Finally nicotine will go the way of alcohol.

High heels are a strong ally of the hospitals.

Without big dinners big meetin' wouldn't be so big.

Oh, for a brief stay in Greenland's icy mountains!

A nickle is an obsolete coin in the watermelon market.

Words easy to write but hard to comply with are "I promise to pay."

The decanter will soon become as great curiosity as the old spinning-wheel.

The trouble with most minute men is their minutes have more than sixty seconds.

A man may have his temper well under control and yet get hot in the collar these days.

The Charleston-American is a political organ of the pipe organ class, its strains being loud and long.

The man who hoards money is about as worthless to a community as is the improvident spend-thrift.

It is not longer considered a misfortune to have just one foot to buy shoes for. A pair will soon cost $20.

A man may be in fairly good circumstances but if he has many daughter to buy shoes for he will not stay "weel heeled" long.

The motto of some Edgefield people seems to be: "Make all you can and keep all you make." A greater mistake was never made.

We wouldn't mind so much going to jail if we were preceded by a brass band like that Memphis editor who is serving a ten days' sentence for contempt.

With raw cotton dropping two cents and raw corn slumping thirty cents a bushel in a day, there should be a lowering of the cost of living somewhere.

Would that the cost of living would drop two hundred points in a day like cotton! Then we might occasionally catch things down and "stock up" on some of the pantry staples.

Let's hope the old adage, "a good beginning makes a bad ending," will not apply to the cotton market, as the first new bale sold in Savannah for forty cents.

Some people seem to be up in the air because Edgefield real estate is soaring, forgetting that, in the main, Edgefield prices are just now getting on the level of other towns.

We read in the papers that many big distilleries are being found around Asheville. Wonder if that accounts for so many persons seeking the mountain ozone at this season?

Do you suppose Edward Albert Christiana George Andrew Patrick David Prince of Wales who is enroute to America could tell his name right off the bat, without a moment's reflection? We doubt it.

Don't bank too heavily on this government agitation to lower the cost of living. It can't be done, except in a very limited way, by legislation. Let every man produce as much as possible and economize as much as possible in his own household. That is the only remedy that can be effectively applied.

Two more weeks of political warfare, gorilla warfare that, in Charleston. It's a pity, great pity, that thousands of good people in Charleston are subjected to such humiliating experiences.

The statement that China is about four hundred years behind times is all a mistake. The papers say that a strike is now on among the Chinese railway employees, showing that they are right up to date.

The greatest profiteer of which we know anything about is the ordinary, every-day, ignorant, unskilled, cornfield hand who asks three dollars a day for his labor. This is a two-hundred-per-cent price for fifty per-cent service.

A vast majority of the business interests and the people generally are demanding a return of the railroads to their original owners and the organized railway employees are demanding government ownership. It will be interesting to watch the outcome. We predict the return of the roads to their rightful owners.

Richland Sets Good Example.

Richland county, in which is located the capital city and the seat of government, has made a tremendous forward stride in providing for modern public highways. By a vote of two to one a $2,000,000 bond issue was carried in an election in Richland county Tuesday. Thus Richland and Columbia have set other portions of South Carolina a good example, one worthy of emulation. The people of Richland need and want good roads, and the result of yesterday's election shows unmistakably that they are willing to pay for them.

Badly Out of Adjustment.

A year ago the war held first place as a favorite topic among speakers, writers and conversationalists, but now the high cost of living is accorded first place. Economic conditions that make the cost of living so high should receive due consideration to the end that a normal status be restored, but that is not the only feature of the war's aftermath that must be readjusted. One does not have to go to large cities to find that there is another adjustment of conditions that is needed. It appears now that a premium has been placed on brawn and brains placed at a discount. In not a few instances one finds unlettered laborers receiving more for their work than does the man who has spent years of toil, as well as a considerable sum of money, in equipping himself for some particular field of endeavor. The following taken from a dispatch sent out from New York illustrates effectively what we have in mind:

"A large contracting firm telephoned to Major Warren Bigelow, director of the bureau, for a gang of laborers to be paid $37.20 a week each. A minute later the president of a college telephoned for a professor of mathematics at a salary of $1,000 a year, which is $19.23 a week.

"Poor downtrodden laborer, getting $17.97 a week more than the man who devoted the best years of his life to study and who probably formulated the philosophy by which the 'man who toils' considers himself the 'salt of the earth.'"

Why should men who handle a trowel on a rough brick wall, not doing finished work, mark you, or men who shovel coal into a locomotive, receive much larger compensation than teachers, school superintendents and even some bank officials? Yet one does not have to go far to find such conditions existing. The war has jostled things badly out of adjustment which in time must be readjusted.

A Great Remedy.

The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who had no acquaintance with them and should read the following by F. H. Dear, a hotel man at Dupuyer, Mont. "Four years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy with such wonderful results that I have since recommended it to my friends."

A FAMILY MEDICINE

In Her Mother's Home, Says This Georgia Lady, Regarding Black-Draught. Relief From Head-ache, Malaria, Chills, Etc.

Ringgold, Ga.—Mrs. Chas Gaston, of this place, writes: "I am a user of Theford's Black-Draught; in fact, it was one of our family medicines. Also in my mother's home, when I was a child. When any of us children complained of headache, usually caused by constipation, she gave us a dose of Black-Draught, which would rectify the trouble. Often in the Spring, we would have malaria and chills, or troubles of this kind, we would take Black-Draught pretty regular until the liver acted well, and we would soon be up and around again. We would not be without it, for it certainly has saved us lots of doctor bills. Just a dose of Black-Draught when not so well saves a lot of days in bed."

Theford's Black-Draught has been in use for many years in the treatment of stomach, liver and bowel troubles, and the popularity which it now enjoys is proof of its merit. If your liver is not doing its duty, you will suffer from such disagreeable symptoms as headache, biliousness, constipation, indigestion, etc., and unless something is done, serious trouble may result. Theford's Black-Draught has been found a valuable remedy for these troubles. It is purely vegetable, and acts in a prompt and natural way, regulating the liver to its proper functions and cleansing the bowels of impurities. Try it. Insist on Theford's the original and genuine. 27
