Insure your cotton with E. J. Norris.

Miss Lucile Whatley has been spending several days in Edgefield visiting her uncle Hon. J. Wm. Thurmond. She will leave in about ten days to take charge of the school in Charendon county which she has taught for the past two sessions.

Mrs. T. J. Hamilton of Augusta was the guest of Mrs. B. B. Jones last week.

Miss Virginia Addison has been spending several days in Columbia with relatives.

Mr. W. E. Huff left Edgefield Thursday to make his home at Saluda, having accepted a position with the Saluda railroad.

Mrs. F. W. P. Butler of Columbia, accompanied by her two little daughters, is the guest of Mrs. S. McG. Simkins.

Mrs. M. E. Barker came up from Augusta and spent Saturday in Edgefield.

Live stock insured. Get a life policy on your stock from E. J. Norris.

75c negligee shirts at 59c, white or plain. F. G. MERTINS, Augusta, Ga.

The farmers of Edgefield county can easily understand now how it is that Texas farmers can make more cotton than they can pick.

Mrs. Philip Sarling and her daughter, Mrs. Charles Wilson, of Augusta are guests of Mr. W. H. Turner.

Begin now to curtail next year's cotton acreage by sowing much of the stalk land and pea stubble in oats.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bean Walker are receiving the congratulations of their friends. The Stork has brought them a little son.

The Graniteville Manufacturing Company advertises in this issue that it is in the market for cotton, giving within one-eighth of Angus prices.

Mrs. J. S. Byrd and little Fitzmaurice have been in Columbia several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzmaurice, Mrs. Byrd's parents.

For Sale: 1,000 bushels first-class home-grown seed oats. Apply to S. T. Williams, Edgefield, S. C.

Get your suit from MERTINS, Augusta, Ga., and he will save you $5 to $10.

The corn contest judges were published in The Advertiser two weeks. All who entered the contest are requested to notify the committee of judges for their community when they are ready to gather their corn.

Miss Leila Barnwell of Charleston is visiting Mrs. Julian R. Strother.

The ladies of the Episcopal guild are planning to hold a bazaar Friday, the first day of December. They already have a large collection of fancy articles and are steadily adding to the number. Dinner will be served in connection with the bazaar.

Notice: We are closing out all medium weight suits at 25 per cent. off, all fine wool goods. F. G. MERTINS, Augusta, Ga.

Congressman J. F. Byrnes of Aiken spent Monday in Edgefield shaking hands with his friends who were here from different parts of the county attending court. Mr. Byrnes is very popular in Edgefield county.

Buy your suit from F. G. MERTINS, Augusta, Ga., and save money.

Mr. Manly DeLoach says he never saw so much cotton in his fields before. He says every boll on the stalks is open and, now that the worms have devoured the leaves, he believes that the stalks are going to open too.

Gin house insurance, system gins, steam gins, water gin machinery. E. J. Norris, Agt.

The ladies of the cemetery association will serve dinner at the county fair this year to make funds for their treasury as they have done for the past two years. They should receive the full co-operation of the men in this very worthy undertaking.

All over the county cotton picking is the order of the day, and night too in some places when the moon shines. The best record for last week, so far reported, was made by a family on one of the farms of Mr. Butler Strom. Four persons picked more than 5,000 pounds during the week.

Boy's clothing and hats a full line. Write F. G. MERTINS, Augusta, Ga.

Mrs. Martha Strom and Miss Pauline Byrd are welcomed visitors in Edgefield.

Big lot of blankets just received at bargain prices. Israel Mukashy.

The merchants should begin now to plan for a place in the trade display at the fair.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Mission society of the Baptist church will be held at the church next Friday afternoon at four o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

Some valuable tracts of land are advertised in this issue. Now is the time to buy real estate. Edgefield county dirt will never be any cheaper.

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Broadwater carried Rev. P. P. Blalock to Troy Sunday in their large touring car. The day was spent very pleasantly with Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Burton.

Miss Lura Mims came up and spent Saturday and Sunday at home. She is delighted with her work as teacher in the Colliers school. Miss Lura boards at the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Mathis.

That Joe Mays egg problem provoked much comment and "figgerin'". Mr. Willis Duncan, Mr. T. J. McDowell, and Judge A. A. Gilchrist all sent in the same answer or solution, stating that there were 301 eggs in the basket.

The public schools should begin to plan the decorations for their wagons, so as to be in readiness to join the parade at the fair as several schools did last year. Wonder which school in the county will have the prettiest wagon? The wagons loaded with dozens of children will add much to the parade.

When Judge R. W. Memminger came up from Charleston Monday he was accompanied by Mrs. Memminger and their little child. They will be at the Hotel DuBose during their stay here. Judge Memminger has many warm personal friends in Edgefield.

The county fair is almost upon us, being only two weeks off now. There is much to be done in that time if the fair is to be the success that its promoters are striving to make of it. As heretofore, the parade is to be the eclipsing feature. When the ladies who have this particular feature in charge call upon you give them your fullest co-operation.

This community is exceedingly fortunate in having a skilled trained nurse in the person of Mrs. Jesse Hobbs residing in easy reach. She lacked only a short time of completing the course in the school for nurses, and is really as well equipped as if she held a diploma. Those with whom Mrs. Hobbs has been associated in Edgefield are highly pleased with her services. Always kind, sympathetic and very efficient.

Mr. G. S. Cartledge came down Saturday to attend the meeting of the County Farmers' Union, and while here told the writer of the damage to late cotton by the "army" worm. A twenty-acre field of cotton on Mr. Cartledge's farm was stripped of every leaf in less than two days by a detachment or regiment of these worms.

Dr. Jeffries Accepted Call.

Dr. M. D. Jeffries of Jefferson City, Tenn., has sent his official acceptance of the call to the pastor of the Baptist church. He will reach Edgefield Saturday night and will fill the Baptist pulpit next Sunday morning.

Johnston's Hardware Store.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. A. C. Mobley & Son, the leading hardware merchants of Johnston, in this issue. This popular firm not only carries a large stock of shelf hardware of every kind but also carries a large stock of stoves, ranges, heaters, grates and farming implements of all kinds. They are in a position to make very close prices in all departments. Large assortment to make your selections from.

For Sale, Rent or Lease.

Splendid 5 room house and out buildings, good well on yard, fine pasture with two everlasting spring branches, good two-horse farm open, 50 acres of fine saw timber of second growth pine with some oak, nearly level with no rocks. One fourth cash, balance in 10 years. For price and terms apply to Wallace F. Holson, Edgefield, S. C.

Advertisements Have Brought Results.

Just as we expected, and just as they expected also, the advertisements of Messrs. W. M. & J. T. Ouzts Co., have been business builders for them. In giving instructions for this week's advertisement, Mr. Ouzts wrote, in part: "Have had customers in our store who have never been here before." In order to give their place a distinct or definite location it will be known hereafter as Ouztsville—a very appropriate name. The Advertiser, as shown by Mr. Ouzts' statement, is read by the people.

Court Proceedings.

The fall term of the sessions court convened Monday morning with the Hon. R. W. Memminger as presiding judge. Solicitor Timmerman and all of the other court officials were promptly in their places, except Stenographer O. B. Anderson who was detained in Columbia on account of the illness of his little child at the hospital. Mr. Wingard of Lexington is acting as stenographer.

Judge Memminger made only a brief charge to the grand jury but what he said was timely and effective. He urged a rigid enforcement of the vagrant law and impressed upon the grand jurors the importance of a fearless and faithful discharge of their duty.

The grand jury found true bills under the following indictments: Milo and Sump Hendrix, disturbing religious worship. Grant Calliham, larceny. J. Perry Brown, murder. Sie Holloway, murder. Fred Daniel, murder.

John Jeter, assault and battery with intent to kill and carrying concealed weapon. Alex Jones, murder.

The first case to go to the jury was that of Geo. Collier, indicted for seduction. A verdict of "guilty" was rendered.

Sump and Milo Hendrix pleaded guilty to the charge of disturbing religious worship and were sentenced to pay a fine of $30.00 each. The fines were paid.

Grant Calliham pleaded guilty of larceny and was fined $50 which was also paid.

Mr. J. Perry Brown was tried for killing a negro and was acquitted. The defendant was represented by Thurmond & Nicholson and the State by Solicitor Timmerman.

The court is engaged at this time, Tuesday afternoon, with the trial of Sie Holloway who is indicted for murder. The State is represented by the Solicitor and the defendant by Thurmond & Nicholson.

The grand jury completed its work and was discharged yesterday afternoon.

It is probable that the criminal docket will be cleared by Thursday night.

Death of Mrs. E. J. Mims.

Her mortal body reposes peacefully in yonder cemetery beneath a profusion of lovely floral tributes and her beautiful spirit is with Jesus in the home beyond the sky, where peace and joy and bliss reign eternally. With a complete resignation, such as is born only of an abiding faith in Him who doeth all things well, Mrs. E. J. Mims gave up her life in the early watch of Sunday morning. Knowing that the end was slowly, nevertheless surely, approaching, all of her loved ones were with her. Mrs. Mims' chief concern, as she bravely and in full consciousness faced the transition from earth to heaven, was not the fear of death but the separation from those whom she loved. It was her desire to live for them and their happiness.

For several years past Mrs. Mims' condition has been one of steady physical decline and for six months or more her suffering has been intensely acute. But she bore it all with patience and beautiful Christian fortitude. Throughout her long illness she constantly received the most devoted attention from loved ones. As if possessed of super-human strength, those nearest and dearest to her seemed never, under the greatest stress and strain, to tire in their thoughtful and affectionate ministrations. Everything too that is known to science and medical skill was invoked to restore health and strength but in its stubborn resistance the malady yielded to nothing. God had called her up higher and no human agency could stay or annul the summons.

From early childhood Mrs. Mims was a devout member of the Methodist church, always being actively and prominently identified with every department of church work, particularly with those things that were fostered by the ladies. In her church, as in the community life, the loss resulting from her death is irreparable. But in the home which she loved so well, where her devotion to those dearest to her was as sincere and tender as it was beautiful, is where Mrs. Mims will be missed most. May His comforting presence be constantly with her husband, her two daughters and little son!

The funeral was conducted from the Methodist church Sunday afternoon by her pastor, Rev. L. D. Gillespie.

The Farmers' Meeting.

The writer deeply regretted that he was prevented by unavoidable circumstances from attending the farmers' meeting that was held in the court house Saturday. We regret the enforced absence because it was our purpose to report the excellent addresses somewhat in detail for the benefit of The Advertiser readers, and, too, because we personally feel the need in our own limited farming operations of such information as Mr. Smith and Col. Watson are capable of giving. We have heard much favorable comment upon the admirable addresses of these two gentlemen. The meeting was presided over by Mr. P. N. Lott, the county agent of the farm demonstration work.

NOTICE.

The tract of land containing 47 acres, more or less, belonging to the estate of the late C. E. Holston, being a part of the Holston homestead, will be sold at public outcry before the court house on salesday in November. Terms cash.

W. L. Holston, Administrator.

ONLY THE BEST.

Edgefield People Give Credit Where Credit is Due.

People of Edgefield who suffer with sick kidneys and bad backs want a kidney remedy that can be depended upon. The best is Doan's kidney pills, a medicine for the kidneys only, made from pure roots and herbs, and the one that is backed by cures in Edgefield.

Read what follows: It's convincing testimony. W. B. Paul, clerk, Butler street, Edgefield, S. C., says: "I was bothered by kidney complaint from childhood and it got worse after I had the measles about twelve years ago. I suffered from acute pains throughout my body and I had much trouble from a weakness from the kidneys and bladder. Doan's kidney pills were just what I needed, driving away my pains and strengthening my kidneys and bladder. Whenever I have felt in need of a kidney medicine since then Doan's kidney pills have come to my aid. I consider them the best kidney medicine to be had."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Will Run on Democratic Platform.

Col. W. J. Talbert spent Saturday last in Edgefield, having come over to attend the farmers' meeting with Hon. W. R. Parks in his automobile. Col. Talbert says he will make the race for the senate standing squarely on every plank in the Democratic platform. In due season his views upon the national issues will be given to the people.

Am offering special bargains in a big lot of shoes. Israel Mukashy.

"Mr. Grimes," said the rector to the vestryman, "we had better take up the collection before the sermon this morning." "Indeed Yes; I'm going to preach of the subject of economy."—Stray Stories.

Johnny Williams had been "bad" again. "Ah me, Johnny," sighed his Sunday school teacher, "I am afraid we shall never meet in heaven." "What have you been doing?" asked Johnny, with a grin.

Dry Goods, Dress Goods And Notions. Does The Early bird Always Get the Worm? Our Answer---No!

For this season this was the case in buying Dry Goods—Early buyers paid more for their merchandise, therefore are compelled to get more. We bought late and say frankly that we got the lowest possible price made for the season. In fact, every one was guaranteed against decline. We are going to give our good fortune to our customers, which we deem one of the Greatest assets of our business. Believe us we have a full line of dry Goods, representing different qualities and prices. Our stock is one of the largest, as well as most complete we have ever shown. We do not mean to say in a boasting way at all, but we candidly believe that you will find on our shelves many, many things in this department that are not carried by all of the country stores. We especially ask you to inspect Schuykill Mill's line, which we are showing. They have the reputation of manufacturing nothing but the best and goods that are dependable.

Dress Goods

In this department we have made a careful study of the patterns that are in vogue. We feel reasonably sure that they will be appreciated by our customers and that we can save them to their best advantage.

Notions
