Presence of Mind.

arose in the anti-stock law meeting on Monday last, the Hon, Scott Allen jumped to his feet and made such a good, honest, common-sense appeal to all parties, that everything was as quiet as a lamb in five Three New Trial Justices.

Gov. Hagood has appointed the three following excellent gentlemen as Trial Justices for Edgefield County; and the Senate has confirmed the appointments: Mr. E. A. Glover, of Edgefield C. H., Mr. P. B. Waters, of Johnston, and Mr. W. E. Clary, of Saluda.

The report was recently started that Gov. Hagood would be a candidate before the Legislature next Winter for U. S. Senator against Hon, M. C. Butler, but he denies the report, and says that he contemplates retiring to private life upon the expiration of his term as Governor. He has had enough of public life.—Anderson Intelligencer.

Edgefield Not a Separate State.

The State of Horry is the only part of South Carolina entirely exempted from the operations of the new fence law; and she has been given until the first of October to fence herself out from the rest of the world. Charleston, Aiken, Beaufort, Colleton, Hampton, Orangeburg, Chesterfield, Lexington, Georgetown and Williamsburg have a respite until October. We Fail to See the Hole.

Our friend Ready touched off his oratorical cannon in the anti-stock law meeting the other day. There was a large crowd, and parts of his speech were loudly cheered, and loudly hissed. We did not join the hissers, for we have too much respect for the gentleman; but still we fail to see the hole in solid old Edgefield through which all good things are soon to drop and disappear forever.

A Little Apology. Cur readers must pardon us this week for omitting our usual summary of Legislative news, and for the non-appearance of sundry other things. We were so exercised about our friends at Johnston on Tuesday that we were forced to post down to see how it was with them. And hence we lost a half day from our routine labor. of this week; and consequently we can make a clean sweep of their doings in our MEETING STREET, Jan. 30, '82. The farmers are clearing up new grounds and building pasture fences -the long white lines of new fence stretching over the hills hehind the house, so that the stock can come up when inclined. As Jefferson says: "mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed;" and this change makes many complain about here now, but we trust that when the agony of the change passes all will get reconciled.

The swelling hilis are mantled in the fruitful green that promises a rich harvest of oats, which will come just in time to keep off suffering; in fact some will have a tight squeeze to shift till oats come in. Corn is scarce, credit very hard to get, and some of with all attachments complete, always Congressmen be required to sit on benches little has been done yet in the way of preparing the land for crops.
