when Life Insurance Companies were first organized, the reliability of the data pon which the premiums were constructed had not undergone the test of experience. t was thought, therefore, no more than common prudence to adopt a scale of premiums which would, in any event, meet all the presumed and unforeseen contingencies of the ive, what possible excuse can there be for maintaining them? Availing themselves of this experience, the Directors and Managers of the Universal Life Insurance Company, at its organization, adopted a scale of premiums in accordance therewith, and which has proved to be fair and adequate, and all that was necessary to meet the requirements of the business. These premiums are about twenty-five per cent. lower than those charged by Mutual Companies.

It also appeared, inasmuch as the rates so established were as near as could possibly be determined fair rates, and not in excess of what Insurance has previously cost the Policyholders in Mutual Companies, that any profits arising from prudent management justly and properly belonged to the stockholders of the Company, for the risk incurred by them in undertaking the business.

Experience has shown that there are sources of profit in the practice of the business.

which theory will not admit of being considered as elements in the calculation of the premiums. These results from a saving in the mortality of the members of a Compremiums. These results from a saving in the mortality of the members of a Company owing to the medical selection of good lives, a gain in interest on the investments of the Company over that assumed in the calculation of its premiums, the profits derivable from the lapsing and surrender of Policies by the members, and from other

Profits from these sources, in a Company possessed of a capital of $200,000, and dong a fair amount of business, would give to the stockholders dividends largely in exress of what were counted on by the Directors of the Universal at the time of its organization. They have, therefore, determined to divide among the policyholders of the Company a large part of the profits accruing from the sources named, all of which taxe herefore been divided among the stockholders.

The plan adopted for such division is as follows: Every person who may hereafter insure with the Universal will, for the purposes of division, be treated as a stockholler to the extent of one Annual Premium upon his Policy; and will share in the prefits of the Company to precisely the same extent as a Stockholder owing an equal amount the capital stock.

By this system of Insurance, original with the Universal, the policyholder secures

By this system of Insurance, original with the Universal*, the policyholder secures the following important advantages:

First. Insurance at the regular "Stock" rates, requiring a primary outlay of about twenty to thirty per cent. less than that charged by Mutual Companies, and which is equivalent to a yearly "dividend" paid in advance of that amount on mutual rates. This low cost of insurance is worthy of attention. Since its organization this rates. This low cost of insurance is worthy of attention. To effect the same amount of insurance in a Mutual Company would have cost them an office the same amount of insurance in a Mutual Company would have cost them an old lady!"

John Anderson, my Jo, and his fond old lady!"

"I assure you that I prefer to resession this excess of $483,000, the Universal has virtually paid them a "dividend" of $153,000, and paid it, too, in advance, instead of at the end of one or more years. A question was raised, when the juror, by Mr. Johnson, that the juror must answer if he had formed any when the prosecution had selected among the number . but with witnesses have learned their lesson well, it appears as if they had tried very hard to do so. The scrutiny of cross examination that there had existed, at the time when it is alleged a secret organization was formed, a terrible state of fear and uncertainty as to security of life and property.

It was shown that numerous gin houses had been burned, and in some instances dwellings and barns had been destroyed by the ruthless incendiaries. The women of the county were living in a continued state of uncertainty, and when the father left his family in the morning to pursue his daily avocation, the feeling that he might return to find his dwelling in ashes, and his family homeless and houseless, accompanied him.
