DIPPY DOPE.

Card of Thanks.

I desire to extend my thanks to the good people of Limestone for the kindness extended my daughter, Mrs. Bessie Lanier, during her recent illness and death. Words fail to convey my expression of heartfelt thanks for your many kindnesses, but we shall always remember you with the kindest feelings.
Mrs. L. S. McLendon.

A Capable Railroad Official.

Mr. W. E. McGee, the assistant passenger agent of the Southern Railroad, with his headquarters in Columbia, spent several hours in Edgefield Friday afternoon on business connected with his department. Mr. McGee is deservedly very popular and by his persistent efforts has increased the volume of business in his department in the territory which has been assigned him. The summer travel to the mountains have been unprecedentedly heavy. Mr. McGee's Edgefield friends hope to see him here again soon.

A Citizen of Sterling Qualities.

Mr. J. P. Sullivan paid The Advertiser a pleasant visit last Saturday. In addition to being a successful farmer of progressive ideas Mr. Sullivan is a right-thinking, public spirited citizen. He came to Edgefield Saturday to confer with Superintendent of Education W. W. Fuller concerning the erection of a large modern school house in his school district. The patrons have decided to call it the Sullivan school in honor of Mr. Sullivan who has been unceasing in his efforts to build up a good strong school in the community.

Chamber of Commerce to Meet.

Matters requiring the immediate attention of the Edgefield Chamber of Commerce make it necessary to call a meeting of the body in the Court House on next Monday evening at 8 o'clock sharp, September 8th. It is specially desired that all members be present as matters of much importance will be brought before the chamber by reports of committees and otherwise. It will be the most important meeting that the body has ever held, especially as regards the trolley line. That will be the main purpose of the meeting.

Miss Battle Will Sing Evening of September 9.

The ladies of the library association and the guild of the Episcopal church are jointly preparing a beautiful entertainment to be presented September 9. With these two combinations Edgefield may look forward to something good. Every effort is being made to make this entertainment a grand success. The best talent has been secured.

The first on the program will be the Anvil Chorus sung by the gypsies from that beautiful opera, Il Trovatore. Two anvils will ring out struck by the strong arms of Capt. N. G. Evans and Mr. Willis Duncan. In this scene Miss Margaret Battle as Azucena, will sing as the gypsies gather around her. Miss Battle leads the Presbyterian choir in Augusta and has one of the most beautiful voices in the South. Besides singing in the choir she takes the most prominent parts in all of the musical entertainments in the city. At a great deal of expense the ladies have been fortunate enough to secure this beautiful singer and it is hoped their efforts will be appreciated and that they will be given a full house.

The next on the program will be an Egyptian scene, then a song by Miss Battle. After this comes the sextette from Floradora sung by six young ladies and six young men. This will be very attractive and will be sure to bring an encore.

Between acts Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Mayson with the violin and piano will play some of the old sweet music we all love so well.

The last on the program will be a short play, "The Burglar's Alarm." This play will be enjoyed. It is full of humor and very taking.

Cast of characters: The heroine of the play is Miss Ruth Tompkins as Violet; Miss Mary, maiden aunt of Violet, Miss Georgia Mae Wates; Miss Martha, maiden aunt of Violet, Miss Jennie Johnson; Bridgett, the cook, Miss Hortensia Woodson; Tilly Craig, the stage struck maid, Miss Florence Peak; Jack, Violet's lover, Mr. Wad Allen.

Reserved seats 50 cents; general admission, 35 cents; 25 cents for children under twelve years of age. Seats on sale at Penn & Holstein's

Notice to Music Pupils.

I desire to give notice that I will begin my music class the third week in September.

Mrs. John R. Tompkins.
Edgefield, S. C.

Miss Battle.

Miss Margaret Battle will delight all Edgefield with her beautiful voice as Azucena in the anvil chorus. The ladies of the library association and Episcopal church are fortunate in securing such talent for their entertainment which is to be presented September 9. We copy the following from the Augusta Chronicle: "Miss Margaret Battle needs no introduction to a public that has already proved on every opportunity its admiration of her wonderfully beautiful voice." "Terna of New York spoke in the highest praise of Miss Battle's voice." "Miss Margaret Battle leads the Presbyterian choir, one of the finest in the south."

Historic Old Company Re-organized.

At a meeting Friday afternoon the Edgefield Rifles were formally re-organized by the election of the following commissioned officers: W. J. Duncan, captain; W. C. Tompkins, first lieutenant, and W. A. Collett, second lieutenant. The non-commissioned officers will be appointed as soon as the required number of men enlist. Already more than 30 men have enrolled and it is certain the necessary number can be secured. The company is well officered and we expect to see it prosper. The people generally are deeply interested and will give the Rifles more generous support than they have in the past. The governor will doubt re-instate the company at once.

Young Woman's Auxiliary.

One of the things which I look forward to as a Y. W. A. member is the meeting of that body of girls every other week. We were very pleasantly entertained at the home of Florence Mims last Monday afternoon. The attendance was better than usual and the parlor was filled with bright, pretty girls, a sight that is pleasing, especially when they are gathered together for such a noble purpose.

The program as usual was of the kind that enabled several of the girls to take part. The occasion afforded a while for chatting, as girls are prone to do, after the meeting. The refreshments, I think, truly refreshed every one, for what is there more cooling than an ice? We were also honored by having a number of Edgefield's visitors.

Death of Mrs. H. H. Sanders.

For several weeks our community has been greatly depressed on account of the serious illness of Mrs. H. H. Sanders, and when she calmly and peacefully passed away Friday morning at nine o'clock there were many expressions of sorrow and profound sympathy for her devoted husband.

Before her marriage Mrs. Sanders was Miss Mattie Plunkett, having descended from an old and honored Aiken family. She and Mr. Sanders came to Edgefield to make their home about 15 years ago. Both of them made friends rapidly and soon occupied a prominent place in the community life. They have always been held in high esteem by the people of the entire community. Though quiet, gentle and modest, Mrs. Sanders was a woman of unusual strength and force, being not only a devoted companion to her husband but being also of valuable assistance to him in conducting his business interests. The scattering of sunshine along the pathway of others seemed to be one of Mrs. Sanders' chief delights. She always had a smile and some kindly remark for those with whom she met, making them feel happier by reason of having been in her presence. She was an active member of the Baptist church and, in company with her husband, she always attended church services regularly, including the mid-week prayer meetings.

The interment took place Saturday afternoon at Mount Pleasant, a Baptist church near her former home five miles south of Ridge Spring. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. R. Walker.

The Advertiser joins a host of friends in extending profound sympathy to the bereaved husband who has been left alone in the home. They have no children living.

Rehoboth Birthday Party.

One of the happiest occasions of the Rehoboth community was the birthday party of Marion, the only child of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Winn. In their hospitable home on Tuesday afternoon August 19, they delightfully entertained a number of little folks in honor of Marion's sixth birthday.

Promptly at three o'clock the guests arrived and were invited by Misses Annie Lou Morgan, and Mary and Maggie Winn down to the cool and shady spring to play games which they enjoyed very much.

They were then invited into the dining room which was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being pink and white, where refreshments were served.

The birthday cake looked as if mother earth had been covered with snow flakes and icicles clinging upon a large mound, and had written the initials M. E. W. in raised letters where the snow had drifted upon it, and to glance at it with its six snow white candles burning so brightly seemed as if the sun was just sinking behind the western horizon.

Nothing but artistic skill could have had things decorated and arranged so lovely.

The guests on this pleasant occasion were Marguerite Luxemberger and Angela Heinnesey of Greenville, Florence and Gertrude Culbreath, Carrie Lou Strom, Mary Luda Hughey of Rehoboth; Ruth Wash, of Parksville; Connie Cochran, Ellen and Annie May Culbreath, Mary Julia Paris and Cornelia Winn, of Plum Branch; Johnnie Williams and Carl Luxemberger of Greenville; William Wash, of Parksville; Boat and Edward Strom, Lewis Coleman, Willie and Strom Culbreath, of Rehoboth; Tom Seigler, Lewis Otis, Patrick, Carl Williams, Robert and Carroll Winn of Plum Branch.

As the golden sun was setting they bade Marion adieu on that happy afternoon, and their mothers and fathers carried them safely home, and put them in that little beds for a sweet night's rest.

PAINT BETTER.

Better isn't enough; paint best. A man bought "cheap" paint; saved 20c or 30 or 40 or 50c a gallon, didn't he?

Yes, and bought 40 or 50 or 60 or 80 percent more gallons; how much did he make on his paint?

And he paid for painting those gallons, a fair day's work is a gallon, how much did he make on the labor part of his job?

He lost a quarter or third of his money.

How long will it last? not his money, the paint?

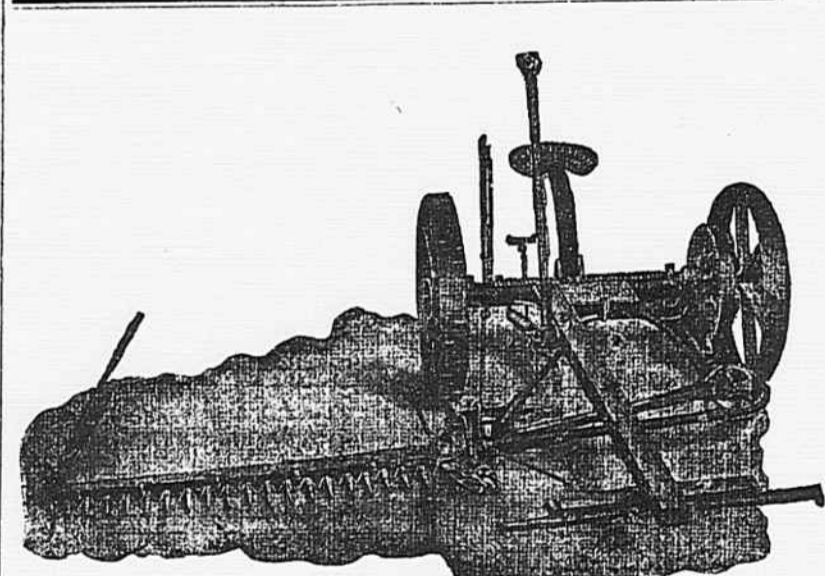

Perhaps half as long as Devoe. How long will his money last, if he buys other stuff as he bought that paint?

Better buy the best paint; it makes the last bill and least often.
Devoe.

Stewart & Kernaghan sells it.

Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. Yorks, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers.
