

COAT SUIT OF TAN EPONGE

Both in Cut and Materials Particularly Effective for the Young Girl's Wear.

A particularly becoming coat suit of eponge for a young girl is offered here as a suggestion. Tan eponge was used for the suit with collar and turned-back cuff of the same material in white. A broad, stiffened belt of black velvet holds the blouse fullness of the coat. The blouse closes in slightly surplice effect above the belt, while the lower coat portion shows the cutaway influence. Buttons of black velvet with attendant buttonholes are placed just outside the shaped collar of white. The skirt is plain save for three deep tuoks half way between knee and hem.

"TUB" MATERIALS IN PLENTY

Among the Many Offered There is Ample Opportunity for Selection of Pretty Frock.

The tub frock has included washable voile in its materials this summer, and that dear old fabric has arisen from its ashes more delightfully useful and ornamental than ever, and makes the prettiest frocks for those who want something fairly thin, washable, that will wear a decent time, and which will look nice to the end. The washing crepons, among other popular materials, always look smart if well cut and worn, while, in my opinion, the most useful frock of all is of the handkerchief type, plain cambric or batiste with little hem-stitched colored edges. It is extraordinary how adaptable this type of frock is; simplicity being the order, it can be worn with the most country sort of hat, or by the addition of a not too elaborate but smart sash and a chapeau of a more afternoon description (still holding to the simple note), and the possible finish of a frilled collar and elbow cuffs, or a set in old embroidered net or muslin, it can be pressed into service for a far more important occasion. All the foregoing is to the address of the young person, and not to that of her mother—or even grandmother!—these fair ladies having a way of taking to themselves advice to the ingenuae as a matter of course nowadays unless firmly told they must not!—London Queen.

HANDS NEED NOT BE ROUGH

Even the Busiest of Housewives Can Find Time for This Simple Beautifying Process.

Here are some useful hints, which, if followed, will be found to produce excellent results in keeping the hands in good condition. The last thing at night, wash the hands with a good soap in not too hot water, and after they have been thoroughly cleansed (a soft nail-brush being permissible as long as the skin is not injured), in clean warm water to which a few drops of tincture of benzoin has been added.

Dry them on a soft towel and rub them well with cocoa butter, allowing it to sink into the skin. Massage the back of each hand and the fingers with the fingers of the other hand, rubbing them with the tips in a circular movement, and gradually working down to the nails.

Now rub over with olive oil, and put on a pair of old charcolis leather gloves, which, if kept on all night, will make the skin soft, as well as nice and white.

In cleaning the nails never use a steel instrument or the points of the scissors. Stains and dirt can be removed by rolling a tiny wad of cotton-wool on the end of an orange stick and moistening it with diluted peroxide of hydrogen.

DESIGN FOR LITTLE SISTER

Silk and Cotton Combined in Pretty Costume That Has Some Really New Features.

Pale blue silk and cotton material has been made up most charmingly for a little girl in this instance. The sleeves are trimmed with narrow plaited frills of the material and a black velvet sash passes under a strap buttoned down with black velvet buttons.

There is a round yoke edged with the plaited frilling and over this little yoke lies a round collar of machine embroidery which fastens at the back. Pale blue silk stockings and buttoned strap slippers of white kid complete the dainty costume.

Middy Ties. Middy ties in all colors are to be found in abundance. One has a choice of the ties fringed, hemstitched or simply hemmed.

IN SUMMER MATERIAL

LINGERIE DRESSES FASHIONED FROM WHITE COTTON VOILE.

Has Many Advantages Which Make It Approach the Ideal for Hot Weather—Sketch Shows Pretty Embroidery Method.

Some of the most useful and charming lingerie dresses are fashioned from fine, white cotton voile, which launders satisfactorily and wears fairly well. Hand or machine needlework is a favorite trimming medium in a frock of this sort, oftentimes combines with cluny insertions or Irish lace.

This season, with the vogue for colorful embroideries, much can be done with thin materials that have colored border designs, whether hand worked or included in the weave.

Just how different are the methods of utilizing border embroideries for dress trimmings from those of other seasons is demonstrated in the model sketched for today. The material of the frock is a soft, fine white voile, with an oddly patterned border design outlined in coral and white floss.

The lower edge of the design is cut out in deep points and scallops, and this is used for the lower part of the blouse, with one of the points running up over either shoulder in front and in back. The rest of the blouse is of plain plaited voile made with elbow-length sleeves cut in one with the sides. A small, round collar finishes the neck, and a row of little coral buttons is set down the center front as trimming.

The tunic skirt has the cut-out border at the bottom, and is mounted evenly to the waist with gathers. The lower part of the underskirt is plaited like the blouse and attached to a net foundation.

Black or coral colored satin may be used for the sash, which is tied in large loops at the back.—Washington Star.

PLAYROOM AND BED COMBINED

Mother Tells of Plan Which She Asserts Has Been Conducive to Baby's Health and Happiness.

A mother writes that she has found from experience a bed to be a very good place on which to bring up a baby during his first eighteen months. She says there is one room in her house where her six children, in turn, have passed the greater part of their early days. The room has a warm southern exposure and contains only a three-quarter bed, a rocking chair and a chest of drawers for the baby's clothing. The bed occupies a corner of the room and the foot comes against a window. The baby stays on this bed most of his time. The mattress, which is firm and hard, is first covered with a rubber sheet, then with a white spread. The foot of the bed is wrapped with unbleached muslin, so the baby shall not fall out, and two smooth ten-inch boards are fastened to the unprotected side. As soon as the baby is able to stand alone he looks out the window and watches the older children playing in the yard. He has a basket of soft toys on the bed, and when he is tired he lies down and goes to sleep. He is accustomed to living on the bed, and the mother feels that he is safer there, and that the quiet of the room has been good for all her children.

Flower Trimmings.

Trimmings of flowers are much used on dancing gowns. Sometimes the low-cut neck is edged with a small wreath of rosebuds or other flowers, and the same trimming idea is carried out in the skirt. Occasionally the flowers are put on the lining, so that only a glimpse can be had. This is also very effective. Many dance gowns are worn with fancy trimmed corset covers, the outer waist being of a very simple type and very sheer. Fancy sashes are used, showing the cubist and futurist colorings, and sometimes a combination of two or more plain colored ribbons.
