THE SAVING OF MR. O'GRADY

BY W. J. LAMPTON.

YOU should see Mrs. O'Grady, said my wife to me shortly after my arrival at the summer hotel where she was spending the season and I was spending every other Sunday and all my spare cash.

"Be jabbers," I responded, giving the best imitation I could of the Hibernian accent, "an' what have you been doing with Mrs. O'Grady?"

"My dear," said my wife, reprovingly, "I perceive that your opinion of Mrs. O'Grady is as poor as your imitation of the dialect you associate with her name."

"I don't know her at all," I replied, on the defensive.

"It was not necessary for you to say so in so many words, my dear," said my wife, in a tone of voice it is not worth while to explain to married men.

LOVES KINGDOM.

You see no pomp or circumstance, No entourage of pride, My lowly seeming to enhance And I walk by your side.

You may not know it, friend, but then I, walking by your side, Am crowned and accepted, king of men; For none my state deride; For when I turn my own latch-key My wife is at the star.

Recent Discoveries in Babylonia.

Among the recent finds of the French expedition in Babylonia, which has been and is still working at Telo, are a number of dated cuneiform tablets of Sargon I. and his son Naram-Sih.

The truth is, however, that there is every reason to suppose that the tablets called Oman tablets are definitely decided to be historical and not mythical.
