Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lake of Kathwood, Aiken county, spent several days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. David Strother.

Mrs. C. W. Watson will leave the latter part of the week for Falcon, N. C., to attend the 23rd. annual session of the Falcon camp meeting.

Mr. J. H. P. Roper of North Augusta was a welcomed visitor in Edgefield yesterday, being very warmly greeted by his old Edgefield friend.

Mrs. Hugh Nicholson and her children returned to Edgefield on Saturday after spending a while with her mother, Mrs. Annie Rives at Cedar Mountain.

Mr. E. J. Mims, Miss Sadie Mims, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lyon and Mr. Hal Hill of Augusta are spending several days at the Landrum place above Meeting Street.

It is reported that Dr. Byrd and Mr. Nance, both salesmen for wholesale houses, have purchased the drug business of the late Mr. J. D. Holstein. The store has been closed for the past week on account of stock taking.

Dr. Oscar LaBorde of Columbia has joined Mrs. LaBorde and the children who have been here visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dunovant for the past week.

Miss Margaret Strom spent last week in Beech Island with her Cousin, Miss Emma Dobson who returned to Edgefield and is with Miss Margaret this week for a visit.

Erstwhile light house keeping can be made still lighter by supplying your needs at the Huggins Store at the depot. So many things that are ready to serve can be had.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Holstein returned yesterday from Greenville, where they have been visiting the brother of Mrs. Holstein, Mr. James Cothran, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Holston have just returned from a visit to Greenwood, Greenville and Hendersonville, Mr. Holston is considering moving his family to Greenville.

Mr. M. A. Taylor announces this week that he has one car of coal rolling toward Edgefield and others will follow. He will do his best to supply the Edgefield demand for coal.

Miss Kate Samuel has accepted a position as manager of millinery and ladies' ready to wear department of a large store in Wrightsville, Ga. She left for Wrightsville last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtney McLean of Erie, Pa., have been visiting the latter's mother, Mrs. Ida N. Boatwright of Ridge Spring, driving through over a thousand miles in their car.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Bank of Edgefield Thursday Mr. Thomas H. Rainsford was elected vice president to fill the vacancy made by the death of Mr. A. S. Tompkins.

As a result of the protracted meeting conducted at Stevens Creek church last week 11 persons united with the church. The Stevens Creek flock are delighted with their new pastor, Rev. Mr. Mangum.

These figures give some idea of the growth of the Ford business. In 1908 Ford's output was 311 cars per week and now in 1922 it is 31,187 cars per week. How is this for an increase in volume of business?

In the Corner Store advertisement this week Mr. Turner calls attention to some popular stories in the Pictorial Review and Popular Science Monthly. Better get a copy of these magazines and read these stories.

Miss Evelyn Williams of Aiken and Miss Thelma Hayes of Latta were week-end visitors of Misses Emma and Margaret Blocker. These four young ladies graduated in the same class from Coker college in June.

Judge and Mrs. DeVore and Major and Mrs. W. J. Duncan now occupy the newest, most delightfully situated and most modern appointed residence in Edgefield, which has just been completed by Mr. W. A. Pardue.

Rev. B. D. Thames of Hemmingway, S. C., stopped in Edgefield several hours Monday while en route to Gilgal to conduct revival services for the pastor, Rev. P. B. Lanham, who is unable to attend the meeting this week.

Mr and Mrs. Robert Long of Rock Hill, who are visiting Mr. Long's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Long, were among the visitors in Edgefield Monday. Mr. Long has a position as cotton grader with the state warehouse system.

The annual convention of the American Legion is in session in Florence and Rev. G. W. M. Taylor, Evangelus Seveteras, Frank Adams and J. O. Sheppard are representing the Edgefield post. Mrs. Sheppard is representing the Woman's Auxiliary.

On account of its inflamed condition and acting upon the advice of physicians, Rev. P. B. Lanham had his left eye removed in the hospital in Augusta Friday and he has sufficiently improved to return to his home Monday. We trust that the operation will afford permanent relief.

The Advertiser has arranged to receive election returns next Tuesday afternoon and night. We should have complete returns from the 16 precincts within a few hours after the polls close. We will receive full returns for both the state and county tickets in order to give full report to The State in Columbia.

The people are flocking to Red Hill church this week to hear their former, Rev. J. T. Littlejohn, preach. He arrived in Edgefield Saturday night and was the guest of Mr. Ernest Quarles who carried him out to Red Hill Sunday Morning. A very large congregation greeted him Sunday morning.

Miss Emma Blocker has accepted a position as teacher in the Lexington high school and Miss Margaret Blocker will teach in the high school of Ninety Six. Their schools will open about the 5th. of September. Both of these young ladies are splendidly equipped for teaching, having recently graduated from Coker college.

The Yonce Motor Company announces this week that the supply of Ford cars is not equal to the demand. They have already delivered the car load which they received a few days ago and will receive only a portion of their August allotment. First come first served. Better place your order at once for August or September delivery.

After spending a week in the mountains, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Griffis and their three children returned to their home in the Cleora section Thursday. They report having had a delightful time in Gaffney where they attended the annual convention of the rural mail carriers on August 14 and 15. Mr. Griffis says the roads and crops in that section are fine.

Something new under the sun for Edgefield will be the Piggly Wiggly store to be opened in the old post office building, heretofore occupied by Mr. J. D. Holstein as auto sales room, by Murphey and Company of Augusta. Mr. M. D. Lyon, Jr., will manage the new store. This will be one of a chain of grocery stores that have been established in this section by Murphey and Company.

Mr. J. H. Reel motored to Hendersonville, N. C., last week and joined Mrs. Reel who had been in the mountains for several weeks. Mr. Reel says the people in that section have not felt the hard times. They have made good crops of corn, grain, potatoes, cabbage and fruit. They also sell livestock. The people of Edgefield county need to make a similar change in their farming program.

Campaign Meeting at McKendree.
The campaign meeting at McKendree Saturday has been pronounced one of the best meetings yet held. The attendance was large and the people exhibited a fine spirit. In addition to the candidates for the house of representatives, Mr. L. Y. May and Mr. P. L. Cogburn, candidates for clerk of court spoke. A splendid dinner was served. The dinner was served by the women of the church for the benefit of their parsonage fund, about $48 being realized.

Reception For Bride and Groom.
This evening from five to seven o'clock the home of Prof. and Mrs. G. F. Long will be the scene of a brilliant reception given in honor of their son, Mr. Marsh Long and his bride. Saturday afternoon Mr. Long and Miss Gertrude Ball of Raleigh were married, their wedding being attended by three of the groom's sisters, Misses Sadie, Mattie Lee and Lena Long. Since his graduation from the Normal and Industrial College in Raleigh Mr. Long has held a position as traveling representative of the Century Electric Company of St. Louis, but has resigned this position in order to locate in Raleigh to become the head of a wholesale grocery firm.

Afternoon Reception for Mrs. Ives.
Misses Sophie and Marie Abney received on Monday afternoon for the friends of Mrs. A. J. Ives, and the occasion was a delightful one, many friends of yore meeting each other for the first time in many years.

The guests were greeted at the door by Miss Marie Abney and conducted into the lovely dining room where block cream and pound cake was served, and the climax of the occasion was that each friend present had an opportunity to renew the old friendship with Mrs. Ives and pledge anew the friendship for the future.

Mrs. Ives will remain in Edgefield until today, Wednesday, when Mr. Ives will join her here and they will return together to their home in Savannah.

ANOTHER CAR LOAD

OF

JUST RECEIVED

To show what the shortage of Ford cars is, we ordered 24 cars for month of August and have only been allotted 9 cars for August. We could easily sell all of the 24 cars if we could get them. A car load of Fords has just been received and they were sold before they arrived. Get your order in at once for September or October delivery. One-third cash and balance at the rate of one dollar per day.

Do not forget that we are still specializing on Ford repairs

A Rook Party.

Friday afternoon from five to seven Misses Ouida and Lillian Pattison gave a rook party in honor of little Miss Elizabeth Craig of Anderson who is here visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Lizzie Cogburn. The decorations were pink and white and this was carried out to the minutest detail, even in the refreshments. The chief form of diversion for the sixteen little guests was a spirited game of rook, four tables being arranged on the porch. A beautiful prize was presented to the guest of honor. At the conclusion of the game of rook refreshments consisting of pink and white block ice cream, pink and white cake and pink and white mints were served. As the afternoon passed all regretted when the time came to say good-bye, the occasion being one of unusual pleasure.

Last Campaign Meeting.

The last of the series of six county campaign meetings was held in the academy grove at Edgefield yesterday. The attendance was as large as was expected and the speeches in the main were very creditable. The five candidates for legislative honors spoke somewhat at length setting forth their views upon the public questions, varying but little from former speeches made in the campaign. But all of them have greatly improved in the effectiveness with which they present their claims to the people. Following the legislative candidates, the candidates for magistrate for the first district spoke. Mr. Turner was presented first, he being followed by Judge Tompkins. Mr. J. S. Smith was the last number of the speaking program. Next came the barbecue dinner which was served by Mr. A. A. Edmunds and Mr. W. E. Ouzts. It was well prepared and was greatly enjoyed by those who feasted over at the academy.

Chautauqua at Johnston.

Commencing Friday night, August 25, a summer Chautauqua will be held at Johnston for five nights, excluding Sunday night. The exercises will be held under a big tent and a splendid miscellaneous program has been arranged for each night. Friday night the program will consist of a grand opening concert and a lecture on "Immortality of Influence," will be delivered by Mr. George L. Barker, and each night thereafter an attractive program will be given. In addition to the lectures and musical features, several popular comedies will be given by talented actors and actresses. The fourth night the play "It Pays to Advertise" will be given. All proceeds from the chautauqua above actual expenses will go to the Johnston school. The Johnston Chautauqua deserves to succeed.

Commencing Friday night of this week and lasting for five nights, Sunday night excepted, a chautauqua will be held at Johnston and the net proceeds will go to the Johnston school. We trust that it will be a great success financially and from every other standpoint.

The people of Johnston are to be commended for putting on the summer Chautauqua, which will begin Friday night of this week. The influence of such entertainment is always wholesome and helpful to a community. Even if they only break even financially, it will have paid the people of Johnston to hold the Chautauqua.

Be sure to attend one night of the Chautauqua at Johnston if no more. You will find the lectures inspiring and the other features of the program altogether pleasing.

Mrs. Claude Johnson of Johnston is spending this week in Edgefield with her sister, Mrs. W. D. Holmes.

The London Failure.

The allied conference at London, called a final effort to settle the question of German reparation, ended in a flat failure, as nearly everybody expected it would. And if any more conferences are called, they will end doubtless in failure just as complete—unless the conferees are willing, on both sides, to face facts. Those facts are plain enough to all the world outside of France. Surely they must be plain, too, to French statesmen, when those statesmen allow themselves, for an occasional moment, to lapse from war bitterness and the exigencies of French politics.

Germany ought to pay all that has been assessed against her. The moral obligation is there, and Germany considered as a business institution, with great assets and productive power, might be supposed able to make enough profit to meet the allies deserve all that they can collect from Germany.

But there's the rub—they can collect very little by any means tried yet, or by any other conceivable means. For the allies want money, and money is the one thing that Germany does not possess and apparently cannot obtain.

Germany is cleaned out of cash. She is no longer able to obtain any cash worth speaking of by selling paper marks for gold. The allies will not take paper. She could pay them in goods, but they do not want goods. That is all there is to it.—Greenville News.
