

More Two-horse Power Brains.

One of the most gratifying sights we see in traveling over the South is the steadily increasing number of farmers who are using two-horse plows, harrows and cultivators instead of the old one-horse implements that have done so much to keep the South poor.

In the more backward portions of the world there are yet poverty-stricken farmers or peasants who have no horses and work only with their own muscles. Of course, they are miserable paupers hardly able to keep soul and body together. The farmer who gets to the next stage and adds the muscles of an ox to his own does much better. Then the farmer who has advanced one stage further and uses horse a does better still. He is the man who by earnest effort can "sorter get along" and earn a decent, passable living in a civilized land.

But the real profit in farming comes when the man has added the muscle not merely of one-horse but two, three or four horses. As we have so often said, the great reason why the Southern farmer is poorer than the Western farmer is, that the Southerner runs his brain with one-horse power while the Westerner runs his with two, three or four-horse power. It is worth while to repeat again Dr. Seaman A. Knapp's famous remark:

"Where the South Carolina farmer uses one mule and one man to plow, accomplishing less than an acre per day from three to four inches deep, the Iowa farmer uses at least three horses, and plows four acres per day six to eight inches deep."

So sometimes we have heard of men saying, "The Progressive Farmer is opposed to the one-horse farmer." If we were inclined to be harsh, we should say that such a man is either a rascal or a fool. The Progressive Farmer is more anxious to help the one-horse farmer than anybody else, but the best way to help him is to fire him with a determination to make a two-horse farmer of himself.—Progressive Farmer.

Dangers of Extravagance.

The campaign for greater economy and for wise conservation which has been propagated by the various branches of our national government cannot fail to be of benefit to the people of this country. Times have been very prosperous for several years. Many have allowed their wants to increase until they are using more of the nation's resources than is wise or judicious for thrifty, frugal people.

But there is another and perhaps a greater danger that has not impressed many. That is in public waste. Just as individuals have increased their standards of living and been willing to take hazardous risk in investments and consume more than health and frugal, industrious living would require, so have government officials increased their demands till enormous appropriations are made. Will not the war show the people of this country the dangers of extravagance and the necessity for simple, frugal living? If so, the war will benefit this country notwithstanding its enormous cost.

The people are the court of last resort. They, and they alone, must demand economy in every department of government if their nation is to lead the world in good government.

War has a demoralizing effect upon governments and peoples who authorize governments. Let us be wise, cautious and honest with ourselves and not waste our substance in riotous living nor wreckless government expenditures.—Farm and Ranch.

Editor Hawville Clarion.—Look here, Pastor Harps, it strikes me that you are taking a mean advantage of my son."

Rev. Mr. Harps—"How so?" Editor.—"Well of course my son is in love with your daughter and she doesn't seem to like it very well. And he is learning the printing business under me. But in spite of this, I hardly think you were warranted in preaching from the text you chose yesterday: "My daughter is grievously tormented with a devil."—Judge.

Through Use of Acid Iron Mineral Daughter Was Restored To Health Says Rev. C. B. Newton.

The following tribute to a medicine from Reverend O. B. Newton, Pastor M. E. Church, speaks volumes for the medicinal value of natural iron as it is not concentrated, tested, and bottled by the Ferrodine Chemical Corp. under the name of Acid Iron Mineral. He said:

"My little girl suffered from gastritis, acute Bright's disease, and developed symptoms of pellagra. For several months she was an invalid and reduced almost to a skeleton. No one who saw her thought she could possibly live. The best medical skill available was applied but with no results. She only grew worse until physicians told us not to be surprised at her death at any time. Our attention was first called to a kidney and bladder pill and we gave her part of one fifty-cent bottle, after which we gave her Acid Iron Mineral regularly. She is now well and has all her faculties well developed again and you would not guess she had ever had a sick day in her life by her appearance. We have recommended A-I-M to several friends and do most heartily recommend it to anyone suffering from any trouble which it claims to relieve." Respectfully, (signed) B. B. Newton, Pastor, M. E. Church, South Chatham, Va.

Unlike many prepared remedies containing iron, Acid Iron Mineral does not act as a laxative, but the necessity of keeping the liver and bowels working normally being so apparent, the Ferrodine Chemical Corp. puts up an A-I-M Liver Pill in 25c. boxes which are recommended as part of the treatment when using Acid Iron Mineral. These little pills are the best we recommend and are very inexpensive.

NOTE:—Acid Iron Mineral is just a highly concentrated form of natural medicinal iron, non-alcoholic and very economical. Whole families should take it. It never injures the teeth, goes from two to six times as far and is many times more powerful and efficient than other inferior preparations. A half teaspoonful in a tumbler of water after meals makes a delightful, invigorating and most unusual tonic, stomach, kidney, and bladder regulator. Cleansing the blood, enriching and purifying it, watch how quickly the appetite increases and the user gains weight. Most druggists sell Acid Iron Mineral in both a large and small size bottle. Looking Forward.

Fortunate indeed is the farmer who turns his face forward and looks into the future. He is the man who will be ready to make use of new and better opportunities; he is the man who will be prepared when short crops and poor markets bring discouragement to his neighbors.

This is the time for men to look forward and not backward. This is the day of progress. Those who wait for next year's opportunities will not be ready to make use of them. Today is the time to prepare for tomorrow's opportunities.

Young men who begin farming will find it expedient to look into the future. Enough can be determined as to the future to enable young men to prepare for such advantages as always come to those who anticipate them.

The time for progressive farming is here. Conditions have changed so rapidly recently that one must look ahead to be a successful farmer. That many are doing this explains why so many are more prosperous than in years past.

We plow, sow and cultivate, expecting the harvest in due season; we should do these things with definite aim and well-planned system, knowing that "we shall reap in due season if we faint not." We will not fail because we have not failed to look forward and meet conditions which we know must be met.—Farm and Ranch.

They were enjoying a motor ride and had just entered a country road. "May I kiss your hand?" he asked, a little confusedly. She removed her veil. "No," she replied; "I have my gloves on."—Life.

Southern Railway System

An Ambition and a Record

THE needs of the South are identical with the needs of the Southern Railway; the growth and success of one means the upbuilding of the other.

The Southern Railway asks no favors—no special privilege not accorded to others.

The ambition of the Southern Railway Company is to see that unity of interest that is born of co-operation between the public and the railroads; to see perfected that fair and frank policy in the management of railroads which invites the confidence of governmental agencies; to realize that liberality of treatment which will enable it to obtain the additional capital needed for the acquisition of better and enlarged facilities incident to the demand for increased and better service; and, finally—

To take its niche in the body politic of the South alongside of other great industries, with no more, but with equal liberties, equal rights and equal opportunities.

"The Southern Serves the South."

It should be handsome, durable, fire-resisting and economical. If you will write us we will convince you that all these qualities are combined in the famous—
