Jack Blackmon's Body Exhumed.

In dressing for burial the body of Jack Blackman, the negro who was killed at a hot supper near Primus one night last week, a wound was noticed in his right breast which was overlooked by the physicians at the time of the inquest. The matter was reported to the coroner after the interment and on last Sunday he reassembled the jury, had the body exhumed and the physicians made investigation of the wound. The wound was found to have been made with a 32-calibre pistol ball, the same as the wound in the head which occasioned his instant death. Watts, the negro in jail charged with the homicide, claims, we understand, that his pistol was a 38-calibre, while others claim that he had two pistols, one a white handle 32 calibre. Both wounds were made with 32-calibre balls.

Death of Mrs Walters

Mrs. Elizabeth Walters, daughter of the late John Taylor, and wife of Mr. John Walters, died at her home near Tradesville, last Sunday night, aged about 54 years. Her husband and several children survive her. She was a member of Spring Hill Baptist church. Her remains were interred Monday afternoon at the Rowell burying ground near Tabernacle.

Death of An Aged Citizen of the County.

Mr. Jas. B. McMurray, an aged and well known citizen of the county, died at the home of his relative, Mr. R. H. McMurray, near Jacksonham, last Saturday night, of paralysis. He was first stricken with paralysis about a year ago and has been disabled ever since. Mr. McMurray was about 70 years of age, was never married, and was the last survivor of his father's family. He served through the civil war in Co. H., 4th S. C. cavalry, and made a good soldier. He was a quiet, peaceable, good citizen, and everybody liked "Uncle Jimmy." His remains were interred last Sunday at Tirzah church.

The fellow who is continually telling you what the cotton market is going to do is neither a bull nor a bear; he is a bore.—Anderson Daily Mail.

Child Burned to Death.

Nelson, the four-year old son of Nan Crawford, col., at this place was so badly burned by his clothing catching fire last Saturday morning that he died from his injuries five hours later. No one was in the house at the time, the mother being at Mr. Mackey's where she is employed as a cook, and an older child which had been left in charge of the boy having gone on an errand to a neighbor's. Capt. McManus, who was some distance away in his garden, saw the child run out from the house its clothing all ablaze and halloed to "Aunt" Mary Boykin, an old colored woman who lived next door to Nan, and she ran out and caught the child and extinguished the flames, burning one of her hands severely. Dr. Poovey was summoned and did what he could for the child but it was too badly burned for him to have any hope for its recovery.

We Are The Leaders!
 Leaders Of Low PRICES!

It is generally admitted by everybody that we are the lowest priced people on strictly high class goods. We make it our business to figure prices under our competitors. We find that by selling at a smaller profit our sales are so much larger, that it pays us in the long run. We have continually followed this policy since we began business here six months ago. Everybody knows that we have built up a very large patronage and today stand in the front rank of the dry goods business. We attribute our success entirely to the fact that we have handled only the best class of goods and have UNDERSOLD OUR COMPETITORS.
