The Liberty bell will be sent to Atlanta for the Exposition.

Trouble in Aiken.

The grand jury of Aiken County sprung a sensation on last Wednesday by the report of County affairs.

They report first: "Bills have been paid which have not been sworn to, as the law requires.

Under the new administration, with Mr. J. W. Sawyer as supervisor, the jury report the same reckless extravagance and fraudulent appropriation of money has gone on unchecked.

Judge Richard Watts aptly summed up the situation by saying that the affairs of Aiken county are in a most deplorable condition.

Curing Hay.

From present indications the hay crop in Edgefield this year will be a small one.

"So much depends upon climate, sunshine and wind that no definite rules can be laid down for cutting and curing hay.

Times are looking up. You are looking up bargains. Everything is looking up, and Ramsey & Bland's trade is booming.

It is nearly the longest day of the year, and Ramsey & Bland make things balance by cutting prices to the shortest limit of the year.

The common mistake in making hay is usually allowing it to lie in the hot sun too long.

PRESERVE THE HOME-STEAD.

That Law is a Protection to the Poor Against the Avaricious.

Columbia Register.

EDITOR REGISTER: While I favor a straight, white man's primary, it is now evident many of the counties will hold conventions or mass meetings on the first Monday in July.

The men named by those assemblies will, in almost every instance, be elected in the primary and general election, therefore it is of great moment that the people should be prepared on said occasion to instruct the men suggested as aforesaid.

I wish to attract the attention of the people especially to one of those questions, to wit: Should the homestead law be eliminated from our Constitution?

Abolish this law and you would be as much astonished as distressed, to behold the heart-rending spectacle of hundreds of white families in this State, homeless, wrecked and ruined.

We need a number of legal strings around property tying it to the people so the avaricious cannot steal it legally.
