

Autos to be Registered by the First of July.

In accordance with the act approved February 20, 1917, creating a State highway department, every owner of a motor vehicle and every dealer in motor vehicles is required to register with the state highway engineer on or before the 1st of July, 1917. The law requires that each owner of a motor vehicle and each dealer in motor vehicles shall make application to the state highway engineer for registration and license. The State highway engineer will furnish application blanks on request.

The law further provides that on and after the first of July any person who drives a motor vehicle on, or along or across any public road or street or highway in the State of South Carolina, not duly licensed and registered, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $25.00 or imprisonment for not more than 15 days for each and every offense.

The state highway engineer is anxious to register these motor vehicles as fast as possible, and to cause as little inconvenience to the public as is possible; however, there are about 30,000 cars in this state to be registered, and to register this number of cars will take at least two months of time. As there are now only about two and one-half months between now and the 1st of July, and as no one will be allowed to drive a motor vehicle on the public highways after the 1st of July unless duly licensed and registered, the state highway engineer desires to urge every owner of a motor vehicle and every dealer in motor vehicles to make application for registration at once in order that his office may be able to complete the registration of motor vehicles by the first of July.

The registration fees of motor vehicles will be 12 1/2 per cent per horse power, based on A. I. A. M. rating. The registration fees for dealers in motor vehicles will be $15.00 for each make of motor vehicle sold. It will not cost any more to register a car now than it will to register the same car the latter part of June. Every owner of a motor vehicle is urgently requested to write to the state highway engineer at once requesting application blanks.

The registration and license fees paid to the state highway engineer are in lieu of all other state, municipal and county licenses for the entire year of 1917.

J. Roy Pennell,
State highway engineer.

Do Not Trespass on Railroad Property.

Washington, D. C., April 16.—“Trespassing on railway property, at all times a perilous practice, involves an even greater hazard for the trespasser now that it has become necessary to place armed guards at strategic points to prevent possible interference with the country's transportation facilities through the depredations of enemy agents,” said Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern Railway System and chairman of the American Railway Association's Special Committee on National Defense, calling attention to the importance of all loyal citizens' keeping off railway premises unless they have business thereon.

“In addition to the ever-present danger of being killed by a train”, Mr. Harrison continued, “the man who now trespasses on railway property subjects himself to the peril of being shot, should he fail to heed the challenge of the military guard. Charged with the duty of protecting railway structures whose destruction would interfere seriously with transportation, the guards cannot afford to take any chances. Unfortunate occurrences can be avoided if citizens who have no business on railway property will keep off. It is especially important that pedestrians who have been accustomed to walking tracks, rather than the public highways, should understand the added danger and recognize that they can perform a patriotic service by avoiding it.”

How Senator Tillman Regained Health.

In the April issue of “Physical Culture” magazine, Senator Benjamin R. Tillman tells an interesting story of his fight for life and health. Today he is regarded as the health mentor of the U. S. Senate.

Senator Tillman was stricken with paralysis in February 1910 as he was walking up the Capitol steps. He was sent to a sanitarium where no medicine was given; the treatment being hot and cold water baths, hot water to drink, and a systematic course of diet.

After staying in the sanitarium a short time and making a thorough study of his own body, Senator Tillman began to practice the simple course of living advocated by the sanitarium.

The four chief things which helped him to regain life and health are:

Hot water drink; a simple diet; deep breathing; and careful and regular practice of physical culture exercises.

He drinks three quarts of hot water regularly every day, and sometimes five or six. He drinks his water before and after meals and the first thing in the morning. He affirms that drinking immediately after meals does good and not harm.

His diet consists chiefly of vegetables; onions, spinach and Irish potatoes being his favorites. Fruit and milk are also important items, and cheese and eggs take the place of meat.

His deep-breathing exercises are performed systematically and often.

In taking exercise, he uses dumbbells and an iron bed. He describes these in detail in “Physical Culture” magazine. In addition to these exercises, he makes it a rule to walk several miles each day.

Senator Tillman points out that these methods can accomplish the seemingly impossible for anyone with a run-down body, and heartily recommends it to all people leading an inactive physical life—especially other Senators and public men.—Greenwood Index.

INVESTMENT OF SIX DOLLARS BROUGHT GREENVILLE MAN GREAT RETURNS.

“The only medicine that ever helped my husband is Tanlac, and when he began taking it he had been in bad health for about twenty-five years and had been doctoring himself all the time,” said Mrs. M. S. Scott of 204 Church St., Sampson, Greenville, in a statement she gave March 22nd. “My husband suffered from kidney, liver and stomach trouble, and he had spells of stomach trouble so painful that he would almost go wild, and he had headaches so bad he could hardly stand them. His kidney trouble was very bad and his whole system was out of order and weakened.”

“These spells of stomach trouble started like an attack of colic and the pain spread over his back and hips. He had spells of kidney colic, too, the doctors told him.”

“Mr. Scott took six bottles of Tanlac, taking the last about eight months ago. He doesn't have those spells now, and he has had only one since he started taking Tanlac

Meetings in the Baptist Church.

A series of meetings began in the Baptist church Sunday morning, Dr. Jones preaching the sermon. A large congregation was in attendance and the beautiful day made the advent of this day very propitious. Dr. Jones made a powerful plea for repentance and consecrated activity on the part of all the Christians of Edgefield.

He gave a very cordial invitation to Christians of all denominations to attend, and all singers in town of every church to come and assist the singer, E. L. Mr. Fairchild, in making the music as effective as possible. A large number of persons remained after the service and expressed their intention of helping with the music.

At the close of the meeting, seven came forward and asked for church membership, two, Elizabeth and Effie Allen Lot having previously taken this step at prayer-meeting Wednesday night. They were as follows: Misses Elizabeth Rives, Mary DeLoach, Isabelle Byrd, Lillie Holston, Gertrude Thurmond, Julia Strom and Lanham Dorn.

Rev. D. P. Montgomery and his singer arrived Monday evening to assist with the meeting and the singing.

An old lady who had been introduced to a doctor who was also a professor in a university felt somewhat puzzled as to how she would address the great man. “Shall I call you ‘Doctor’ or ‘professor?’” she asked. “Oh! just as you wish,” was the reply; “as a matter of fact, some people call me an old idiot.” “Indeed,” she said sweetly, “but then they are people that know you.”—Tit-Bits.

New Farming Paper, Is Distributed Free

The new publication launched in Atlanta to serve as the official organ and expounder of the Jobson System of Agriculture is probably one of the most interesting four page sheets ever published in connection with the important subject of farming. Besides being full of valuable suggestions and common sense discussions the paper has considerable that is more than ordinarily amusing.

The number just off the press contains articles on The Torrens System, the “Ten Commandments of Agriculture,” Rules for Rotation, Jobson's Big Idea and many other interesting and instructive articles. Among the poems are: “Out in the Fields With God,” “The Path the Calf Made,” and Kiser's celebrated “Man Behind the Plow.” It also gives a great many valuable household hints, anecdotes for poison and “First Aid to the Injured.”

Copies of Common Sense Farming are being distributed free to all who call in person or apply
