Miss Mamie Dunovant Entertains at Luncheon for Miss Rosela Parker.

Miss Mamie Dunovant was hostess for the bridal party of Miss Rosela Parker and a few other friends on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. Music made merry for the guests in the parlors, and the amusement was making a book of advice to the bride, each leaf of the book containing one letter of the bride's name, and in this book, advice beginning with one of the letters. Another pastime was the modelling of the groom from chewing gum on a toothpick. The best image of him was made by Miss Sadie Mims, who received a hand made handkerchief. The bride was presented with a hand embroidered card table cover.

The guests were invited into the dining room where the lights were shaded with pink, and place cards directed each one to the place assigned them. The most delightful part of the program was the hour when a bountiful and beautifully planned three course luncheon was served. Mrs. Mamie N. Tillman acted as toast mistress, Miss Ruth Tompkins making the toast to the bride, Miss Marjorie Tompkins to the groom and Mrs. A. R. Nicholson to the mothers. This was a most delightful occasion to all present.

Cold Spring News.

The farmers were glad to see some rain, but had a little too much for them. God's will, not ours be done. Miss Lydia Holmes is spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Ned Holmes, who has been quite sick, but is now better now. Mr. Dewey McClendon and three sisters of Edgefield motored down here Sunday afternoon to see friends and relatives.

Mrs. Lizzie Prince and son, Abbie visited Mrs. John Henry West of Antioch last Tuesday.

Mrs. Lou McClendon has returned to her home after spending a while at Edgefield with her son, Mr. Byrd McClendon.

Quite a large crowd of our young people attended Flat Rock Sunday school Sunday afternoon.

Margaret Whitlock has returned home after spending a while at Horn's Creek and Edgefield with relatives.

Miss Myrtis McClendon had as her guests Saturday night, Miss Carrie May Johnson, Messrs. Jesse Long, Eddie Corley and Mr. Elma Wates of Cleora.

The way most farmers are harvesting their grain around here is they are having old fashioned reapings and the ladies have quiltings the same day. Old times must be coming back.

We are glad to say little Margaret Holmes is much better after being quite sick.

We were glad to see Mrs. Anna Crafton from Colliers at church Sunday. She had with her, her niece, Miss Dantz of Georgia.

Little Clyde Roberson has returned from a week's visit to his grandmother, Mrs. O. J. Holmes.

Miss Lee Lanier of Antioch spent Sunday with Miss Louree Johnson.

Mrs. A. B. Young is on the sick list. We hope she will soon be well.

Little Lucy Holmes, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Holmes, had the misfortune to scald her foot very badly last week.

Mr. Paul Eubanks and Mr. Earl Johnson of Antioch visited in our community last Sunday.

Mr. A. B. Young lost a fine horse last week.

Miss Essie Bussey spent Saturday night with Mrs. Tom Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Holmes spent Monday with Mrs. Shade Holmes in China.

We had a large crowd at church Sunday and the sermon by Mr. Edwards of Johnston was much enjoyed. He is coming back and preach the third Sunday in June.

Mrs. Sarah Ann Holmes and her daughter, Lillian are visiting in East Collier.

Fishing seems to be the chief occupation since the rains. Several have been going to the back water in between here and Augusta.

Mr. Walter Holmes of Antioch visited homefolks here Sunday.

Mr. Talton Prince is a regular visitor in Antioch these Sunday afternoons.

Colliers News.

The farmers have been busy cutting grain. A few in our community planted wheat and will make enough flour to do them.

"General Green" is raging now, and the farmers will have to hustle this week.

Miss Mary Dantz is visiting her cousin, Dr. J. N. Crafton. We give this visitor a hearty welcome to our neighborhood.

Miss Ellie Mathis will return to her home the latter part of the week from her school in York county where she has successfully taught this year. We welcome you home, "Miss Ellie."

Mr. W. G. Wells has been on the sick list for the past two weeks, but we are glad to say he is convalescing. Miss Effie Adams has returned from an extended visit to her brother, Mr. J. R. Adams.

One of Collier's most beloved young ladies, Miss Alberta Talbert, left Monday for Columbia to enter training in the Baptist hospital. We wish her great success in this noble work.

Rev. P. B. Lanham and Mr. Preston Lanham were the spend-the-day guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wells Monday. Mr. Lanham has just returned from Atlanta where he has been studying pharmacy.

Mr. H. B. Wells spent the weekend with his home folks. Mrs. D. T. Mathis, Miss Effie Adams, Mr. Bland Mathis and Mr. Frank Adams attended the picnic in the Sweetwater section Friday.

Our prayer meeting was very largely attended Saturday night. Mr. Tom Adams conducted the services, reading the eleventh chapter of Luke.

Miss Sunie Mae Hammond had 16 ounces of blood drawn from her veins for a lady who was seriously hurt in an automobile accident. This speaks well for the health of one of our young ladies who left for training.

Eureka News.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Harley and family were in Eureka Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Harley, Sr.

Dinner Party for Parker-Warren Bridal Party.

American Revolution. The hard rains of parties for Miss Rosela Parker, Mrs. Mamie L. Warren and Mrs. W. E. B. Tompkins, as joint hostesses entertained the Parker-Warren bridal party at a most delightful dinner party on Tuesday evening, 7:30 at their home "Center Springs." The fine old home, among the oldest and most splendid in the county was charmingly decorated with a variety of spring flowers.

Prior to the dinner several delightful musical numbers were rendered by Miss Ruth Tompkins and Mrs. M. B. Tucker in vocal solos, Mrs. Walter Cantelou with a violin solo and Miss Ruth Lyon at the piano.

The music completed, the guests were invited into the spacious dining room where the dinner was served, which consisted of an elaborate salad course, followed by a delicious ice and sweet course. The guests were served by Misses Isabelle Byrd, Elizabeth Lott and Leila Bland Tompkins. Mrs. R. T. Hill also assisted in entertaining.

At the conclusion of the dinner, Mrs. Mamie N. Tillman acted as toastmistress, in her charming and inimitable manner, proposed several toasts. The toast to the bride was responded to by Mrs. B. B. Jones, to the groom by Miss Ruth Tompkins, and to the friends to the bride and groom, by Miss Marjorie Tompkins. These responses were most beautiful and appropriate. The occasion is one long to be remembered by all present, reflecting as it did, the splendid hospitality of the hostesses and also the esteem in which Miss Parker and Mr. Warren are held.

At 9 o'clock the guests departed for the home of Miss Parker where the rehearsal was held for the wedding which is to take place on Wednesday.

Miss Padgett Entertains for Brides.

Miss Gladys Padgett entertained at bridge for the brides elect on Friday afternoon. Guests occupied ten tables and the home was most lavishly decorated with cut flowers. The honorees, Miss Rosela Parker and Miss Margaret May were presented with gifts of exquisite lingerie for the trousseau.

Miss Justine Cantelou made top score and was presented with a box of French powder.

A delicious salad course was served.

Brides-Elect Entertained.

On Thursday afternoon, Mrs. B. B. Jones, Mrs. N. M. Jones and Mrs. Allen Samuel were hostesses for the brides, Misses Rosela Parker and Margaret May.

At the door stood Allen Samuel, Jr., who greeted each guest and presented them with a souvenir card.

The color scheme was in pink, and Dorothy Perkins roses than which there is no more beautiful, becoming and graceful decoration, made the scene like a fairyland.

Little Ethelyn Byrd stood on the colonnade daintily dressed as a miniature bride, making a lovely picture.

The musical program was a song, "The Thought of You," by Mrs. A. R. Nicholson; "Thou Art to Me" and "Pale Moon," Miss Ruth Tompkins.

A solo dance, Valse Amoureuse Polka was given by Miss Janie Edwards and solo dances by little Misses Mary Cantelou and Virginia Holland.

A dance duett was given by Mary Cantelou and Janie Edwards, "The Time of Roses."

The guests were invited into the dining room, where from a beautifully decorated table, block cream and cake were served.

The brides were seated together in a becomingly decorated chair.

It seems to me that the electric light and water works is a dead issue in the coming municipal election. It occurs to me that the paramount issue at stake at the present time is law enforcement.

Bridge Party for the Brides.

On Wednesday a delightful occasion was a Bridge Luncheon of six tables given in honor of Miss Margaret May and Miss Rosela Parker, at the home of Miss Virginia Addison, Miss Addison, Mrs. Hugh Mitchell and Miss Marjorie Tompkins entertaining.

The decorations were a profusion of beautiful sweet peas in varied colors.

The brides were presented with a half dozen linen hand-embroidered tea napkins.

A two course luncheon was served the first being a hot course of fried chicken, hot rolls and iced tea, and the other accompaniments appropriate to such a menu. The second course was frozen whipped cream and cake.

UNSHAKEN TESTIMONY

Time is the test of truth. And Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test in Edgefield. No Edgefield resident who suffers backache, or annoying urinary ills can remain unconvinced by this twice-told testimony.

L. W. Redd, 202 Norris Ave., Edgefield, gave the following statement February 3, 1918: "I had considerable trouble with my back, after I was in a runaway in which I was injured. My back ached severely and it was nearly unbearable. When I scooped, I could hardly straighten again and had to hold on to something to help me up. A friend advised Doan's Kidney Pills and I began to use them. Two boxes of Doan's rid me of the trouble and I am glad to recommend them."

On February 4, 1922, Mr. Redd said: "I have not needed Doan's Kidney Pills for some time but I am glad to continue my former endorsement."
