Courtesy to Servants.

The servant's right to be politely treated is just as absolute and inde-feasible as that of the Great King. and to her applies the royal law. according to the royal law, according to the Scripture, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." That law, which is the highest of all, surely includes politeness. If we are bound to love our neighbors as ourselves, we are bound to treat them courteously, at any rate. That is one of the first and most rudimental of our duties to them. Your servant, dear madam, is your neighbor-the nearest of all your neighbors. She has a right, then, under this royal law which is itself the spirit of all just laws—to be courteously treated by you. It is no more condescension for you to use respect and gentleness in your intercourse with her than it is for her to sweep your floors or build more credit for speaking kindly to her than you are for not stealing her pocket handkerchiefs. If you do not govern yourself in all your conversation with her than the state of the state your fires. You are entitled to no tion with her by the same laws of courtesy which you observe in your conversation with the callers in your parlor, you are a very vulgar person. The maid in your kitchen is a woman; the guest in your parlor is nothing more. Will you give to silks and feathers and a purse what you deny to womanhood? That is the very essence of vulgarity. Do not say that the guest never tries your temper, as the servant does. You know treat their deceitfulness with forbearance. Should they not require cqual forbearance toward the ignorant Irish girl in your kitchen?—Hearth

Dr. Chalmers beautifully said "The little that I have seen in the world and known of the history of mankind, teaches me to look upor their errors in sorrow, not in anger When I take the history of one poor heart that has sinned and suffered, and represent to myself the strug gles and temptations it passed through the brief pulsations of joy; the tears of regret; the feebleness of purpose; the scorn of the world that has little charity; the desolation of the soul's sanctuary, and threatening voice within; health gone; happiness gone

—I would fain leave the erring soul of my fellow-man with Him from whose hands it came."

PRATT'S ASTRAL OIL.

Absolutely safe. Perfectly odorless. Always uniform. Illuminating qualities superior to gas. Burns in any lamp without danger of exploding or taking fire. Manufactured expressly to displace the use of volatile and dangerous oils. ## STEAM COTTON GIN.

THE UNDERSIGNED have mutually agreed to enter into copartnership, under the name and style of SMITH, JONES & CO., for the purpose of GINNING and PACKING COTTON, HULLING COT-TON SEED, GRINDING GRAIN, &c. TON SEED, GRINDING GRAIN, &c.
And for that purpose, have put up a Steam Engine and Cotton Press, with commodious Buildings, at Edgefield Village, and are now ready to receive Cotton, and hope by honest, fair dealing, to merit a liberal patronage.
Our terms for Ginning and Packing will be One-Fifteenth of the quantity received; and if we furnish Bagging and Ties, our charge for them will be $2.60 for 8 yards of best Double Anchor Bagging, weighing 21 lbs. to the yard, and 6 Ties to the Bale.
We have put up two of Carver's Im-

Ties to the Bale.

We have put up two of Carver's Improved Gins,—famous for picki—clean, and fine sample. It is a settled fact that cotton ginned by steam or water power will turn out 15 pounds more lint to a five hundred pound bale, than that ginned by horse power; and we hope soon, to convince the planters of this vicinity, that it is cherper to have us Gin their Cotton than to Gin it at home.

We have not yet put our Huller and We have not yet put our Huller and Grain Mill in operation, but expect to do so as soon as the Ginning season is over, of which event the public will be ad vised through the Advertiser. F. L. SMITH, LEWIS JONES, ROBERT SCHLEY.
