Sam Jones has stirred up Waycross and he is now doing the same thing for Savannah. Why not Augusta next? It's just on his way around. Mr. Jones has a peculiar regard for Augusta people and city headed for hell, it's Augusta." From a geological standpoint he thinks the earth's crust is thinner at Augusta than have a pretty warm town.

While Mr. Jones has paid Augusta a couple of un profitable visits from the standpoint of the great success he has had in other places, still we hope he wont dispair. Why not give Augusta and the Devil hereabouts another whirl? For despite the hard things Mr. Jones says and the hard things other people say of him, he is undoubtedly a man of force and of power and of good intents and purposes. There is no doubt but that he reaches the minds and hearts of people no one else can reach. There is no doubt but that the good he does outweighs the harm his critics allege to him.

And there is no doubt but that as good as Augusta 1s, she is no better and in fact not so good as she ought to be.-Augusta Her-
