LOCAL AND PERSONAL

Capt. and Mrs. N. G. Evans spent Friday in Columbia.

Dr. Luther Byrd of Augusta was among the visitors in Edgefield Saturday.

Miss Mary Nicholson came from Lander College to spend last weekend at home.

Miss Ruth Tompkins entertained for a theatre party of friends at the Partridge Inn recently.

Misses Anna Mae and Hammie Scurry spent last week-end in Augusta with their sister, Mrs. Roy Smith.

Mr. L. R. Jones of Columbia came over and spent Sunday in Edgefield with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Jones.

Mr. J. Trapp Bryan of Thomson, Ga., and Mr. Brooks Bryan of Saluda were among the visitors in Edgefield Monday.

The Corner Store calls the attention of the ladies to many seasonable and needed articles. Read Mr. Turner's advertisement.

Mrs. P. M. Feltham will leave this morning for Greenville to spend a fortnight with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bates.

The friends of Mr. William Bouknight are delighted that according to the latest report from the hospital in Augusta he is doing nicely.

Mrs. Polly Mallard of Charlotte is the guest of Miss Ruth Tompkins. They are spending today in Greenwood visiting Mrs. Lalla Graydon.

The 19-cent sale of the Quarles & Timmerman Variety Store has been a great success. A great number of people are seizing the bargains offered.

Mr. Israel Mukashy announces new spring arrivals this week and invites the ladies to see the pretty spring goods that are now being displayed at his store.

The services in the Methodist church next Sunday night will be conducted by the members of the recently organized Epworth League. The public is cordially invited.

The petit jury will be drawn next Monday for the March term of court which will convene on the first Monday, with Judge Ernest Moore of Lancaster as presiding judge.

The Youngblood Roofing and Mantel Company announces this week that they can fill orders promptly and at reasonable prices for roofing of all kinds, mantels, doors, sashes, etc.

Now is the time to have that car of yours overhauled before spring. You will never get parts and repairs cheaper than you can today.

Miss Janie Fraser returned to Columbia Sunday after spending several days here with her sister, Mrs. I. W. Hume. Miss Fraser was accompanied to Columbia by her mother, Mrs. Maria Fraser.

At a meeting of the board of county commissioners Monday Mr. L. T. May was elected clerk of the board. Mr. May will make a very capable clerk. There were about 10 applicants for the place.

The Girls' Basket Ball team played a game against the teachers of the school on Friday afternoon. The teachers proved to be the strongest opponents of the season and won by the close score of 14 to 15.

Mr. James T. Mims, Jr., has come from far-away South Bend, Texas, to see the home folk, and has been very cordially greeted. He is spending this week with his sister, Miss Katherine Mims, in Darlington.

Wednesday morning Mrs. R. T. Hill entertained very beautifully in honor of Miss Annie Roddey Miller, who since she came to Edgefield to be the guest of Mrs. A. R. Nicholson has been the recipient of many delightful social attentions.

Wallace, The Magician, will give an entertainment in the school auditorium on Friday afternoon, March 3rd. This entertainment will be given for the benefit of the school and everybody is invited to come. Admission will be 25 and 35 cents. A first class entertainment is promised.

A score of wagons and nearly a dozen trucks are engaged in hauling sand to improve the Dixie Highway in the town of Edgefield. When the work is completed it will be one of the best thoroughfares in this section.

Play strong on facts. If what a man's selling won't stand facts, he'd better sell something else. Let's have more facts: Every Ford car is a logical sale. Every sale means a satisfied customer.

Sunday Service at Methodist Church.

Rev. G. W. M. Taylor, the pastor, will preach at the Edgefield Methodist church Sunday morning and at Trenton at night. The morning service begins at 11:30 o'clock and the evening service at eight o'clock.

Methodist Entertainment at Trenton.

Friday evening, March 3, the ladies of the Trenton Methodist church will give a musical composed of local talent. As Trenton has as good local talent, both vocal and instrumental, as can be found in the state, the program will be high class and exceedingly interesting to all who attend. The admission price will be very small. Only 10 cents for children from 6 to 16 and 20 cents for persons over 16 years of age. Bear in mind the date, Friday evening, March 3, and encourage these ladies in their good work by giving them your patronage.

A New Game.

The Augusta Chronicle announces today a most interesting and amusing game. The object of this game is to see who can secure the largest and nearest correct list of words beginning with the letter "P," covering names of visible objects contained in a picture, copy of which will be found elsewhere in this issue of our publication.

This class of game has proven to be a very interesting pastime and many valuable prizes have been won by persons throughout the country. There is no reason at all why some of these prizes can not be won by our own readers and it would be well to get started on your list of words tonight and you will find this puzzle game will be the means of supplying you with pleasurable moments.

Two Interesting Old Papers.

Several days ago Mr. Abner Broadwater showed The Advertiser's representative two very interesting old papers, which reflected financial conditions immediately after the Civil War. One was a receipt to Mr. Broadwater's grandmother, Mrs. Guy Broadwater, for one year's subscription to The Edgefield Advertiser in March, 1866. What do you suppose the subscription price was at that time? Twenty dollars per annum, which is just ten times what the present subscription price of The Advertiser is at this time, although we are in the wake of the World War.

The other interesting paper was a duplicate of Mr. Broadwater's father's tax return just as he was leaving home to enter the Confederate army. His horse, which is described as being eight years old and 16 hands high, was valued at $2,000.

It is to our interest to look after your interest, Ford owners, then why not come to see us? A satisfied customer is our greatest asset.

Entertained in Honor of Miss Miller.

Mrs. Hugh Mitchell and Miss Marjorie Tompkins were hostess on Thursday afternoon at a card party of six tables in honor of Miss Annie Roddey Miller, guest of Mrs. A. R. Nicholson, and Mrs. T. L. Nicholson, Mrs. Preston Wright and Mrs. Stephen Darlington.

This was a most congenial and lovely occasion and the lovely tables and receptacles were filled with spring flowers redolent with fragrance. The score cards were decorated with red hearts, symbolic of the Valentine season.

The guest prize was presented to Miss Miller, a box of stationery. The other visitors, Mrs. Nicholson, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Darlington drew for the gift which became the possession of Mrs. Darlington.

The prize for the games was won by Mrs. Julian Holstein, Jr.

The refreshments consisted of a most daintily served salad course.

A Worthy Cause.

The Jews in the United States have commenced a nationwide campaign for the relief of the Jewish orphans, and others as well, in the war-stricken countries of Europe. While the work is being done by the people of the Jewish race, the help given is to be distributed in the countries where the Jews predominate and no discrimination is to be made as between races in the distribution of the funds.

Because all people of whatever race are to be helped, and principally because the Jews in the United States in all the great calls during the war made patriotic responses, the people generally are asked to contribute to the fund being raised.

Mrs. Rubenstein and Mrs. Mukashy are making a canvas here in Edgefield for funds for this very worthy cause and we trust that our people will respond as generously as they can afford. None of us have much ready cash but we should be willing to share what we have with those who are less fortunate. Our people have been apportioned $200 of the $100,000 South Carolina is asked to contribute to the Jewish relief fund.

WANTED: We will allow $2.25 per bushel for Peas on account.

D. A. R. Holds Pleasant Meeting.

The February meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution was most hospitably entertained in the home of Mrs. J. H. Cantelou where the chapter was originally organized.

The meeting was called to order by the Regent, Mrs. F. M. Warren, Jr., and the attendance was unusually large.

The subject naturally centered around George Washington, this occasion being so near his birthday. The first number was a composition on Washington in verse, given from memory by Ned Nicholson, who knows just how to do things like that, and did it wonderfully well.

The music for the afternoon was a violin duet from Gounod by Mrs. Walter Cantelou and Miss Lois Mims with accompaniment by Miss Genevieve Norris. This was so charming that the historian, Mrs. Millman, in charge of the program said she wished she might hear it three times each week.

Mrs. Susan B. Hill who had been appointed by the chapter to make some historical research, made a very interesting report of some recent findings. Mrs. Hill has decided talent and aptitude and accuracy for genealogical work and is performing a great service in this direction.

Mrs. Hill and Mrs. J. M. Lawton were appointed as alternates to the coming Continental Congress in April.

Mrs. J. L. Mims read some new history about George Washington and the history of the Mount Vernon association which was originated by Ann Pamela Cunningham, a South Carolina woman.

Mrs. Cantelou, assisted by Mrs. Walter Cantelou served an elaborate and delightful salad course with iced tea.

The next meeting will be held with Mrs. N. G. Evans.

Against Law to Kill Robins.

In an interview with Mr. J. W. Morgan he states that it is against the law to kill robins and other migratory and insectivorous birds. A fine is attached if the guilty parties are apprehended.

The following are the birds which come in the above class: Bobolinks, catbirds, fly catchers, hummingbirds, martins, meadow larks, night hawks, or bull bats, orioles, robins, swallows, thrushes, whippoorwills, woodpeckers, wrens and all other perching birds which feed entirely or chiefly on insects.

Dr. J. E. Brunson.

Ninety Six, Feb. 20.—Dr. J. E. Brunson, prominent physician, died at his home here Sunday morning at 4:30 o'clock. He had been in failing health for a number of years and his death, though sad, was unexpected.

He was confined to his bed only about ten days. From the time he seemed to realize his condition and made all the plans for his funeral, which were carried out in every detail.

The funeral was held Monday morning at 11:30 o'clock at Elmwood cemetery. All the pastors in town officiated. Dr. Brunson selected the songs and scripture readings because they had been used at his mother's and brother's funeral.

Dr. Brunson was held in high esteem by the whole community and this was shown by the beautiful floral tributes and large attendance at the funeral.

Dr. Brunson came to Ninety Six in 1903 to practice his profession. He was loved by everyone for his Christian influence. He was ever ready to serve the suffering. He was a devoted member of the Baptist church.

Dr. Brunson was born and reared in Edgefield and was married to Mattie Lou Stephens of Edgefield in December, 1894. From Edgefield they moved to Good Hope, where he practiced nine years. He then came to Ninety Six. He is survived by his wife and three sons: William, of Greenwood; Sam, a student at an Atlanta dental college; Joe, student of Furman university.
