

What a Mother Says

Of Dr. Hartman's Famous Family Remedy and Spring Tonic. Mrs. Hannah Lind, 1132 East Long street, Columbus, Ohio, is one of the many enthusiastic advocates of Pe-run-a. She says: "For many years I was subject to nervousness, despondency and neuralgia, for which doctors and remedies seemed of no use. At last I was persuaded to try Pe-run-a. I found it to be exactly the remedy I had been so long in search of. It relieved the tired, depressed feeling felt in spring-time at once. It never fails to restore to me natural appetite and the best of sleep. It has cured permanently my old despondency and neuralgia, and I wonder why so many people continue to suffer through spring and early summer when Pe-run-a is such a prompt and perfect relief. As a family medicine I believe Pe-run-a to have no equal." It relieves at once cramps, colic, prostration from heat, the ill-effects of sudden checking of the perspiration, and all other bad effects of hot weather. As a remedy for nervous prostration it has no equal, and the thousands of men who "have nerves" find it a priceless remedy. Every family should have a copy of "Facts and Faces." Finely illustrated. One of the best books of testimonials ever published. Sent free. Address The Pe-run-a Drug Manufacturing Company, Columbus, Ohio.

The Fair Pays Expenses. To the Editor of the Dispatch: I hear that it is rumored in various sections of the county that the Lexington County Fair Association procured the passage through the last Legislature of an act authorizing the Governor to appoint a number of constables to serve on our fair grounds, and that they would be paid by the county. In order to correct the impression that such constables are to be paid by the county, but by the Fair Association, I would be much obliged if you would publish in this card the full act in question so that everybody can see how they are to be paid.

C. M. Edr. Supt. Lex. Co. Fair Association. "Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of South Carolina, That the Governor of this State is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint annually, upon nomination by the President and Secretary of the Lexington Fair Association, not more than ten fit and proper persons as constables, who shall, before entering upon the duties of said office, take the oath prescribed in Section 26 of Article III of the Constitution of 1895. Such appointment to be made immediately before the time for holding the annual fair by said association, and the term of office of such constables shall be for the week during which the annual fair is held by said association. Such constables shall have jurisdiction in the County of Lexington to a limit of one mile in each direction from the principal building of said association located on its fair grounds, and shall have all the powers and duties prescribed in Section 872 of the General Statutes of 1882. In any arrest made by said constables they shall carry the party or parties so arrested before the Magistrate of the judicial districts within which the said fair grounds are then situated. Section 2. That such constables shall be paid by the Lexington County Fair Association such compensation as may be agreed on between them and the officers of the association. Approved the 21st day of February, A. D. 1898."

Mr. John Peterson, of Patouville, La., was very agreeably surprised not long ago. For eighteen months he had been troubled with dysentery and had tried three of the best doctors in New Orleans, besides half a dozen or more patent medicines, but received very little relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, having been recommended to him, he gave it a trial and to his great surprise, three doses of that remedy effected a permanent cure. Mr. Wm. McNamara, a well known merchant of the same place, is well acquainted with Mr. Peterson and attests to the truth of this statement. This remedy is for sale by J. E. Kaufmann.

Cost of the Cuban War. Three Years' Struggle Has Not Been Inexpensive or Bloodless. The Independent.

The present uprising in Cuba began at Ybarra, province of Matanzas February 24, 1895. It has been in progress, therefore, over three years. Beginning in one of the western provinces on a very small scale, it has spread to all parts of the island, and seems to be as strong, confident and determined today as at any time since it began. Insurgent forces are found in every one of the provinces. According to the latest report of their distribution, approved by the Cuban junta in this country, there are 36,500 men in arms, of whom nearly half are in the cavalry branch of service. Beginning with the westernmost province, Pinar del Rio, which General Weyler pronounced "pacified," before he was recalled, there are, west of Weyler's troops, near Havana, some 7,200 insurgents, under the command of Generals Diaz, Lorente and Ducaesse. Of these 3,800 are infantry and the rest cavalry. These constitute the 6th army corps. In Havana and Matanzas provinces is the 5th army corps, commanded by General Rodriguez, with half a dozen chiefs of divisions. This corps consists of 2,300 infantry and 1,500 cavalry. The Matanzas division is in charge of General Batacort. In Santa Clara is the 4th army corps, consisting of 5,700 men under General Carillo, assisted by General Nuñez, Arando, Montego and Jose Miguel Gomez. This makes a total of 16,700 men in the western department. In the two provinces of the eastern department, Puerto Principe and Santiago de Cuba, there are about 12,600 men, most of whom are in the latter province under General Calixto Garcia. In the former is the seat of the Cuban government, at La Esperanza, in the Cubitas mountains, and the headquarters of General Gomez, the commander-in-chief of the Cuban forces. These forces are well equipped, and in the eastern department have a plentiful supply of food. Thirty thousand Cubans, not in active service, are, it is said, tilling the ground and furnishing food to the insurgents. The Spanish army is supposed to number 150,000 or more under the general command of Captain General Blanco. In Cuban waters is a considerable Spanish navy, consisting of seven cruisers, 19 gubatois (small) transports, five torpedo boats and 24 launches. It is the purpose of this fleet to prevent the insurgents from receiving arms, ammunition and supplies from the United States and other outside sources. The cost of the war to Spain has been, so far, over $280,000,000, and the yearly expenditure is estimated at about $85,000,000.

"I would not be without Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for its weight in gold," writes D. J. Jones, of Holland, Va. "My wife was troubled with a cough for nearly two years. I tried various patent remedies, besides numerous prescriptions from physicians, all of which did no good I was at last persuaded to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which promptly relieved the cough. The second bottle effected a complete cure." The 25 and 50 cent bottles are for sale by J. E. Kaufmann.

Don't Invite Sickness

Which is better, to thoroughly cleanse and purify the blood just now, or make yourself liable to the many dangerous ailments which are so prevalent during summer? Impurities have been accumulating in the blood all winter, and right now is the time to get rid of them. A thorough course of Swift's Specific is needed to cleanse the blood and purify the system, toning up and strengthening it all over. Those who take this precaution now are comparatively safe all summer; but to neglect it is to invite some form of sickness which is so common during the trying hot season. It is now that a course of Swift's Specific will accomplish so much toward rendering the system capable of resisting the evil influences which are so liable to attack it during the summer when sickness is so abundant. It is the best tonic and system-builder on the market, because it is a real blood remedy and is made solely to search out and remove all impurities, and supply an abundance of pure, rich and red blood. S. S. S. is made exclusively of roots and herbs, and is Nature's own remedy. It is purely vegetable, and is the only blood remedy guaranteed to contain no potash, mercury or other mineral. Be sure to get S. S. S. There is nothing half as good.

Ellen Lorona Kieckley, daughter of Daniel and Sally Corley, was born November 19th, 1820, and died May 1st, 1898. She connected herself in youth with St. Stephen's Lutheran church at Lexington, but later in life transferred her membership to Providence Lutheran church of which she was a member at her death. She was an earnest Christian and like her Master, went about doing good. Many were the deeds of love and helpfulness flowed from her life into the lives of those about her in seasons of their sickness, sorrow and need. She was the mother of six children, and the grand-mother of nine grand children and there also survives her one sister. We all unite and share with them in their grief and affliction. Rev. J. G. Torpedo Boats and Torpedo Boat Destroyers.

The Difference Between These Two Types of Naval Vessels. The importance attached by naval authorities to the little boats now on their way from Spain to the West Indian waters is a source of astonishment to the people who have paid no attention to recent developments in naval architecture. Torpedo boats have been popularly known for some time as war craft of potential possibilities, but in actual use more dangerous to their owners than to the enemy. Torpedo boat destroyers are apparently a type of vessel absolutely unheard of by the majority, and the manner in which they are mixed up in the news reports with the craft they are supposedly intended to annihilate is certainly mystifying.

The torpedo boat of today, it should be stated in the beginning, is no longer a vessel of doubtful value. Its terrible prowess has been shown on several occasions in recent years. While it is designed primarily as a coast defense vessel, and is not especially fitted for long voyages on the high seas it has been made as stable and safe as any small boat can be. It can move faster than any battleship or cruiser, and, owing to its small size and low free board, can steal up within a few hundred yards of a warship, discharge its projectile under water with considerable accuracy and dart away without being seen, perhaps, or, if seen, can laugh at the efforts of the big vessels to capture her. The torpedoes which she sends forth on their errand of destruction are sufficiently powerful to sink any man-of-war afloat if they hit the mark. The only protection that a battleship has from these terrible little engines of war is in her guns, which, if seen in time, may sink the torpedo boat; or in the protective net of large iron rings which is hung around the ship when in danger. But the torpedo boat is so small that it is very hard to hit her even in daylight, and her attacks are generally made at night, while the torpedo nets are of doubtful efficiency. The torpedo boats are 100 to 180 feet long and have an average draught of about 5 feet, so that they can slip into shallow water or up rivers if necessary. They have a complement from 20 to 25 officers and men and carry three or four 1-pounder rifles for defense and as many torpedo tubes for offense. The torpedo boat destroyer is the result of the development of the torpedo boat. As its name indicates, its primary object is the destruction of torpedo boats, but it combines the qualities of the torpedo boat, the gunboat and the cruiser. It is larger and swifter than the torpedo boat, some of them rushing through the water at the rate of 34 miles an hour, as fast as the average express train. Besides its torpedo tubes, it carries guns of the rapid firing variety as large as 14 pounders. With such speed and such armament it can run down and sink the speediest torpedo boat, while—without using its torpedoes, which are reserved for warships—it can capture and destroy if necessary, commercial vessels of large size. In attacking war vessels, however, it is not as effective as the torpedo boat, because its larger size and higher free board makes it more easily seen and a better target for the guns of the battleship.

Millions Given Away. It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on J. E. Kaufmann, Druggist, and get a trial bottle free. Regular size 50c. and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

The Morro Opens Fire. On One of the Ships of the Blockading Squadron. Havana, May 6.—The American fleet today has been nearer than at any other time. At half past 5 o'clock a cruiser approached almost in front of El Morro. The Playa Chivo battery fired the first shot, but it fell short. The second passed above the vessel, which turned and retired at full speed. The third shot fell near her bow. Other shots were fired at her as she "retreated."

A Warning. To the Editor of the Dispatch: A few days ago, I got information of an effort in my district to collect membership fees in an alleged Farmer's Secret Organization Company with headquarters at Columbia, S. C. This Company, it is alleged, was organized by the C. Oton Convention representing the entire cotton belt. In consideration of the fee and the promise on the part of the farmer to cut down his cotton acreage, the company guarantees 10 cents for cotton in 1899 and indemnity to the farmer. I have made an investigation and want to say to the farmers, that no such organization has been authorized by any Cotton Convention. Any claim of that sort is an imposition without the possibility of benefit. A similar effort may be going on in other districts and States, I deem it my duty to expose it through the Public Press. J. Wm. Stokes, Washington, D. C. May 4th, 1898.
