The Cotton States Fair On Tuesday

our friend, Mr. Oscar Cheatham. His goods for the fall and winter are now reaching him daily. His advertisement will appear next week.

Read Carefully.

We present may new ad tisements and interesting reading matter each page of this issue, and beg the rear's careful attention therefor. Read closely, and profit by what you read.

Advertisements' crowded out this week, will have a "place in the picture" in our next issue without fail. Several communications on hand, and will be published as soon as we can make room for them. Do be patient with us, friends. Now is our harvest, and we must "make hay (bread) while the sun shines."

on Sunday last one white man and five negroes were lodged in jail at this place charged with robbing the store of Mr L. P. Rutland, living some three miles from Ridge Spring Depot.

Council of the Carolina Sportsman's Club, in the city of Charleston on Thursday, the city of the city day last, we notice in the list of Vice Presidents elected, the names of Mai. W. T. Garv and Capt. Robt. Hughes, of Edgefield.

Voting Going on Briskly.

To-day, Wednesday, the 16th, our town is througed with the sovereign people, easting their suffrages for State and casting their suffrages for State and County officers; At a very early hour the public square was already crowded with colored people, and several hundred perhaps had voted by 8 o'clock A. M. In our town there are two boxes, one in the Court House, one in the Ryan Hotel. In the multitude now present, there are at least six blacks to one white.

Six Days in Classin's Bowels. Of course everybody knows that Claf-lin's is the greatest of New York Wholeand some states of the sale Houses. And as for the Jonah who spent six days in the bowels of this mercantile whale, it is our young friend, Mr. J. H. Cheatham. Six days, hard at work, going gradually from the heaviest and coarsest fabries up to such stuffs as and coarsest fabrics up to such stuffs as a queen might wear, such gossamer films as a fairy's fingers might have woven, and such "tricks" and "no-tions" (vulgar Yankee words!) as only woven, and such "tricks" and "notions" (vulgar Yankee words!) as only a skinn; Down-Laster could have devised. And then a day in the bowels of Anderson, Starr & Co., for Ready-Made Clothing. And then—but we forgot that Mr. Cheatham speaks for himself this week in a huge and comprehensive advertisement. Read him carefully, and then go and see him; and you will adnot that his air, down by the household, angels are welcoming her pure little spirit into that house, ont made with hands, eternal in the Heavens. "Of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." Let this thought console the bereaved, and let them accept in humility the decree of Him who holds our destinies in the palm of his hand. The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord." then go and see him; and you will admit that his six days in the bowels of the whale were well spent.

Help This New Broom To Do Its

Fight this old adage to our young fleates Griffin & Coob, and help them to prove its truth. They have set out in the mercantile line—Dry Goods, and all that—bought out Branson, and all that—went to sea, and all that—went to sea, and all that—beguiled the mermaids and the whales—landed in the great Metropolis—worked like beaver—proved themselves gentlemen of infinite taste—bought the most beautiful goods you ever saw, of all kinds—are the best fellows in the world—Anal if we had a hundred thousand million of dollars to spend in their line, more than one half of it should go to them right straight off. We beg for their first advertisement the most special attention. And we hope their new broom may not only sweep up treasures upon this grimy earth, but that, fike the old woman's in the nursery rhyme, it may brush the cobwebs (golden ones) from the sky.

Promising to Become a Regular Dr. Tutt.

Of course everybedy knows that Dr. Tutt—a Georgia, Lineoln County manformerly of Augusta, at present of New York, is now the greatest manufacturer and compounder of medicines in the United States. Well, we have a young men in our midst who gives strong promise of turning out a second Dr Tutt. We mean our young friend, Mr. Willie Penn. He has just returned from New York, where, besides buying new Brugs, Meditain. where, besides baying new Brugs, Medicines, and the most Lovely Faney Articles the imagination ever iconceived of, he looked sharply into the Drug busines in general, and returned home thoroughly posted in his line, and fully up to the progress and adv neement of this wonderful nineteenth century. As regards Mr. G. L. Penn, we say nothing. His needed and the most speaks better for him than we can. For the newadvertisement of G. L. Penn & Son, we solicit wideof G L. This is the fifth important race Frank Hampton has won this year. this year.

Unusually Early Frost.

As early as Saturday last, the 12th inst (some say on the morning of the 11th) we had a slight frost in this section. On Tuesday merning, however, it was no longer slight, but very white and very distinct, blackening the cotton most de-cidedly and putting a stop to its further fruition. The weather, for the middle of tectoher, is uncommonly cold, though clear and beight. Such an early frost has not been known hereabouts in years. has not been known hereabouts in years.

. The Wayfaring Man, Though a Fool, Cannot Err Therein."

All wayacres from Edgefield who de-All wayherers from Edgehold who design attending the great Pair in Augusta, next week, cannot err in finding the tocale and realizing the comforts and conveniences of the delightful Planters. Hotel, kept still, as for years past, by that quiet but energetic gentleman, Mr. John Goldstein. Ten days ago we were the Planters, and even then the house at the Planters, and even then the house was a Babel of preparation for the Fair— scouring, cleaning, painting, tacking down carpets, lugging in new furniture,

And as to Mr. Lee, of this refined and high-class Establishment, he is just as prone to be the thorough and innate gentleman as are the sparks to fly up-wards. If Edgefield people would be profoundly and sublimely comfortable in Augusta, we urge them to cast themselves upon the kindness, courtesy and efficiency of that type of a Virginia gentle-man—Lee of the Planters Hotel.

He died By reference to our advertising columns many interesting items and particulars concerning the great Annual Augusta Fair, may be gleaned. From all we hear, Edgefield will, this season, be more than ever well represented at this Fair.

The Latest Arrival from New York.

The latest arrival from New York is our friend, Mr. Oscar Cheatham. His goods for the fall and winter are now in the conflict is at last over. He died a week ago at his residence in Auburn, N. Still Pressed for Space.

This week we again find ourselves very much pressed for space, and must again, with equal respect and reluctance, beg a number of our friends and patrons to excuse us for deferring certain local notices, &c., until next week.

It a Man Is a True Man.

If a man is a true man, it is not the property he can eat up, or wear out, or consume immediately in any way, that he most enjoys. But it is that which is most safely secured for those he will leave to struggle with the world when he dies. And we are led into this train of thought by looking over the simple and truthful card which the Piedmont and Arlington Life Insurance Company published in our columns last week. It is still there. We hope everybody will read it.

As Life Insurance is nothing but a mode of laying up money for one's family, or for dependents, so every prudent man that can, should provide while he is strong, for the time when he shall be weak; and seek to make abundant provision for the wants of his family when he shall he we longer with them. when he shall be no longer with them.

OLD MEN MADE YOUNG AGAIN -There is no denying that a French Mantua Major or a French Tailor has some secret and inexplicable gift of taste, and elegance, and harmony, How they can fit you! How they can fill out, and flatte i down, and draw in, and round over, and make an old woman or an old man quite young again! And how they make everything narmonize, and melt together, and settle down into a quiet and beautiful unity! And when we write thus, we are looking over the gard of August Dorr, which is to ornament our paper this week. August Dorr, the accomplished Merchant Tailor of Augusta.
