators; open not their mouths, and when the Convention is adjourned, return to their homes sadder if not wiser men.

It has been proposed that President Grant should have a salary of a hundred thousand dollars a year, on the ground that twenty-five thousand is not enough to maintain the dignity of his office.

A colored preacher at a Georgia camp meeting is said to have told his hearers that could never enter heaven with whiskey bottles in their pockets, and begged them to "bring on right up to the pulpit," and he would "offer 'em a sacrifice to de Lord."
