Death of Mrs. Bennet Holland.

Mrs. Elizabeth Holland, the wife of our esteemed fellow citizen, Mr. Bennet Holland, died at the residence of Capt. Wm. Watkins, in Newberry County, upon our borders, on Friday last, and was buried at Capt. Wm. Stevens', near Ste-vens Creek Church, on Saturday. Mrs Holland had been sick before she left her home in our vicinity, and made the move only in the hope of improved health. This hope proved delusive, however, and she yielded to the fatal effects of malarial fever. Mrs. Holland was about forty-five years of age, and leaves no children.

Death of Mrs. Corrie Ward.

This estimable lady, the widow of the late Col. Milledge Bonham Ward, and the youngest of the daughters of the late Thomas DeLoach, Esq. of Harmony, died at the old DeLoach homestead—now the home of Aliss Mary DeLoach and Mr. Manly DeLoach—on Wednesday of last week, and was there buried on the following day. She was a gentle pions and lowing day. She was a gentle, pious and beloved lady, and leaves five children, the eldest of whom has just merged into manhood. Mrs. Ward was about forty years of age. She ded of consumption.

Death of Capt. Tom Bates.

This honored and wealthy citizen, the eldest representative during his life of one of Edgefield and Lexington's oldest and best families, departed this life at his home, two miles this ade, of Batesburg, on Fri day last, after a whole summer of great debility and a few weeks of real illness. Capt. Bates was a man of very strong characteristics and unfinching probity. He lived throughout his life in elegant affluence, and always practiced the hospitality of the old-time Southern gentleman. In age was about This years. His widow and only son survive him. One of widow and only son survive him. One of the heirs of his large estate will be Mr. Andrew Bates Watson, the only child of his deceased daughter.

Death of Win. Minrell. Mr. William Murrell, an old and well known citizen, who in former days lived near our town, died at his nome near Fruit Hill, on Wednesday the 3rd instant, of congestive chill. His age was about 70 years.

Further Proceedings of Court.

Following upon the cases recounted in our last issue, came several unimportant ones. Then a negro man was convicted of stealing cotton and sentenced to three years in the Penitentiary. On Friday, Bob Grant, the negro accused of the burning of Mr. James Coleman's gin house, was tried and convicted. Messrs. Waters & Tompkins defended him, while the Sheppard Bros. assisted in the prosecution. The jury recommended him to in our paper so long. mercy, which saves his neck. He is sentenced to the Penitentiary for life. On Saturday Messrs, John R. Gibson and Lucien Gibson, prosecuted by the town Council of Johnston for selling liquor unlawfully, were tried. Mr. Lucien Gibson was acquitted. Mr. John R. Gibson was convicted, and sentenced to pay a fine of the hundred dollars, which he did at once in open Court. This closed the Court of Sessions.

This week Judge Aldrich, with the second week's jury, is occupied in the dispatch of civil business. He will be here all this week, and the greater part congratulations.
