Death of Mrs. Kemp. Mrs. Hannah Kemp, of Kirksey's, widow of Henry J. Kemp, Esq., and another of the 7th S. C. Regt., after a long but painful illness, died on the 1st March, at the advanced age of nearly eighty years.

Further Proceedings of the March Term. Four Negroes Sentenced to the Penitentiary for Life. On Saturday afternoon last, his Honor, Judge Hudson, pronounced the following sentences. And these various sentences will reveal the work of the first week. The amount of business dispatched, proves that there is a quick head and hand on the bench; and the number of convictions does infinite credit to the zeal of Solicitor Bonham. These are the sentences: Thomas Horn, convicted of the killing of Bill King, another negro, hard labor in the State Penitentiary for five years. Lawrence Cain, convicted of arson—burning the gin-house of Mr. Albert King—hard labor in the State Penitentiary for life. Spencer Simkins, convicted of malicious mischief—abusing a turtle—hard labor in Penitentiary for two years. Thomas Broadwater, alias John Williams, convicted of larceny of live stock, one dollar fine and hard labor in Penitentiary for two years. Aaron Bean, burglary and larceny, Penitentiary for one year. Elbert Williams, entering a dwelling in the day time and larceny, Penitentiary for one year. Harry Settles, malicious mischief, $10 fine, costs and County jail for 3 days; and upon failure to pay fine, costs at the end of 5 days, 30 days in gaol.

Henry McKinney, larceny of cotton from three bales, $50 fine or County jail for three months. Three colored men, Ned Still, Kemper Parks and Jack Carter, convicted of stealing cotton, were not sentenced, pending a move for a new trial. On Monday morning, the 12th, the Court met at 10 o'clock, and after considerable delay in organizing the jury of the second week, proceeded to the trial of the three negroes who attempted to burglarize the jail in January last. These were Spencer Simkins—sentenced as above, in another case—Ben Jones and Elbert Williams. They were convicted of arson, and sentenced to hard labor in the State Penitentiary for life. The recommendation to mercy on the part of the jury, saved their necks.

On Monday afternoon, was begun the trial of Moses Thomas, a negro, for hog killing. On Tuesday, at noon, the jury brought in a verdict clearing Thomas. Subsequently, Sam Thorn was convicted of grand larceny—stealing a cow and other property, and sentenced to one year in the Penitentiary. The court the Sessions business, and the Court of Common Pleas was duly opened. Judge Hudson is laborious, constant and clear-headed, and seems to have inspired in bar and people an extraordinary feeling of confidence.

For the Advertiser. Leesville English and Classical Institute. Messrs. Editors: Inasmuch as the report has been, and is being, circulated, that the Leesville English and Classical Institute is now broken up, we beg for space in the Advertiser to inform the public that the report is palpably false. The said school, having been turned over to us by the Board of Trustees, is now under our special and direct control, and we are happy to state that it now enjoys a higher degree of prosperity than any former time—having enrolled over one hundred students this session. This school is entirely non-sectarian. While the broad principles of Christianity are inculcated, no creed is taught. The undersigned are laboring together harmoniously for the good of the school. In justice to ourselves and the friends of education generally, we beg that you give publicity to this article. L. E. BUSY, J. B. FURBERGEE, Leesville, S. C., Mar. 8, 1883.

Still on Solid Ground. We are still on solid ground, and we are still on solid ground. We do not find ourselves flying, piecemeal through the atmosphere; nor have any of us been knocked up by the wind, or blown away by a fearful blizzard. And having survived Wiggins, all we have to do now to enable us to comfort ourselves in the present, and to enjoy our journey, is to make a wise use of Penn's Bitters for the Liver. Penn's Bitters will live and be a blessing to the human race, and our Bitters has been eaten by worms.

That is a splendid Trunk I bought from J. M. Cox last week. I've never seen anything in Edgfield to equal his assortment of Trunks, Valises and Hand-Bags. You can deal legitimately and cheaply at COBB'S.

new and wondrous temples to the Living God thus rising here and there in our County.

Batesburg's New Preacher. Rev. J. K. Pace, lately of Mayeville, Ky., has accepted the invitation of the Batesburg Baptist Church to become its pastor, and will shortly return to South Carolina, where he has so many friends. Mr. Pace will devote one week in each month to missionary work in Lexington County, in the employment of the State Board. We are rejoiced that Batesburg has secured so valuable a man, who will be cordially welcomed to his new home.

A New Presbyterian Church. It gives us the profoundest pleasure to chronicle the fact that a new Presbyterian church will, in all probability, spring up in our Southern border very soon. The first leaders in this good work are Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. E. B. Tillman. Mrs. Simpson is a widowed sister of the Hon. G. D. Tillman, and lives at the old Tillman homestead on Fox's Hill. And very near this old homestead the new church will be located. We understand that Capt. Ben Tillman, Capt. John C. Swearingen, John A. Wise, Esq., and the Hon. G. D. Tillman have already subscribed liberally to this most praiseworthy undertaking. For eight or ten months past, the Rev. S. L. Morris, of Trenton, has been preaching one Sunday afternoon in each month in the old Tillman homestead locality—sometimes in the Hussar Pavilion. And to his zeal, ably seconded by Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Tillman, is due the promising efforts now being made.

Looking After His Fences. Senator M. C. Butler, after illustrating South Carolina right nobly at Washington, has returned to Edgfield for a few weeks to look after his fences—not political, but agricultural ones. The sight of his old Edgfield home and neighborhood has a tonic effect upon him. The grandeur of the Federal Capital is not to be compared in his mind with the plainest prospect in South Carolina.—Augusta Chronicle.

Carp. The carp fever has reached the Mine Creek section, Mr. Thomas Whittle being the pioneer. He already has his pond stocked with two-pounders from the Bates pond at Batesburg. Others are literally "moving the mud" in the fish pond matter, and ere long the man who cannot boast of his carp pond will be the man who has no mud hole to scoop out. And we say go on with your fisheries, and let this be the motto of every farmer in South Carolina: More corn and less cotton; more carp and less carping.—Monitor.

Faithful Road Overseers. The road from the Batesburg line to Cloud's Creek has recently been worked and is now in better condition than at any time in the memory. The oldest inhabitant, Mr. A. C. Whittle is Overseer from Batesburg to Holston's Cross Roads, and Mr. Press Maroney from the latter point to the Creek and the admirable manner in which they have performed a most difficult task—for this is one of the worst sections of roads in the county—shows that Commissioner Wise very wisely placed the right men in the right place.—Monitor.

For the Advertiser. TOUCHES FROM TRENTON. March has proven to be a wolf in sheep's clothing. The prospects for a fruit crop are growing gloomy.

Small grain is donning a thick coat of green and we may hope good results. The ploughman is busily turning the sod in preparation for cotton and corn, and many farmers will have finished planting the latter in the course of a few days.

Colds of a most malignant type have prevailed with us lately; and amongst the attendant inconveniences, it may be noted that our new but famous hostelry, The Ocean Branch, so admirably adapted for sunshine and sea breezes, has been turned into a hospital, and one of its guests is upon the sick list, while a jolly and corpulent landlord, Messrs. Ford and Swearingen, have assumed a pale and haggard appearance.

nothing, and instead of the cheeks of youth, they carry a lean and hungry look, with attenuated jaws that would have dishonored the statures of that celebrated knight and keeper of whom Cervantes would respectfully prescribe more meat, and more pots to cook in.

Col. John C. Cahill, of phosphate fame, is spending a while with us, he having sold out his entire interest in the mining business to his partner, Major Wise. He will soon embark in a similar enterprise here, and although the prospect is bleak, yet his hearty energies will not permit him to remain idle.

Major Abram Jones, while riding in a wagon from town to his residence a few days ago, was thrown backwards upon the ground by a sudden lurch of the vehicle, and seriously injured; and though his condition is favorable for a speedy recovery from the effects of the accident, he is still confined to his bed.

Quarterly Meeting commended at the Methodist Church on last Saturday; and on Sunday services were held in the Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches by sides.

Miss Rustie Adams has been elected by the Trustees of the Hatcher Pond school as their teacher—an excellent selection. I predict for Miss Adams abundant success in her newly chosen profession.

By far the most notable event that has lately occurred in our society circles was the marriage on the evening of the 21st ultimo, at the Episcopal Church, by the Rev. E. T. Walker and S. L. Morris, of Mr. A. H. S. Day and Miss Wenona Gray. The illness of your correspondent immediately afterwards prevented him from furnishing you with the details of this unusually interesting and impressive ceremony; and while it is too late to do so at present, yet I hope my sincere and heartfelt congratulations and best wishes for the prosperity of the happy couple, are in due season. The many graces and virtues of the beautiful bride are well known; while as for Aleck, permit me in this plain, blunt manner to say, that no nobler, truer, manlier or more honest heart ever beat under a waistcoat than his. Standing first in his class as a school boy, first at the college, and first as clerk and accountant, and first when upon his own resources, amongst successful business men, he will stand always first in the relation of husband, kinsman and neighbor.

GRANDMA. Trenton, Mar. 13, 1883.

Yarn Factory Burned. Last Saturday night the yarn factory of Searies & Dallas, situated on Little River, in Abbeville county, S. C., together with forty bales of cotton in the seed, and about $500 worth of yarn, was totally consumed by fire. The fire originated from a stove in the mill which was used for heating purposes. There was no insurance.—Augusta Chronicle.

FARMERS BEWARE.—In reply to an inquiry as to the sale of tobacco by farmers to their lands Internal Revenue Collector Brayton says: "Under the department ruling they are made liable as regular dealers and have to pay special tax. Until about a year and a half ago farmers were allowed the privilege, but based on the decision of the United States Circuit Court, the department made the above mentioned decision."

N. B.—Please remember that at Durisee & Co's. Drug Store you will find all kinds of Patent Medicines—and every variety of Garden Seed. [12]

THE BATTLE RAGES! The Great Potash Guano! ONLY 450 Pounds Middling Cotton WILL GET ONE TON OF THE CROWN GUANO, Ammoniated Alkaline Phosphate, MANUFACTURED BY The Chesapeake Guano Company, OF BALTIMORE, MD. DELIVERED AT PURCHASER'S DEPOT. Careful farmers have observed that all the ammonia they need is to start the growth of the plant, while they require other things to make the fruit. This Fertilizer is formulated with reference to this need—the ammonia being lessened, and phosphate and potash, both producers, being increased. The larger per cent of Potash and Phosphate has a tendency to prevent rust—a very desirable feature in this Fertilizer. Cotton to be Delivered by October 15, 1883. JOHN H. HUIET, Batesburg, S. C., General Agent for SOUTH CAROLINA. Special Terms made to parties buying for cash in Large Lots. T. S. WRIGHT & SON, Ag'ts., Clintonward, S. C. W. F. HUIET, Johnston, S. C. February 27, 1883.—3012

Champion Harvesting Machines. I have been appointed Agent for the sale of these machines in Edgfield. I used two of the Heavy or No. 1 Single Reapers (5 ft cut) on my farm near "90" last year. Two mules pulled them with ease and they cost nothing for repairs. Two of my neighbors, Messrs. John A. Wise and J. C. Lanham, used the Light Center Cut Reaper (5 ft cut) on the rough hilly lands of Horn's Creek and will endorse them as giving satisfaction and being easy to run. One of the neighbors I visited once on his Log Creek place, and he said that he had used a mangle, and instead of the cheeks of youth, they carry a lean and hungry look, with attenuated jaws that would have dishonored the statures of that celebrated knight and keeper of whom Cervantes would respectfully prescribe more meat, and more pots to cook in.
