A Card of Thanks. To the Editor of the Dispatch: On last Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock we were taken by surprise. The good people of Lexington and hereabouts came in and took charge of the parsonage for awhile spreading before an almost speechless preacher and his family a great many good things, such as the substantial of life as well as the dainties. The clothier was also represented. To this noble people I am under lasting obligations. May the blessings of the Lord be ever upon them, their homes and their business. The evening passed very pleasantly and profitably to all. Respectfully, J. N. Wright. Lexington, February 2, 1900.
