TEACHERS' LIBRARY.

We are glad to announce the reception of five excellent little volumes for the Teachers' Library from Messrs. Eldredge & Bro. Their titles are: 1. Cultivation of the senses. 2. Cultivation of the memory. 3. The use of words. 4. Discipline. 5. Class teaching. These are a valuable contribution, and cannot fail to benefit every teacher who will read them. We have promise of other books and hope to report them soon. Shall we not have a contribution of one book from each member of the Association?

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

One of Sam Jones' Lectures.

Humor and Wisdom on the Subject of Money and Manhood.

I used to sing "I want to be an angel, and with the angels stand."— Now I have begun to pray over the matter, and I say "I want to be a man—and with the ladies stand."

I met a grand man once. The longer I stood with him the smaller I got, and the bigger he got. After a while I had to get up and go to have anything to go with.

I have met some little fellows whose eyes were so close together that they could see through a key hole with both at once.

I do not believe in evolution, of course I don't. I do not believe we sprang from monkeys. But when I see a great many people I believe they are headed that way and that they will get there if they don't stop.

I have a great deal more respect for Nancy Hanks than I have for Sullivan and Corbett. Nancy is a daisy, she can go in 2-40. God made her to go. But two old fop-headed mules can stand up in a lot and do as much as Sullivan and Corbett, knocking the filling out of one another.

I never go to horse races—not because I do not like to see them, but because of the small, scrubby set that is always there.

Some rich men say when you go to them for money for a good cause: "Wait until I get fixed!" Fixed! Fixed! Fixed! Fixed! Fixed! Fixed! Fixed! Fixed! Fixed! Fixed! Fixed!

"Country facts" are a scriptural animal, and you need, not be afraid of it.

There was an old farmer in North Georgia who said one day: "I am going to save; I am going to lay up; I am not going to be poor when I get old and can't work." And he did save $150,000. One day a neighbor went to see him and said: "Brother, get off for meat!" I have spent much of my life in the country.

There is a great deal of ignorance between the two. A dog can get a fight.

I can say dispassionately that my brother Tom Weston in this district seemed at every point to say, "I want to fight." But my brother Black, with noble courage, seemed to say, "I want a victory." And he got it.

I like to see a man map out his course and stick to it and go it—like the train on the Georgia railroad, which goes on the course mapped out and sticks to it, and has not been to any other town but those on the route.

The only absolutely unselfish man was Jesus Christ. Of all the acres of land in the world he did not stake off one acre, and say "this is mine."

When a fellow makes up his mind he never gets left.

You may talk about a man being intelligent. I have seen such men fail. But whenever you find him with a will he succeeds.

The will of a man is that which is in command of a man.

I always did have a contempt for one of those fellows who is waiting for an iron, to get hot. But I have respect for the fellow who pounds on the iron until it is hot. I always did have a contempt for the fellow who is always waiting for something to turn up, but I have the profoundest respect and admiration for him who turns it up and rolls it to where he wants it.

Get in a hurry. The obstacles will get out of your way.

I like a man who believes in possibilities.

I believe in a hard head and a soft heart.

These wishy-washy fellows, they don't amount to much.

Brother Timmons is a hard headed man, but he has a big heart. I know him. He wants to do the right and tries to do the right.

in the South. You can raise a negro and a mule, and get a big job to raise a man in the try.

You say, "Every man price," I don't believe that. Selfishness is the first Avarice.

There is no good institution of enterprise in God today but what is going begging from door to door.

Cussin' is a very low down type of a rascal.

Sin is in the blood like a cancer.— A man may stop cussin' on his tongue, but it will break out on his hand, and he will get to stealing.

He who can eliminate selfishness and avarice from himself, is enabled to stand on top of everything that ever ruined a man.

The grandest manhood and womanhood is that which has forgotten self and is consecrated to the service of others.

There is the stature of a woman in New Orleans, she has her hair combed in the sweet, good old way, down over her temples and she is holding out baskets of fruit and children are crowding around her. She lived working for and helping the poor of New Orleans and when she died the bankers and the brokers and the capitalists all came out in front of their offices and stood in the sun with their hats off while the funeral procession of her was one of the grandest women in America went by.

Convince a man in the church that he will reap two for one and he will plant down.

This country is running on the dollar, and just as certain as Rome fell because of a too great centralized military power, so certain will the United States run into destruction on silver dollars as wheels, unless the course is changed.

It is not how much money have you, but how did you get it? and then which is most important, what are you doing with it?

Kissing Mother.

A father, talking to his careless daughter, said:

I want to speak to you of your mother. It may be that you have noticed a careworn look upon her face lately. Of course it has not been brought there by an act of yours, still it is your duty to chase it away. I want you to get up tomorrow morning and get breakfast; and when your mother comes and begins to express her surprise, go right up to her and kiss her on the mouth.

You can't imagine how it will brighten her dear face.

Besides you owe her a kiss or two. Away back, when you were a little girl, she kissed you when no one else was tempted by your fever tainted breath and swollen face. You were not as attractive then as you are now. And through those days she was always ready to cure, by the magic of a mother's kiss, the little dirty, chubby hands whenever they were injured in those skirmishes with the rough old world.

And then the midnight kisses with which she routed so many bad dreams as she leaned above your pillow, have all been on interest these long, long years.

Of course she is not so pretty and kissable as you are; but if you had done your share of work during the past ten years the contrast would not be so marked.

Her face has more wrinkles than yours, and yet if you were sick that face would appear far more beautiful than an angel's as it hovered over you watching every opportunity to minister to your comfort, and every one of those wrinkles would seem to be bright wavelets of sunshine chasing each over the dear old face.

She will leave you one of these days. These burdens, if not lifted from her shoulders, will break her down. Those rough hard hands, requires one-third as much as the old bill, and requires Lexington to pay the one-third instead of two-thirds, with perhaps a few other minor changes, consequently the present Legislature is not to be credited with the bill only the few amendments.

I am pleased to notice the interest taken, as it is an important question that will come before the voters of the county and should be thoroughly understood by every voter as to whether they will vote to bond the several townships, as per ratio mentioned in the bill, Respectfully,

W. H. F. RAST, Swansea, S. C., Jan. 27th, 1893.
