

SHARP PENCIL HOOKS WATCH

Broker Bumped Into Stranger In Subway, and Finds Addition to His Wealth in Pocket.

New York.—A newly sharpened pencil sticking out of his upper outside coat pocket, S. J. Karp, an insurance broker, got off a subway express train at the Fulton street station. When he reached the exit from the station he met a crowd of persons running for the same train he had just left, and bumped squarely into a tall young man wearing his watch at the end of a chain fastened to his lapel, in the same kind or a pocket that Karp's pencil stuck out of.

"Did I hurt you?" said the young man, recovering from his collision with Karp.

"Not a bit," answered the insurance broker.

Arrived at his office, Karp put his hand in his outside lower left-hand pocket and pulled out, instead of a letter, an open-faced, yellow metal watch, with case No. 75,080. It flashed over him that his pencil must have hooked this from the pocket of the tall man into whom he had bumped. He took the watch to police headquarters.

WEDS FOR SIXTH TIME AT 75

Dr. Mercer and Brides Perform the Ceremony Themselves at Beaver, Pa.

Beaver, Pa.—A remarkable marriage contract was entered into by Dr. Askelon Mercer, seventy-five years old, of Beaver Falls, and Sarah L. Calgrove, sixty-five, of Wetzel county, West Virginia. When they obtained a marriage license here they blithly informed the clerk all they needed was a certificate, as they could dispense easily with all bridal attendants and a clergyman.

Guided by this information, the clerk issued a license for Mr. Mercer and Mrs. Calgrove to marry themselves in the presence of witnesses. Dr. Mercer said he had been married five times and in each instance he and his bride had performed their own ceremony, always in the presence of two witnesses.

New York.—Those who have followed the international polo match played between the English and the Thrilling Moment.

American teams at Meadow Brook, Long Island, have little conception of the strenuous game polo, when played as these champion poloists play it, really is. The photograph vividly portrays an intense moment of the second game of the international match played June 14, when the following players (left to right) Waterbury, Freake and Milburn (Americans in white shirts, English in dark shirts) were engaged in a hair raising scrimmage as Captain Freake sent a smashing drive, but failed to make a goal.

J.—Aroused by the barking of his dogs, Martin Kahout of Atco, rushed out of his house and was dumfounded when he discovered that not a tree in his peach orchard was left standing, each being chopped down close to the ground. Diarrhoea Quickly Cured.

"I was taken with diarrhoea and Mr. York, the merchant here, persuaded me to try a bottle of Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhoea remedy. After taking one dose of it I was cured. It also cured others that I gave it to," writes M. E. Gebhart, Oriole, Pa. That is not at all unusual. An ordinary attack of diarrhoea can almost invariably be cured by one or two doses of this remedy. For sale by all dealers.

WHEN A MAN FAILS.

When he has no confidence in himself nor his fellow men.

When he values success more than character and self respect.

When he loves his own plans and interests more than humanity.

When he does not try to make his work a little better each day.

When his friends like him for what he has more than for what he is.

When he knows that he is in the wrong, but is afraid to admit it.

When he is so busy doing that he has no time for smiles and cheering words.

When he is so burdened by his business that he finds no time for rest or recreation.

When he envies others because they have more ability, talent or wealth than he has.

When he lets a day go by without making some one happier and more comfortable.

When he values wealth above health, self respect and the good opinion of others.

When he becomes so absorbed in his work that he cannot say that life is greater than work.

When he does not care what happens to his neighbor or to his friend so long as he is prosperous.

HOW TO GET THERE

It pays to be liked and one likes to be paid.

Pity that man who believes we work to live!

Today it's the man that counts most, not the experience.

Success in business depends upon the man seeking success.

Like the work you have to do or have the work you'd like to do!

The laws of nature will all work man's advancement if he will work with the laws.

The business world is a glorious place in which to live; and work is joy if we will have it so.

The more successful one is, the more one is glad to work; the more one works, the more successful one is.

Smiles are shock absorbers that help one to ride comfortably over the ruts of business on the road to success.

The man who underestimates himself is generally underestimated by the world; the man who overestimates himself may fool the world for a time, but sooner or later will be found out.

FAMOUS OLD-TIME PUNS

The Romans were said to urn their dead, but we earn our living.

"Yes, unremitting kindness," Jerrold replied.
