It makes one feel that the good-old-before-the-war times are not far in the future to see the splendid crops in the Antioch and Colliers section. As we journeyed from Edgefield to the campaign meeting at Colliers Saturday we grew more and more optimistic. The weevil may damage the cotton but an abundance of corn, peas and potatoes will be made.

The Yonce Motor Company advises prospective buyers of Ford cars to place their order at once, as the supply of cars is not equal to the demand. Mr. Yonce received two car loads a few days ago and they have already been sold and have been delivered. The easy terms on which Mr. Yonce offers to sell cars makes it possible for one to own a Ford without paying all cash. Ask about the easy payment plan.

Mr. W. E. LaGrone of Johnston while in Edgefield today told The Advertiser's representative that another campaign will be put on in the county at once to increase the membership of the Co-Operative Cotton Marketing Association. It is the desire of the promoters to list 160,000 bales more in South Carolina, making the organization in this state the largest in the cotton belt in proportion to area.

Both Furnish Bond.

As Sheriff W. R. Swearingen failed to give bond as he said he would do when apprised that a bond charging him with assault and battery had been issued, Judge J. B. Tompkins, acting upon the advice of an attorney sent the warrant to C. Oroner T. E. Byrd. Although in feeble health, Mr. Byrd came to Edgefield Saturday morning to serve the warrant and found that Mr. Swearingen had gone to the campaign meeting at Colliers, so he waited until his return in the afternoon and served the warrant. Mr. Swearingen at once gave bond in the sum of $500, his bondsmen being Mr. J. R. Timmerman and Mr. W. C. Tompkins.

Mr. Swearingen then had a warrant issued before Judge Tompkins for Mr. A. A. Edmund, charging him with assault and battery with intent to kill. The warrant was served Saturday afternoon and Mr. Edmunds immediately gave bond and demanded a preliminary hearing. His bond was signed by Mr. L. S. Kernaghan.

Entertained Friday Night.

Friday night the members of the Old Maids' Club of Edgefield (we would not dare attempt to say who the members are) gave an elaborate tea at the home of Miss Virginia Addison (not that she is a member but merely consented for this important function be held at her home.) The honor guests were two Edgefield young ladies (not members of Old Maids' Club) who have been residing for some time in Greenville, Misses Virginia Simkins and Ruth Timmerman, and are spending their vacation in Edgefield. It has been said that all who were honored with invitations Friday night were the gayest of the gay—scarcely, if at all, out of their teens. At any rate, had not the social feature made the guests' cup of joy overflow, the elaborate feast, served in courses, would have been sufficient to make the occasion linger long in one's memory. Probably some of those present were just a wee bit older than they once were, possibly old enough to have enrolled for the primary, and yet the merry peals of laughter that burst forth from door and window of this superb home made the passerby imagine that the younger set of Edgefield were having a sort of debut party. The two honor guests were presented by the members of the Old Maids' Club, whoever they are, with two beautiful handmade handkerchiefs.
