Chandler, of Georgia, who is in charge of the South Carolina Conference this year will not consent for him to give up his pastorate at Florence, S. C.

Senator Tillman says he doesn't want to get any nearer to hell than he was the other day when he visited a dispensary in the lower part of the State. And he won't be soon. Dispensaries, bar-rooms and blind tigers are hell's supply houses and close to the manager's office.—Keeves-Courier.

Mr. R. W. Timmons has been with the Edgefield Manufacturing company for a number of years and by close application, possessing also a special talent for such work, he has thoroughly mastered the oil mill business in all of its details. Since Mr. Ballow left he has offered Mr. Timmons a splendid position in Eufaula but he decided to continue yet awhile in Edgefield.

Contractor W. F. Doby will soon complete the work on the Hon. Thos. H. Rainsford's new home. Its completion has been somewhat delayed on account of the length of time that is required to build the very handsome Colonial columns that will adorn the front. The Bucumbites are longing for the arrival of their new neighbors.

A few days ago we saw the original charter of Concordia Lodge A. F. M. It was printed upon real parchment that is well preserved but somewhat discolored by age, bearing the date of March 5th 1844. This "Warrant of Constitution" or charter was granted by the grand lodge to R. McCullough, grand master, James Cochran, senior warden and James Murrell, junior warden.

Acting under orders from headquarters the county dispenser now requires all purchasers of liquor to fill out and sign request blanks as was done when the dispensary law was first enacted. This will to some extent curtail the whiskey sales. The beer dispenser has also taken away the shed in the rear of his place of business and all who purchase beer now carry it from the building to drink as they do whiskey.

Messrs. Faulkner & Cato, having purchased a large body of timber near North Augusta, have moved their saw mill down there. They will continue their lumber business in Edgefield. Besides having a competent man in charge of his planer here, Mr. Faulkner will divide his time between the two places.

We clip the following from Rev. V. I. Master's write-up in the Baptist Press of the Saluda association: Rev. Chas. E. Burts and his handsome bride were present at the gathering. The gifted young Edgefield pastor is a native of Anderson county and is well known in Saluda Association. He is a good speaker, but spoke not at all. For all I know that is the proper way for a newly married minister."

Colliers is on a boom. A telephone line connecting the capital of that community with Augusta and Edgefield is being built. Rural free delivery of the mails from Colliers has also been established, with jolly and large-hearted Gus Edmunds as carrier. Having secured this position Mr. Edmunds has abandoned his plans for moving to his place in our southern suburbs next year. His valuable farm in south Edgefield, known as the Cain place, will be for rent after January 1st next.

It was a writer's pleasure to attend the all-day service at Stevens' Creek church on Sunday last, which marked the beginning of the annual protracted meeting. Nothing else affords us such great joy and happiness as does an occasional visit to this old church and to mingle with the good people of the community, many of whom are relatives, schoolmates and friends of our boyhood days. Rev. Mr. McMillan is a very earnest and zealous worker and we believe a great meeting will be held this week.

About nightfall on Saturday last the barn of Mrs. Mary J. Norris with its contents was destroyed by fire, having been set by lightning. Notwithstanding the fact that it was raining very hard the building, which contained a large quantity of highly combustible matter, such as hay and oats, was quickly enveloped in flames. This made it impossible to save it. The horses and cows were removed from the stables without injury. The rain and chemical engine enabled the fire ladders to save several adjoining buildings. We have been informed that the property was partially insured.

Prominent among the visitors who were in attendance upon the protracted meeting at Stevens' Creek church on Sunday last were Mr. William A. Still and Mr. Lawrence Stevens. Both of these gentlemen were once citizens of the Meeting Street section but moved away years ago--the former to Greenwood and the latter being now a large planter who resides in Aiken county near Augusta. The school mates, old friends and neighbors greeted these gentlemen very cordially. Mr. Still conducted the prayer service immediately after the dinner hour.

In the presentation of the grand jury, which we publish in this issue, certain figures, given as the amounts which the county has paid to the papers for publishing notices and reports, are misleading. All of the $317 and $172 in question were not paid to the papers for publishing notices and reports of county officials. The cost of certain supplies, such as blanks and sundry office stationery, is included in these amounts. A small portion of the $317 was paid for office rent last year before the county office building was erected. We make this statement so that the public will not be misled by the figures as published.

The United States authorities in the persons of deputy marshals and Commissioner W. D. Ramey are right after the blind tigers in this county. Several weeks ago one was fined $37.50, and on Saturday last Thomas Hutchinson, a negro who resides several miles below Johnston, was bound over to the higher court for retailing liquor. Hutchinson had plied his illicit business for a number of years unmolested but finally, as it is with all transgressors, he was apprehended. Yes, it seems that we have blind tigers even with the dispensary. If prohibition obtained some would say: "I told you so."

A little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Anyone who makes it a rule to keep Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand knows this to be a fact. For sale by All Druggists.

Service At Berea Church. Rev. P. P. Blalock began a protracted meeting at Berea church on the 1st Sunday in August but could conduct it only two or three days on account of the very heavy rains. There was much genuine interest manifested in the meeting and one accession to the church. Owing to the fact that the meeting was cut short, Rev. Mr. Blalock, the pastor, has requested us to announce that there will be service at Berea on the fourth Sunday morning. A large attendance is desired. Tell your neighbors about this special service on the morning of the 4th Sunday.

A Social Club to be Organized. The representative young men of our town have a movement on foot having for its end the organization and maintenance of a social club, such as can be found in all cities and many small towns. The club will have a suite of rooms--comprised of reading room, reception room, and a room for Sundry games--where the members can while away their leisure moments. Such an organization, if conducted upon a high plane, will prove to be a great boon to the bachelor element of the community. On the contrary, if stringent regulations are not adopted and enforced to the letter, it will become a source of demoralization and will not long survive. We see no good reason why the high-minded young men of our town cannot organize and properly conduct a social club that will be an honor to the community.

A Cat With Nine Lives. Miss Sophie Nicholson left several weeks ago to visit her sister in California. She stopped in Edgefield a day with her sister, Mrs. R. L. Duvoivant. Soon after leaving for her long journey Mr. Duvoivant missed his cat from about the house. As it was a fine mouser and the pet of the household everyone wondered what had become of the feline. The mysterious disappearance of the pet was solved when a few days ago Mrs. Duvoivant received a letter from Miss Sophie stating how surprised she was on unlocking her trunk to find the cat, and it was yet alive after being locked in a heavy closely packed trunk for nine days and after travelling several thousand miles without food or water. Presumably, the cat hid herself away in the trunk while it was open. Mrs. Duvoivant's home, and being hurriedly locked up, sent to the station the cat was unnoticed. This is one cat that has nine lives.

Mr. W. G. Addison Dead. Mr. Wallace Gordon Addison, a prominent young business man, died yesterday morning at the Allen Sanatorium, in Milledgeville. His remains were brought to the city last night. The funeral will be held at the residence and the interment will take place in the city cemetery this afternoon.

Mr. Addison was an experienced shoe salesman and was formerly manager of the shoe department at White's. As the result of an accident he suffered from melancholia, which caused his death despite all attempts to relieve him. He was only thirty three years of age, and enjoyed a very wide popularity, both on account of his personal qualities and his business integrity and ability. He had hundreds of friends, who will be grieved to learn of his sad demise.

He married Miss Albertina Brunner, and leaves his wife and three children to mourn his loss, the oldest of the latter being eleven years of age. He is also survived by his mother and father, and one sister, Mrs. Carey Lamar. He was a prominent Knight of Pythias, and Vigilant Lodge will attend his funeral in a body.--Augusta Chronicle.

The buxom Miss Sallie weighed 160 pounds, but was loving and considerate, and after she had sat on Tom Hayseed's lap for an hour, she said: "Honey, I reckon I better git up now. Beas't you tired?" "No, pie crust," answered Tom. "Not tired. I'm just numb."
