Beautiful Home Wedding Williamsburg Groom Claimed Edgefield Bride. Father of Bride Officiated.

A wedding of unusual beauty took place here Thursday afternoon at the home of Rev. and Mrs. P. P. Blalock, when their second daughter, Miss Marion Blalock, became the wife of Dr. William Sims Boyd of Greeleyville. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride and the invocation was offered by her pastor, Rev. E. C. Bailey of the Presbyterian church.

The guests were received at the door by Miss Royall Peak, Miss Elizabeth Waring, Miss Margaret Gourdin and Miss Mary Anderson.

The entire lower floor of the home was thrown en suite and tastefully decorated for the occasion. In the west parlor the color scheme was yellow and white, daffodils being used in great profusion. In the east parlor, where the ceremony was performed, white and green were used, and in the dining room, yellow predominated. The bride's table was outlined with yellow daffodils and a huge basket in the centre was filled to overflowing with the same flowers, the choicest of the Edgefield gardens at this season. The shade over the electrolier was a yellow shower effect, shedding a soft light about the room.

After the guests arrived they were entertained until the appointed time for the ceremony by several musical numbers very sweetly rendered. Miss Nannie Gunter of Batesburg sang "At Dawning" and "Because," and Mrs. R. G. Shan-nonhouse sang "Veronese Serenade." Mrs. Mamie Tillman accompanying both on the piano. At the conclusion of the musical program, Mrs. Tillman sounded Mendelssohn's wedding march and the bridal procession entered the parlor in the following order, having formed in the upper hall: Descending the stairway like two little fairies, the flower girls, Katherine Stewart and Elizabeth Bailey, entered the parlor. Next came the ministers, Rev. P. P. Blalock and Rev. E. C. Bailey, these being followed by the ring bearer, little Ned Nicholson. Mrs. P. P. Blalock, Jr., of Atlanta, the matron of honor, clad in a rich gown of yellow, carrying a bouquet of daffodils, next entered. Then the groom was accompanied by his best man, P. G. Gourdin, of Kingstree. The bride and her maid of honor, Miss Edwardina Blalock, her sister, were the last to enter.

At the conclusion of this beautiful wedding scene, made the more beautiful by the father of the bride uttering the words that made them man and wife, Dr. and Mrs. Boyd were showered with congratulations and good wishes, not only from Edgefield friends, but from friends from different parts of the state.

During the social half hour that followed the guests registered their names in the bride's book and viewed the large assortment of rich tokens that had been bestowed by relatives and friends. The bride's book was in charge of Mrs. S. A. Morrall, Jr., and Miss Virginia Addison. A buffet luncheon was served by old family servants, followed by ice cream and cake. The color scheme, yellow and white, was reflected in the cream.

Following a custom of long standing, the bride's cake was cut and the peals of laughter meant that the future of some present had been revealed by the article which fell to their lot. The slice handed to Miss Ruth Strom contained the ring, the coin fell to the lot of Miss Elizabeth Waring and the thimble to Miss Ruth Timmerman.

Soon after leaving the dining room where the bridal party were served, the bride ascended the stairway in the hall and tossed her bouquet among the eager friends who were standing below and Miss Marie Anderson became its happy possessor.

The gifts were very numerous and beautiful in design. The one bestowed by the groom's brother, Dr. I. N. Boyd, a set of Haviland china, was especially admired.

Just before the guests departed each one was presented by Miss Marie Holston and Miss Willie Peak with a dainty little wedding ring suspended from a bow of white ribbon as a souvenir of the joyous occasion.

Clad in a rich gown of white satin, with train, the bride never appeared more beautiful than she did on this occasion. The grace of her slender form was heightened by the conventional veil. Later in the evening she donned a handsome traveling suit, ready for the departure upon their wedding journey of several weeks in New York and other northern cities.

Among the out-of-town guests were Dr. I. N. Boyd of Greeleyville, P. G. Gourdin and Miss Martha Gourdin of Kingstree and R. T.

Writes in Reminiscent Vain, Referring to Friendship of the Past. Farm Work Advancing.

I believe nearly every home in our section is visited by the Edgefield Advertiser. Being something like receiving letters from friends over the county makes for it a special welcome. Special features are brought out by your correspondents both in our church work and socially as well, that help us to improve in many instances.

As we have no Sunday school at Red Oak Grove on third Sunday, it is usually "spend the day" Sunday.

It was quiet on our street yesterday only at mid-day. At Mr. Luther Timmerman's was Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Timmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Mollie Clegg, Mr. and Mrs. Will Burton, Mrs. Mamie Bussey and daughter, also the Misses Dows. At Mrs. Shelton's, Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Howl of Modoc, at Mr. G. W. Bussey's, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Bussey and family. Being the 80th birth-day of Mrs. J. N. Griffith, her guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Lamb, also two of her grand children, Mr. J. T. McManus and Mrs. Will Fuller, from Edgefield.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Griffith visited relatives at Parksville Saturday. We regret to learn that our honored friend, Mr. J. C. Morgan, is in bad health, also of the bad health of his brother, "Uncle Iv," of Harlem, Ga. We wish Uncle Iv would come back home. We need him. So few of our acquaintances of childhood days are left now. Though our moments of reflection are made pleasant when we recall the fact that our life has been made better and happier by having known something of such sweet christian spirits as those of Mrs. Alice Hammond, Mrs. George Walker, Mr. Pat Bussey, Mrs. Martha Dorn, Mrs. Lizzie Timmerman, Mrs. Davis Timmerman and Mrs. Jose Horne. They are dead, but their lives were "as a shining light." We have in mind now, our beloved and honored pastor, Rev. G. W. Bussey, his life and what it has stood for in Edgefield county alone, having baptised and married parents, children and grand children of many of the families. His place would be hard to fill. He knows the people, and they know him, to love him.

Work on farms is pushing ahead these spring-like days, but it is predicted it will be retarded by cold bad weather yet. We all think of our fruit, but last year it snowed on the peach-blossoms. That though does not hurt fruit like wind does even after all danger of the cold has passed. Our ladies, some of them, are busy with their poultry. Mrs. Mamie Bussey and others are trying their same fowls the Plymouth Rock. We like the white Leghorn and will cross them this year with the Anconas. Will tell more of them on longer acquaintance. We should, by all means, divide our time with the garden. Much to be lost should the garden be neglected.

How to Make Whitewash.

- For interior work; Walls, ceilings, etc:
1. Slake 62 pounds (1 bushel) quicklime with 15 gallons water, keep barrel covered until steam ceases to rise. Stir occasionally to prevent scorching.
  2. Two and one-half pounds rye flour. Beat up in one-half gallon cold water then and two gallons boiling water.
  3. Two and one-half pounds common rock salt. Dissolve in two and one-half gallons hot water. Mix (2) and (3), pour into (1) and stir till thoroughly mixed.

For exterior work: Buildings fences, etc.:

1. Sixty-two pounds (1 bushel) quicklime. Slake with 12 gallons hot water.
2. Two pounds common table salt, one pound sulphate of zinc, dissolved in two gallons boiling water.
3. Two gallons skimmed milk. Pour (2) into (1), then add (3) and mix thoroughly.

A pound of cheap bar soap dissolved in a gallon of boiling water and added to about five gallons of thick whitewash will give it a gloss like that of oil paint.—From Farmers' Bulletin No. 474.

Zeigler and Mr. B. Land of Greeleyville, Mr. Bushnell of Augusta, John A. Holland of Greenwood and Miss Josephine Woodson and Walter R. McDonald of Augusta, Miss Elizabeth Waring of Columbia and Miss Marie Anderson of Edisto Island.

ington party and the ideas of the day were well carried out, the decorations being bright with crimson carnations. The score cards were red hatchets and partners were gotten with these for rook. After six tables Mrs. Ollie Hamilton was presented with a box of monogram stationery tied with red, white and blue. The hostess assisted by Misses Luella and Sara Norris served a tempting two course repast. The doilies were decorated in the Liberty bell with the colors. Each moment of the party was most enjoyable.

Mrs. W. P. Casselles entertained the sewing club on Saturday afternoon, the honor guests being Miss Eloise Strother and Mrs. Smith. The hostess was very cordial and made the afternoon one of many pleasures. In the progressive game Mrs. C. P. Corn won the box of pink stationery which she presented to Miss Strother. A salad course with coffee was served.

Dr. and Mrs. P. N. Keese entertained with tea on Thursday evening for their sister, Mrs. Ollie Hamilton, those present being a few relatives and intimate friends. It was a pleasure to all to be with Mrs. Hamilton again and the time was enjoyably spent chatting. The tea table was very attractive with cutglass and dainty china and a large bowl of daffodils formed the centerpiece. Many tempting dainties were served.

Each year the chapters of the U. D. C. are requested to send in original poems to the state historian, and the following one, by Mrs. F. M. Boyd of Johnston, was considered the best, and she was honored by being on the program at the last state convention and gave this:

The Aftermath.
When the sun of peace, with enlivening beams,
Cast aside the clouds of war,
Its welcome light, its pure bright gleams
Threw shadows before it afar.
In the North and West it lit up a scene
Ne'er tread by armies invading.
But cities triumphant—the fields all green
And prosperity never fading.
In the South it lit up a scene so lorn
And rent by the demon of war,
Its cities half empty, its people mourn,
Just a weed grown wilderness you saw.
The blood stained sword—the flashing torch
Had swept our South land o'er.
In the eyes of her people the hot tears scorched,
And a look of despair they wore.
The North had nearly staked her wealth,
The South had staked her all,
'Gainst greater strength and northern stealth,
Our valorous armies small
Hurled themselves with terrific force
And beat out their lives in vain,
Such daring and courage with half the resource
The victory was easy to gain.
Our soldier accepted his cross of defeat,
He'd won the world's admiration,
He turned to his home, Oh, what did he meet?
More than poverty and desolation.
From a cup more bitter he was to drink;
To drain to the dregs its insults,
From the loss of wealth he did not shrink,
But the grand and evil results.
The warm affection the old slave felt
For the family of his old master,
Their refusal to leave will make the heart melt
And the pulse beat a little faster,
The slave broke loose from his moorings—adrift,
Knew not what freedom's meaning,
'Twas the "Carpet Bagger" that caused the rift,
Behind the negro screening.

Oh, South, so eloquent, ardent and brave,
Armed in the cause of right,
The gale that swept thee never gave
Nor caused the darkest night.
The dread aftermath has passed,
Our country so friendly and true,
We look to the future—we blend to last
Our Red and White with the Blue.

No one should attempt to raise hogs unless he is willing to give them good feed, good care and protect them in every way possible from disease. Worms, hog cholera, lice and canker sore mouth kill large numbers of hogs throughout the south, especially little pigs.
To prevent worms, keep the following charcoal mixture before the pigs all the time:
Charcoal, 1 bushel.
Hardwood ashes, 1 bushel.
Salt, 8 pounds.
Air-slacked lime, 8 pounds.
Sulphur, 4 pounds.
Pulverized copperas, 2 pounds.
First mix the lime, salt and sulphur thoroughly, and then mix in the charcoal and ashes. Dissolve the copperas in two quarts of hot water and sprinkle it over the whole mass, mixing thoroughly. Store this in a barrel under shelter, and keep some of it in an open shallow box where the hogs can get it as they wish.—United States Department of Agriculture.
