PRESIDENT SPOKE TO MINERS

President Roosevelt Gave Some Splendid Advice.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Special.—From every section of the anthracite region miners and temperance workers came here, thousands arriving on the early trains.

The local Temperance Union delegates transacted but little business this morning, add at noon the ten thousand uniformed cadets and soldiers of the two regiments of the order paraded. This parade ended in time for the President to enter the country and keep back the great crowds.

The President's train came to a full stop a great shout went from the enormous crowd assembled at the station, which increased into a roar as the President stepped briskly from the train.

John Mitchell, in introducing the president, made a long defence of trade unionism. The president then spoke as follows: "I am particularly glad to speak to this audience of miners and their wives and children and especially to speak under the auspices of this great temperance union."

"The only objective way to help anybody is to help him help himself. There are exceptional times when any one of us needs outside help, and then it should be given freely; but normally each one of us must depend upon his own merit for his own success."

"The recognition of the Japanese pro-protectorate over Korea. The grant of fishing rights to Japan in the waters of the Siberian littoral northward from Vladivostok to the Behring Sea."

"The relinquishment to Japan of the Russian warships interned in neutral ports. Finally a limitation upon the naval strength of Russia in far Eastern waters."

"As a whole the terms are regarded as exceedingly hard by the Russians. In addition to the two principal conditions, which cannot be accepted under Mr. Witte's instructions, those relating to the limiting of Russia's naval power in the far east and the granting of fishing rights upon the Russian littoral are considered particularly offensive to the honor and pride of the country, and of such a humiliating character as to be inadmissible."
