We have done a fairly good business this spring, according to the present conditions, but we haven't sold as much as we expected. Our stock is still large. We have a well selected stock. People are buying very light on account of the scarcity of money. Goods are down almost at the old-time prices, but at the same time not as low as people are expecting them to go. Now for the benefit of our customers, and that we may raise some money, we are going to make a special offering of our entire stock for the next 10 days. This will give every one a chance to supply their needs with very little money.
