

Edgefield Advertiser
Established 1835.

J. L. MIMS, Editor.

Published every Wednesday in The Advertiser Building at $2.00 per year in advance.

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice at Edgefield, S. C.

No communications will be published unless accompanied by the writer's name.

Cards of Thanks, Obituaries, Resolutions and Political Notices published at advertising rates.

Wednesday, October 8.

The topmost topic in a few short weeks will be the "flu."

This is extremely favorable weather for the fellow who must hold on to his straw hat a little longer.

With both sides unyielding, it is a sort of "flint and steel" strike throughout the North.

If additional houses are not built in Edgefield, tents will have to be provided by the end of the year

With men's shoes selling for $16.50 per pair in a near-by city, what would a man do if he were a quadruped?—Go bare-foot.

Everybody wants to see the new hotel going up. Unless something is done soon, people may have to walk the streets some nights.

While the whole thing was disgraceful, yet one can hardly help wishing that the eggs which were thrown at Senator Reed were stale.

Atlanta has won fame from a new angle by having a street car conductor "knock down"—steal, to use common language—one thousand dollars in three months.

Wonder if those green-eyed, envious Republicans are now satisfied, the list of gifts to President and Mrs. Wilson having been made public?

With summer "lingering in the lap" of autumn, there will be no interim between the ice and coal bills. Generally we get a rest between the two seasons.

With blank news paper selling for $140 per ton now, as compared with $50 per ton before the war, gives the reader some idea of what publishers are up against.

Rape, murder, lynchings, strikes and forms of lawlessness too various and varied to chronicle are abroad in the land. What will the end of it all be?

If he can make good, Commissioner of Agriculture Algood, of Alabama, who has fixed the price of cotton at 40 cents and the price of seed at $100 per ton, is rightly named.

Unscathed by the World War, it seems that riotous Americans will consume themselves. Individuals, classes and political parties are grappling violently at each others throats.

One reason people are not building more houses in Edgefield is because of the shortage of carpenters. It requires about three weeks now to get some one to build a chicken even.

Georgia has added another indelible scar to its escutcheon. Sometimes we almost wish the Savannah were broader. But seriously we do not. There are yet many good people in Georgia.

Thirty thousand divorces were granted in Berlin within the past six months. Can it be that many German men showed themselves to be such brutes the women refused to live with them?

This is the kind of "strike" newspaper workers are engaged in: "Strike—for your altars and your fires! Strike—for the green graves of your sires! God, and your native land!"

The black brute who shot dead two officers of the law while in the performance of their duty in Greenville should be given a seat in the electric chair in the shortest possible time. Society and the State gain when such a depraved life becomes extinct.

World Sustains Heavy Loss.

Countless sacrifices have been made by individuals and people of the earth during the past five years, but none have had as far-reaching consequence as the sacrifice which Ignace Jan Paderewski, the world-renowned pianist has made. People who are capable of judging, have pronounced him to be the most gifted living performer upon the piano, the queen of instruments, and yet he has given up his art for his country. Poland has gained by having the pianist become the Premier, but the world has lost heavily. It requires more than one generation to produce a Paderewski, and it seems a pity beyond expression that he should be called upon to make the sacrifice.

Paderewski was the man of the hour. Towering above his fellows, he seemed divinely raised up to save Poland for itself and for the world. No one else could have done it and Paderewski says that he is happy in the sacrifice for his country.

Although it has now been two years since Paderewski gave up the piano, let us hope that after he shall have established an orderly government in Poland he will be seized with not only an impelling desire but an irresistible sense of duty that he resume his place in the forefront of the musicians of the world. Then Poland will have profited and the world will not have lost altogether.

Great Day for Baptist Church.

Although the week appointed for closing the 75-Million Campaign was fixed for November 30 to December 8, Dr. R. G. Lee announced about three weeks ago that he would ask the members of his church to raise their apportionment the first Sunday in October. Having completed the campaign for his church early, he would then be free to assist other churches in the association in raising their apportionment.

In season and out of season (if there could be a time out of season for such work) for the past several weeks, Dr. Lee has planned and labored to the end that everything be in readiness for the climax on the first Sunday. At the morning hour he made an earnest and effective presentation of the great enterprise, greatest the Baptists of the South have ever undertaken, and then gave the people an opportunity to state voluntarily their willingness of presenting at their weekly five year apportionment of the church. Dr. Lee's address to the church members was a masterpiece of eloquence. He appealed to all of the absent members during the afternoon in order to record their contributions, announcing that at the night session the aggregate amount of subscriptions would be announced. Promptly at the appointed hour for the night service the house was well filled with persons eager to hear the result of subscriptions of the day. Before the announcement was made by Dr. Lee, no one else being in possession of the information, many persons could read Victory in his beaming countenance. The figures that carried joy to every heart were $51,656, which was about 30 per cent. more than the church's quota of $40,000, others are yet to subscribe. Dr. Lee announced that he would not preach a sermon and after singing several songs of praise he stood on the lawn in front of the church and shook the hand of every person present. Dr. Lee has been heartily congratulated upon the success of his efforts.

Memorial Services.

By request of State Memorial Commission services will be held in all of the counties of this State on Sunday, October 19, 1919.

The meeting for Edgefield county will be held at Edgefield, S. C., on that day at 4 o'clock p. m., and all of the pastors and churches throughout the county are specially entreated and urged to co-operate with me in complying with this request of the State Memorial Commission; and in honor and appreciation of the service rendered by our men and women in the World War, let's make this meeting the success which it justly merits.

All Soldiers and Sailors are hereby requested to be present and dressed in full uniform. EVERYBODY will please come to this service.

J. H. CANTELOU,
County Chairman.

All parties wishing to contribute to the State Memorial Fund for Edgefield county will please forward or hand check to J. H. Cantelou, County Chairman.

We sell county and State hunters' licenses. Drop in and get one while you are in Edgefield.

STEWART & KERNAGHAN.

Pleasant Lane News.

Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Mason and children of Callison spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. N. F. Manly.

Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Parkman visited relatives in Columbia during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. McKie Bailey are rejoicing over the birth of a daughter, who will be called Carrie Rachael.

Master J. P. Timmerman celebrated his second birthday last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Wilson Pardue has returned from a visit to relatives in Columbia.

Mrs. Carrie Bailey has returned to her home near Callison from an extended visit with relatives here.

Misses Ruth and Grace Herin are visiting relatives near Johnston.

The Private Soldier.

The private soldier represents the noblest type of patriotism. He enters the service with no higher aspiration than loyal service to home and country; he freely casts his life in the scales of hardships and danger with unflinching courage. Staring fate in the face, he prepares to stand or fall for his honest convictions. No alluring promotion prompted or tempted him to deed of valor. It was patriotism and pride that stimulated and encouraged him. Half starved, half clothed, barefooted, with nothing but a full cartridge box, a trusted rifle, a brave heart and a steady nerve fully describes the Confederate soldier in the "sixties."

We see the private soldier at his home in Sparta, bidding farewell to mother and friends, on the Acropolis and at Athens, his armor glittering in the sun-light of a Greek day. It is at Thermopylae that we see the Persian and Greek die like men. One rejoicing at a victory, the other sighing over defeat, both heroes. In Gaul with Caesar in the forum of Rome, he proclaims a truth for which he will die. No doubt when under peculiar circumstances officers and men stood motionless in the face of the enemy, unable for the instant to comprehend the situation, and some humble private at the critical moment seized the colors and rushed to the front shouting, "follow the flag." The act proved an inspiration and a resolute charge swept the field, changing the tide of the battle.

The private was indirectly the instrument through which armies moved, battles planned and victories won. He entered the service with the hope of participating in the glory of a campaign, the shield and the sword of his

The never-to-be-forgotten yell of our troops as they charged the panic-stricken enemy on the countless fields still echoes in our ears. Its inspiring music that rose above the battle storm of First Manassas resounded down the bloody four years of the struggle, to the fields of Appomattox, where shrill notes were heard as the last charge was made. No tongue can ever describe the electrifying and heart-stirring impulse it aroused. Memory withdraws the veil that shrouds the past and reveals a picture replete with glory and with woe.

The Confederate soldier was unique, both in war and in peace. "Our heroes" were without number or State distinction. They measured up to the highest standard of chivalry. No matter from what section or under what circumstances they were placed, the honor of their country was fully sustained and the glory and courage of that immortal host will live and brighten with the coming ages.

To be continued.

J. RUSSELL WRIGHT.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. From a small beginning to its sale and use has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone is enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

Notice of Final Discharge.

To All Whom These Presents May Concern:

Whereas, Mrs. L. J. Crim has made application unto this Court for Final Discharge as Administrator in re the Estate of W. H. Crim, deceased, on this the 6th day of October, 1919.

These Are Therefore to cite any and all kindred, creditors, or parties interested, to show cause before me at my office at Edgefield Court House, South Carolina, on the 10th day of November, 1919, at 9 o'clock a. m., why said order of Discharge should not be granted.

W. T. KINNAIRD,
J. P. C., E. C., S. C.

October 6th, 1919.

Here a sale that prudent women will not want to miss. A most remarkable offering of New

Wirthmor Silk Blouses

—If you know what good Georgette and Crepe de chine Blouses are selling for today in the stores generally, you'll recognize at once what really remarkable values are these new Wirthmors.

—They embody every characteristic that you would expect to find in a worthy Blouse: the fabrics are of splendid quality; the Styles are new, distinctive and appealing; the workmanship is of a high order, and they are cut so as to insure true fitting.

—In this offering, we feel that we can most forcefully and impressively emphasize the genuine and undoubted superiority of our Blouse values over what is ordinarily obtainable.

—We enjoy the most intimate and friendly relations with America's largest and one of the most highly respected Blouse makers, and this coupled with a unique and economy effecting co-operative plan accounts in a large measure for this Blouse pre-eminence.

—Though every one of these new Blouses is entirely true to its name WORTH MORE, and would readily sell for a higher price, they will be sold at just $5 00.

Quantity is limited and no more of the same styles will be obtainable

The Corner Store

Constipation.

The beginning of almost every serious disorder is constipation. If you want to enjoy good health, keep your bowels regular. This is best accomplished by proper diet and exercise, but sometimes a medicine is needed and when that is the case you will find Chamberlain's Tablets are excellent. They are mild and gentle in their action, easy and pleasant to take. Give them a trial. They only cost a quarter.

For Immediate Acceptance

We are offering a new 15x6 South Bend Lathe for $400.00 f. o. b. Columbia. Present price on this lathe is $438.00 f. o. b. factory, South Bend, Ind. So we can save you some $40.00 to $50.00. Can inspect same at our store.

Columbia Supply Company

823 West Gervais St., Columbia, S. C.

An Invitation to Ladies

We invite the ladies to visit our store and see our new arrivals in our ready-to-wear department. We have made large purchases in tailored suits for ladies, Cloaks and Sweaters. All of the popular colors in the latest weaves.

Every department of our store is full to the brim with stylish new fall goods. Come in to see us before making your fall purchases.

Our Shoe Department is Especially Strong

having bought a big stock from the leading manufacturers in the country. We bought our shoes early and can make you a close price.

IT WILL BE A PLEASURE TO SERVE YOU

Daitech Brothers