Live Issues in Hawaii.

Three Parties Loom Up in Our New Territory.

Standing of the Natives—The Burning Question is Whether They Will be Enfranchised—If So, the Missionary Party Must Take a Back Seat—The Outs Will Try to Defeat the Dole Faction.

The question of paramount importance in Hawaii now is the form of government to be erected in the islands. The question is important for Americans too; but in Hawaii little else is talked of. The burning question of the hour is the extent and limitations of the franchise which the commissioners are to confer. It is the prevailing belief here that the three American commissioners will be called on for information regarding island affairs.

Royalists and anti-annexationists in Hawaii are a little sore that they should have no representation upon commission, but they are willing to waive their right to be recognized if only the commissioners will enfranchise the Kanakas and restore to the natives a portion of their rights.

There are several well defined factions in Hawaii. One group cares nothing for political rights or forms. Its sole wish was to make the islands American, and its only desire now is to keep the Kanakas voteless. These men were ardent for annexation, but are now entirely indifferent politically. It was commercialism and not patriotism that animated them. Royalists and men who have regard for the natives are hoping that the native Hawaiians may receive the franchise as an act of justice. It is difficult to see how they can be deprived of it if the territory of Hawaii is formed on lines of constitutional precedent. The present government is not representative. Property and income qualifications govern the franchise, and this, together with the oath which contains a promise to assist no royalist uprising either directly or indirectly has successfully barred three-fourths of the natives from the polls. Those not caught in the money net were debarred by the oath, for there are few natives without royalist leanings. Ask any native you meet if he is a P. G. (provisional government) man and he will show all his teeth and tell you he likes the chief.

It is probable that the property qualification will be abolished, but there is some talk of substituting an English educational test. Almost all Hawaiians read and write their own language, and there is no country in the world where the percentage of illiteracy is so small. But many of the natives do not read and write English, which is a foreign language, and an English educational franchise would discriminate against these men, although it would be a declining evil, as young Hawaiians who attend school compulsorily, are all instructed in English. Nevertheless an English education qualification will leave the missionary party in power for another term of years.

It is conceded that if the native Kanaka receives the vote it will mean the end of the missionary hierarchy. In spite of diminished numbers and the loss of lands, the natives still outnumber the whites, nor do they need any telling as to who it is that has caused their downfall. So small a portion of the native vote that it scarcely deserves to be counted is in favor of the missionary party. Only ultra-religious natives are there. A wealthy native who is the owner of shipping said to me yesterday: "The white man is too sharp for us. Once my people owned all lands out Ewa way. That was Kamehameha's land. Now it all belongs to the white man. If the missionaries had taught us politics and the white man's way in business as carefully as they taught us to pray, we might have kept our lands. But they taught us religion and were careful to keep us ignorant of their methods, and now we have nothing."

The fact everywhere conceded, that the enfranchisement of the native Hawaiians means the end of the present regime, causes office-holders most serious thought. It remains to be seen whether the commissioners will be true to republican principles in spite of pressure and prejudice on the part of the office-holding class.

No voice is raised for the enfranchisement of the Orientals who are so numerous in the islands. The prevailing sentiment is that votes should be given as in California to native born Orientals who fill the prescribed requirements. Even then trouble is apprehended from the Japanese, who are numerous and independent. They consider themselves quite as good as any Occidental ever born, and they are not offering the other cheek with Christian meekness these days.

The political horoscope of the dying days of the Hawaiian nationality is extremely interesting, and the infant beginnings of the future political parties are already to be seen. Men who fought shoulder to shoulder for annexation now begin to knife each other, swiftly and secretly. The first speck that showed on the political horizon was the jealousy of the "ins" developed by the "outs." It manifested itself suddenly in the endorsement by the American Union Club of Mr. H. M. Sewell as temporary governor of Hawaii. No one was more astonished than President Dole himself, for it was generally understood that the officers of the baby republic would find good places under the territorial regime. The American Union party is very much like the Annexation Club and they have many members in common. The party is large and more democratic, the club is smaller and wealthier and is designed chiefly to find funds necessary to press annexation. On the very day Minister Hatch and ex-Minister Thurston arrived in Honolulu from Washington the American Union party sprung their endorsement of Sewell, and the Dole wing of the Annexationists was taken completely by surprise.

The latest man to come forward as a gubernatorial candidate is Samuel M. Damon, minister of finance. Damon is supported by the semi-secret political club known as the Forty Club. He is a prominent man who would have been the next president of the Hawaiian republic. His father was a missionary and he is immensely wealthy, but he is well liked and has always been a connecting link between the annexationists and the native royalists. He was a trusted friend of Mrs. Bishop, the last of Kamehamehas, but without him the revolution would not have been possible. He is popular with both sides, and his coming forward at this time means the defeat of Dole and the permanent shelving of the "family compact."

Three parties or factions have already appeared. The first is in power and is called in Hawaii the "family compact." It is composed almost entirely of men whose fathers or grandfathers were missionaries, who civilized the natives, buried the larger part of them, and fell heir to their extremely fertile lands. The missionaries bred their sons to business or professions, made lawyers and merchants and planters of them, and the choicest parts of Hawaii are theirs.

Two factions are forming in opposition to the missionary party. A man logically toward democracy is A. V. Year of the Bulletin, a clever man, who is fighting the "family compact" on the ground that it is not representative of the people. Another opponent to the "family compact" is F. B. McStocker, collector of customs, who has no love for the religious party and who wants to be on the winning side. McStocker has a genius for office-holding.

Then there are the royalists, who have no grudge against America and merely want to see the native get his rights under annexation. Very few of the royalists have ever taken the oath under the republic. The royalists are more anxious to punish the missionaries than anything else and they will throw all their weight with any opposition.

Little Pimples Turn to Cancer. Cancer often results from an impurity in the blood, inherited from generations back. Few people are entirely free from some taint in the blood, and it is impossible to tell when it will break out in the form of dreaded cancer. What has appeared to be a mere pimple or scurf has developed into the most malignant cancer.

"I had a severe cancer which was at first only a few blotches, but I thought would soon pass away. I was treated by several able physicians, but in spite of their efforts the cancer grew until my condition became alarming. After many months of treatment and growing steadily worse, I decided to try S. S. S. which was so strongly recommended. The first bottle produced an improvement. I continued the medicine, and in four months the last little scab dropped off and my skin has remained clear and not a sign of the disease has returned." R. W. WILSON, S. C.

It is dangerous to experiment with Cancer. The disease is beyond the skill of physicians. S. S. S. is the only cure, because it is the only remedy which goes deep enough to reach Cancer.

S. S. S. For the Blood (Swift's Specific) is the only blood remedy guaranteed Purely Vegetable. All others contain potash and mercury, the most dangerous of minerals. Books on Cancer and blood diseases mailed free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

Negro hangers on have become a piling pest among the volunteers at Camp Lee.

One Minute Cough Cure surprises people by its quick cures and children may take it in large quantities without the least danger. It has won for itself the best reputation of any preparation used to-day for colds, croup, tickling in the throat or obstinate coughs. J. E. Kaufmann.

An enterprising chicken thief of Columbia has gone into the pilfering business on a large scale. The platform of the Texas Republicans favors the immediate construction of the Nicaraguan canal.

More than twenty million free samples of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve have been distributed by the manufacturers. What better proof of their confidence in its merits do you want? It cures piles, burns, scalds, sores, in the shortest space of time. J. E. Kaufmann.

Abram Riley split the head of Scipio Thompson open with an axe in Columbia Thursday night. The killing was the result of a debt of $25 owed the former by the latter.

DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve has the largest sale of any Salve in the world. This fact and its merit has led dishonest people to attempt to counterfeit it. Look out for the man who attempts to deceive you when you call for DeWitt's Witch Hazel, the great pile cure. J. E. Kaufmann.

Some time ago, a little bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy fell into my hands, just at a time when my two-year old boy was terribly afflicted. His bowels were beyond control. We had tried many remedies, to no purpose, but the little bottle of Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy speedily cured him.—William F. Jones, Oglethorpe, Ga. For sale by J. E. Kaufmann.

White caps used six women of ill-repute and four men roughly in West Virginia last week. They were first treated to a coat of tar and feathers, then wanted to leave the town by a certain hour, and afterwards arrested and locked up. Gen. Woods, the Military Governor of Santiago, has prohibited the sale of whisky, beer and wine within that city and provided heavy penalties for the infraction of his orders. Dr. J. L. Terry, of Trible, Tenn., in speaking of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, says: "It has almost become a necessity in this vicinity." This is the best remedy in the world for colic, cholera, morbus, dysentery and diarrhoea, and is recognized as a necessity wherever its great worth and merit become known. No other remedy is so prompt or effectual, or so pleasant to take. Sold by J. E. Kaufmann.

A Cure for Heartburn. That burning sensation in the stomach, the pains and suffering which I experienced for five long years, brought on by continued constipation and biliousness, are almost indescribably true. I tried every known remedy without effect. Finally I tried Ramon's Liver Pills & Tonic Pills, following the directions carefully. After taking a few doses I began to improve. I have not used more than three boxes and feel as well as ever felt. My attention to perfect health I attribute solely to the use of Ramon's Liver Pills & Tonic Pills and I only wish I could persuade others to do as I did and be cured.—Lagan M. Nair, Amsterdam, Va. It is a pleasure to note the value of a manufacturing establishment in a community. Mr. C. S. Roof has one of the best saw mills in this part of the State.
