

MULES AND HORSES

As usual I have started the mule and horse season with an extra good bunch of stock that I will worth the money.

You will receive the same treatment at this stable that you have for the past twenty years.

Auction Sale of Stock at Johnston.

Mr. J. Perry Waddell, of Greenville, held another very successful auction sale of horses and mules here Monday at the stable of Dr. B. F. Jones, a large crowd being present. This was the third sale of the kind that he has held in Edgefield and the people bid eagerly for the stock, which is guaranteed by Mr. Waddell to be as represented. He will hold an auction sale in Johnston Saturday, January 13. Read his half-page advertisement on our 7th page.

Changes in Board.

Mr. A. A. Edmunds has retired as supervisor and Mr. R. N. Broadwater has been duly installed. Mr. Edmunds has given the people four years of faithful service. His administration has been economic and businesslike. The record he has made is an honor to him. We believe that Mr. Broadwater will also make the people a good official and that they will have no cause to regret placing him in this very important position. The new county commissioners will not enter upon their duties yet, as the term of Mr. Broadwater will not expire until February 1st and that of Mr. DeVore March 1st.

Lyon-Clark.

Wednesday afternoon the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Lyon on Jeter street was the scene of a beautiful wedding, when their daughter, Miss Daisy Lyon, became the bride of James O. Clark. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. Pendleton Jones, D. D., pastor of the First Baptist church.

The parlor in which the ceremony was performed was decorated with smilax, mistletoe and holly. Only the members of the immediate families of the bride and bridegroom were present. Mr. and Mrs. Clark left on the afternoon train for Florida to spend their honeymoon. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends at the country home of Mr. Clark who resides several miles east of Johnston. He is a very successful planter and a highly esteemed citizen of that section. While Mrs. Clark's Edgefield friends give her up reluctantly, they are delighted that she will yet reside in the county.

Year of Good Business.

For the past two years, the years immediately following the declaration of war, Edgefield merchants took stock in order to determine the amount of their loss, but this week Edgefield merchants are taking stock in order to ascertain the amount of net profits for the year. This has been a fall of big business for all Edgefield merchants.

Morgan-Holmes.

Tuesday at noon Miss Elizabeth Morgan and Lewis F. Holmes were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Julia Brooks Morgan, the ancestral Brooks home, five miles north of Edgefield. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Henry Bell White, the pastor of the bride. The parlor was decorated for the occasion, smilax, holly, ferns and palms being used. The wedding was a very quiet one, only a few friends and relatives being present. Immediately after the ceremony a salad course was served, followed by a sweet course. Early in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Holmes left for his home in the Philippi section of the county. For a year or two Miss Morgan has been making her home in Edgefield and her friends here regret to give her up.

Two Blue Ribbon Boys.

Of course there are more than two young men in Edgefield, who are faithful to duty, but The Advertiser feels that there are two in the postoffice who deserve special mention at this time. We refer to Mark Miller and Watson Oazts. During the period just preceding Christmas when there was constant demand on their strength, to say nothing of their patience, they measured up to everything that could be expected of them by an exacting public. The outgoing and incoming mails were all heavy but these young gentlemen handled every detail with seeming ease, being courteous and obliging all the while. It is due them that they should be commended for the manner in which they have served the patrons of the office during this period of stress and strain. This does not mean, however, that Mark and "Wat" are not faithful and efficient all the time, for they are. So The Advertiser herewith pins a blue ribbon on the lapel of each of these faithful young men.

Accepts a Better Position.

The friends of Mr. J. D. Smith, who has been one of the superintendents of the Addison Mills, will regret that he has moved to Greer to make his home, having accepted a more lucrative position with the Apalachian Mill than held here. His removal takes one of the most active and most loyal members of the J. O. U. A. M. from our midst. The Advertiser wishes him every possible success in his new field.

A Week in New York.

Mr. James O. Sheppard had the good fortune to spend a solid week in New York with nothing to do but to "see the sights." A week before Christmas he accompanied the children of Mrs. W. W. Sheppard to New York, whither they went to spend the Christmas season with their mother. Our young friend saw the metropolis from the Battery to the Bronx and from the subway to the topmost point on the "overtoweringest" skyscraper.

Meeting in Interest of Temperance.

At the Methodist church on Sunday evening beginning at 7:45, all the churches of the town will unite in a meeting on the subject of temperance. The following is the program.

Devotions,—Rev. A. L. Gunter.
Chorus,—Prohibition Victory.
Processional of the twenty three dry states, demonstrated by as many girls carrying the names of the states.
Song,—“America” by school children.
Five and ten minute talks as follows.
“Progress of Prohibition,”—J. L. Mims.
“The Gallon a Month Law,”—Rev. A. L. Gunter.
“Liquor Circulars in the Mails,”—Dr. E. P. Jones.
Vocal Solo, “Victory,”—Mrs. R. G. Shannonhouse.
The Status of National Prohibition,—Hon. B. E. Nicholson.
The Attitude of the Press,—Rev. R. G. Shannonhouse.
Quartette, “Triumph Song,”—Miss Miriam Norris, Mrs. E. J. Norris, Mr. E. J. Norris and Rev. A. L. Gunter.

Installing Water System.

During the past six months the owners of the Addison Mills, which corporation commands about fifty millions of dollars, have been making extensive improvements on their property. Practically every building of the entire property has been overhauled, repaired and repainted. The latest improvement is the installation of a modern water system for the entire mill village. This will not only add to the comfort of the operatives but will greatly improve sanitary conditions. The owners of the property, as well as the men actively in charge, are very progressive and they have other improvements in contemplation. The cotton and oil mill properties here have fallen into good hands, which means much to the town and vicinity.

Cartledge-Byrd.

Married at the Baptist parsonage on Wednesday, Dec. 27th 1916, Mr. Josie Z. Cartledge and Miss Ida Lou Byrd. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Byrd of the Berea section, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cartledge also of Berea, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. P. Jones.

The marriage was witnessed by Mr. J. R. Cartledge and Mrs. S. W. Nicholson, brother and sister of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Byrd, Mr. Ossie and Haliway Byrd, brothers and sisters of the bride, Mr. A. R. Broadwater, Miss Pauline Byrd, a cousin of the bride, Miss Pessie and Mr. James Cothran, Miss Ethel and Tommie Griffiths, and a host of other friends and relatives.

The bride and groom boarded the next train for a bridal tour amid showers of rice, and on their return will make their home in the Berea section.

Their many friends wish for them a long, happy and prosperous journey through life.

Successful Sale Monday

I take this method of thanking the people in and around Edgefield for their liberal patronage Monday. I will return to Edgefield with another load of mules and horses the first Monday in February at Jones' Stable.
