The State Teachers' Association is in session at Spartanburg this week.

The first bale of new Georgia cotton was received in Savannah on Friday.

Senator Zeb Vance calls the present financial shakiness "the rich man's panic."

The Postoffice Department costs the country $66,000,000 a year, and has a revenue of $61,000,000.

No students will be received at Clemson after August 10th, by resolution of the board of trustees.

Two hundred national banks have failed in this country since the 1st of January, and they are still at it.

There will be 356 members in the new House of Representatives and 88 members in the Senate that meet next week.

Texas has rust, worms, grasshoppers, and too much rain. The cotton crop will therefore be short, and we may hope for higher prices.

Gov. Tillman has agreed with the up-country distillers of the State to buy all the corn whiskey needed by the dispensaries, at $1.30 a gallon.

Senator David B. Hill, of New York, Cleveland's late rival for the presidency, will, it is said, lead the fight for silver in the United States Senate.

The State Dispensary has received a large shipment of corn whiskey and is now prepared to fill all orders from the county dispensaries.

The election of Hugh Wilson to the presidency of the State Press Association is a deserved tribute. Mr. Wilson is the best all around newspaper man in the State.

It is said of Judge Hudson that in the beginning of his career he was a school-teacher, and was in the habit of chastising the refractory small boy with a railroad switch.

This is a great country of ours. Last Monday the thermometer stood at 92° in Chicago while it was snowing in Maine at the same time, showing that the citizens can get anything he wants in the way of weather by going far enough.

Silver has been used as money for 3,900 years, and the world is just now engaged in a quarrel as to whether it will answer for that purpose. Anti silver men say that Abraham didn't know how worthless silver was or he never would have taken it.

Gladstone's Home Rule bill was the occasion of a free fight in the English House of Commons on Thursday. Blows were dealt right and left by the supporters of the bill and their opponents, while Gladstone watched the scene "with inflamed face and an expression of sorrow, indignation, and astonishment, which will never be erased from the memory of those observing it."

Electrocution is not always successful. Last Friday a murderer after receiving into his body 1,320 volts of electricity revived sufficiently to groan and move his limbs, and it required a second shock to kill him. To add to the horror of the execution the dynamo got out of gear and it was an hour before the current could be again turned on. Morphine had to be administered, to the suffering wretch in the interim.

The following are the Dispensaries now in operation in South Carolina: Abbeville, Bamberg, Camden, Edgefield, Florence, Greenville, Lexington, Lexington, Manning, Newberry, St. Stephens, Monck's Corner, Eutawville, Bamberg, Columbia, 3, St. Matthews, Winsboro.

The Negro Press Association devoted a considerable part of its session in Richmond to a discussion of the question whether the word negro should be spelled with a capital or a small initial letter. The Rev. Mr. Cooley, one of the delegates, gave the convention some good advice when he said: "We put much importance upon the name by which we are called. Let us improve ourselves, and allow the people to spell our name with a little 'n' or a big 'N' or any kind of 'end' they wish to."

FLOGGED, SHOT, HANGED.

They Granted His Prayer Not to Be Burned.

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 30.—A lynching occurred at Gaston today. The first to swing was Will Thompson, a negro 16 years old, who committed an assault upon Mrs. Archie Sighler, of Gaston. He was captured near Columbia and was taken to Gaston early this morning. A special train over the South Bound took seventy-five people from Columbia who joined the people of the neighborhood, but they took no active part.

Thompson was subject to horrible torture by the crowd before he was hung. Man cocked their guns and pistols and put them in his face, but he did not show fear until the crowd wanted to burn him. He asked them for God's sake to do anything else but that, and some cool heads prevented such a horrible tragedy.

He was taken down the railroad to a small tree just on the embankment. Mr. Sighler, the husband of the outraged woman, took a heavy buggy trace and beat his neck and prevented him from yelling. Fifty heavy lashes were laid on each one drawing blood. Sighler then kicked him in the head and face, knocking out his teeth and one eye ball.

A platform of crosses was made and Thompson was placed upon it. A rope was put around his neck, and he confessed the crime, implicating two other negroes named Preston and Kainler.

The platform was knocked out by tie by, and the poor wretch was slowly strangled. He was allowed to suffer two minutes, when hundreds of buckshot riddled his body. One shot cut the rope and the body fell, but was strung up again, and the crowd fired hundreds of other shots in the lifeless body.

The crowd then went on a search for Preston, who was captured about 11 o'clock. He was subjected to the same treatment, if not worse. He denied his guilt to the last, but he was strung upon the limb upon which Thompson's body was hanging. He was afflicted with a filthy disease, which caused the crowd to be more angry. While he was struggling in death thousands of bullets were shot into his body.

Another man named Kainler will be hanged before the day closes.

It is believed that the bodies of the three victims will be burned, and the spot where they were hanged will be a "red hot place."

She Had a GERMAN SIBLING. Burglars Held Up the Train on the Helderberg Money.

Jacksonville Time-Union. She was a charming young widow and she occupied a section on the Pullman sleeper between Denver and San Francisco.

The train was crowded and the attention of the passengers was divided between the winsome widow and the young bridal couple from the East, who, careless of the comment their actions excited, continued to love each other with caressing words and eyes to their hearts content.

The through passengers had become like friends, and the long days during which the train rushed over rolling prairie and desolate alkali wastes were made short by pleasant converse.

It was one night when they were descending the western slope of the great Rockies that the incident occurred which makes this story.

Several card tables had been established, and at one of them the bridal couple played, as partners against the pretty widow and a handsome young man from Jacksonville, Fla, who was on his way to Southern California.

The game had ended and the young married couple were victorious. They were indulging in a good-humored badinage at the expense of their late opponents and asked if there were any other games they were more familiar with than whist.

"Never mind," said the little widow, "luck won't run your way always."

Seemingly in answer to her prophecy came the stern command, "Hands up!" and at each end of the car stood two masked desperadoes with drawn revolvers.

The male passengers were taken by surprise and there was nothing to do but obey.

Slowly the robbers went through the car and as one held the cocked revolver covering his victim the other secured his valuables.

When they came to the bridal couple they made a rich haul, the diamonds of the bride and the well-filled purse of the groom, and then they turned to the widow. "Your money," sternly demanded she handed over her purse and an examination showed the train robbers that it contained only a railroad ticket, $3 50 and Southern Express money orders $1,000. The $3 50 she confiscated, but politely handed back the purse and money orders, saying, "If all had your forethought our occupation would be short."

A GOSSIPY LETTER.

FACTS AND FANCIES WOVEN TOGETHER.

Other Days, Other Men; Past and Present.

Augusta, Ga., July 17, 1893.—If the Georgian, Carolinian, Alabamian or Tennesseean, aged, say 60 years, who reads this letter should chance to recall even a portion of the history of this state as received from father or mother in the days of his boyhood, his interest in Augusta would instantly be intensified; for he would recollect that, according to the statements of his parents, this city was for a number of years the great distributing point for the states above indicated. Those were the days of wagon trade, and the merchants of Augusta and the people of those states were in close touch. Between them were in those days the most perfect confidence.

Railways have come in and disturbed somewhat the old relationship, but to a limited extent only. From father to son the kindly feeling has been transmitted; and, to-day, everything that touches the old city's forward movement excites enthusiastic sympathy and commands zealous co-operation.

Augusta was never so beautiful as she is today. Broad street has been asphalted and is, perhaps, with the exception of Pennsylvania avenue, the most beautiful business thoroughfare in the United States. On every hand are unmistakable evidences of a healthful growth. No boom, none wanted. The progress made is substantial—a result of patient, well directed effort.

The most casual observer among the visitors to the city cannot fail to note the fact that thoughtful plodding has prevailed. It seldom occurs in this country that a community is itself surprised at the results achieved in a decade. So lost to the idea of "booming" were the citizens of this place, so intent were they on the subject of their double mission—a manufacturing as well as a mercantile community—they were more gratified at the census figures which write them at the head of the column.

You see, if this had come after a fight with sister cities, which is sometimes indulged in, there would not have attended it one-tenth the satisfaction now enjoyed. They have built on their own foundation; they can publish the facts to the world without exciting the antipathy of any city or any citizen. You must concede that the mission alluded to is very difficult, almost impossible of achievement. But pluck and plod do not yield to difficulties.

The result is, the manufacturing establishments of the city have increased in number, in cotton consumed and goods manufactured. This fact possesses interest for the entire south; because it shows conclusively that the proper place for the cotton mill is near the cotton field.

It is generally known that the people of the South have been slow to accept the advantages of the cotton mill.

The Augusta exposition is a happy thought in the interest of hundreds of exhibitors and thousands of people who cannot afford to get to the World's Fair at Chicago.

The Augusta directory saw this opportunity to advertise not only Augusta, but the south, and quickly resolved to turn it to profitable account. They further did a good thing in securing the co-operation of President Waddell and his executive committee of the State Society. This guarantees several county exhibits. There can be no finer exemplification of a county's possibilities than a first-class county exhibit.

The directory have voted $30,000 for premiums and prizes. This, coupled with $50,000 in attractions, will present to the public an exposition second only in importance to the Columbian at Chicago.

President Waddell is exerting his all in behalf of county and individual exhibits. The indications are that the contest will exceed in interest any ever had in this country.

In live stock, a subject in which all will feel the deepest interest, the exhibit promises to surpass all efforts that line in the past.

Your correspondent cannot tell it in the amplifying language of the verbose who profess to write the resolutions on the boards or the circus and hippodromes. I venture to say that Mr. Sandy Cohen, who has a wonderful record as a systematic and tireless worker, has exclusive charge of this interesting branch of Augusta's grand exposition.

Having said this, it would seem unnecessary to repeat for the amusement of your readers, the world-be language of the advertiser just named. "The directory has determined that nothing can be so grand or gorgeous, in the line of attractions, for this exposition. So great will they be, so startling and novel, so thrilling and so full of emulatory, that from hundreds and hundreds of miles round the people will pour into Augusta—coming in great companies to see the exposition."

The directory contemplate securing the mammoth, magnificent, stupendous, spectacular production "The Transient Event of 1893. More anon. QUINNQUIN.

THE KEELY INSTITUTE.

Twelve Years of Established Merit—A Warning.

To the Public: As a matter of justice to ourselves and to the reputation of Dr. Leslie E. Keely's Double Chloride of Gold Remedies, for the cure of the liquor, opium, morphia, and tobacco diseases, and Neurasthenia, we warn the public that these remedies are used by no institution or sanitarium in the United States except those established by our company, under the uniform name of "The Keely Institute."

All others claiming to use Dr. Keely's Remedies or formulae are frauds and impostors. The Keely Institutes established in various parts of the United States now number ninety, with three in Europe, where the Keely Treatment is administered and the Keely Remedies sold. We, however, caution all to examine well and know that they are dealing with genuine representatives, authorized by us, before taking treatment or purchasing remedies.

The misleading establishments use the name of "Bi-Chloride of Gold," or similar titles. The newspapers often fail to discriminate sufficiently to know that they are imitators. This is a matter of public welfare, and hence this warning. Respectfully,

THE LESLIE E. KEELY CO., CURTIS J. JUDD, Sec. and Treas. Dwight, Ill., Dec. 15, 1892. For literature or further information regarding the Keely Treatment, address THE KEELY INSTITUTE OF S. C., AT COLUMBIA.

THE KEELY INSTUTE. Endorsed By the S Government.

The efficacy of Dr. Leslie E. Keely's Double Chloride of Gold Remedies has been so publicly acknowledged and thoroughly recognized throughout the civilized world, that the recent endorsement by the Government removes all questions of doubt, as to their virtue and genuineness. On February 13, 1892, General Wm. B. Franklin, President of the Board of Managers of the National Military Homes for Disabled Soldiers and Sailors, authorized a contract with The Leslie E. Keely Co for the use of Dr. Keely's Remedies in the seven National and twenty-one State Homes in the United States.

General Franklin, in a letter regarding this contract and Dr. Keely's Remedies, speaks emphatically of "the great good the future has in store for the unfortunate victims of Alcoholism," giving personal thanks to Dr. Keely for enabling the Board of Managers to discharge their duties.

Dr. Keely's Remedies are sold by all druggists, and are also sold by the Keely Institute, 311 Broadway, New York City. The Keely Institute, 311 Broadway, New York City.

THE Trustees announce to the public that this school will open on Monday, Sept. 4, 1893, and continue ten months, forty weeks, with a recess of one week at Christmas. There will be three departments, each carefully graded: The Primary, embracing 3 years. The Intermediate, embracing 4 years. The Academic, embracing 4 years. Provision is also made for Music and Art Departments, under competent teachers. Arrangements for studies higher than the Academic will be made hereafter, if it be deemed best to do so. The rates of tuition will be as follows: In the Primary Department, first and second years, per month, $1.00; In the Intermediate Department, 1st and 2nd years, per month, $2.00; In the Academic Department, 1st and 2nd years, per month, $3.00; In the Academic Department, 3rd and 4th years, per month, $4.00; In the Music Department, per month, $4.00; In the Art Department, per month, $3.00.

From these charges will be deducted the pro rata amount allowed for each pupil from the public school fund. The Trustees have committed this school to the management of Dr. L. R. GWALTNEY. He will be aided in each department by competent teachers. It will be seen that the basis of financial support which has been in operation for several years has fully decided that it is better to have fixed rates of tuition for all pupils. If the citizens of Edgefield will heartily stand by "The Institute," they will have a good school in which they may take a commendable pride. The Principal is well known. He returns to Edgefield to become the pastor of the Baptist Church, and to give his matured experience to the work of educating our boys and girls. Good board can be had for $8 to $10 per month. W.
