State Candidates at Florence.

PATTERSON OPENS.

Patterson was the first speaker Thursday in the gubernatorial tourney. He discussed briefly the failure of the legislature to appropriate funds for common schools after taking dispensary profits from them. He made his same dispensary speech. He said that the prohibition proposed is but the dispensary law without the beverage feature. The rich will then send off out of the State for liquor and the poor will patronize blind tigers. Maine sells more liquor unlawfully than South Carolina does lawfully. Col. Hoyt charges all the crime in South Carolina to the dispensary. The attorney general of Maine attributes rascality there to prohibition. Repeated his old charges of coalition. Said that McSweeney is not a friend of the dispensary. They were at the Isle of Palms together on Sunday and there were a hundred men sitting around drinking beer and McSweeney has the face to say that he didn't know there was a blind tiger there. An alderman in Charleston is running a blind tiger. McSweeney has never caused the bar fixtures to be seized. Patterson received a modicum of applause.

McSweeney's Message.

Gov. McSweeney was not here. He sent the following:

"A bouncing baby boy arrived at the mansion early this morning. Request county chairman to present my best wishes to the Democracy of Florence and my regrets at not being able to attend meeting."

The reading of the message was applauded.

Hoyt's Hand Primary.

Col. Hoyt took a primary Thursday, the first one since Patterson's dismal failure at Walterboro.

Col. Hoyt was received with cheering. He was forced to omit discussion of other issues and confine himself to the liquor question, as his opponents had devoted so much time to him.

Patterson interrupted Col. Hoyt once and the crowd cheered the colonel.

Patterson had claimed that nine-tenths of the people drink liquor.

Col. Hoyt disputed it.

Patterson—Take a hand primary.

Hoyt—Why didn't you do it?

The colonel took a hand primary to see how many in the audience drank liquor. The number of fists up was absurdly small and the crowd howled for Hoyt.

Hoyt then said that Patterson had said that the crowd was sober because the dispensary was closed.

The colonel pronounced this a slander on the people of Florence and the crowd cheered again.

If prohibition is a farce, why did Patterson advocate it in 1892? And does he support the dispensary now because, as he says, "the majority of the people favor it?"

Col. Hoyt read a denunciation of the dispensary written by the Rev. W. R. Richardson of Columbia, and when he came to a paragraph where it was said that small politicians use it to ride into office, the crowd cheered again.

Would Patterson refuse the support of papers if they came to his rescue—for he needs rescue? Would Patterson accuse them of being subsidized if they supported him? The News and Courier is too busy booming the exposition to notice the State campaign editorially. Perhaps if Editor Hemphill knew that Patterson is a candidate, he would support him, Col. Hoyt remarked sarcastically.

The course of Mr. N. G. Gonzales is as truly independent in this campaign as it has been in everything. W. G. Gonzales' support of Elderbe in 1898 a failure? Gonzales supports him on other grounds.

"Read his editorial and you will see something not very complimentary to you, sir," he said to Patterson.

Patterson retorted that in the constitutional convention he had introduced a resolution charging N. G. Gonzales with falsification against John G. Evans and 123 delegates of all factions had supported it.

Col. Hoyt said he was not Mr. Gonzales' champion, but he was quite sure Patterson would not face him (Gonzales) and use the language he did here today.

Patterson said he had said the same thing in the constitutional convention, pointing his finger at Gonzales at the time.

Col. Hoyt retorted that if Patterson had done so it had been under the protection of his privilege as a member of the convention.

Patterson replied that Gonzales had opportunity to see him afterwards.

During the controversy there was cheering at the conclusion of every thrust made by Col. Hoyt, while Patterson had no applause.

As Col. Hoyt concluded, Mr. Pettigrew presented him with a bouquet with the statement that the ladies of Florence looked for manliness in the Governor's office if he were elected.

Whitman's Geography.

Walt Whitman exhibited a map of South Carolina and said that three of the candidates for Governor come from a bunch of counties down on the Savannah. Walt said Gary had asked him where he was during the war. Walt replied that he was only 12 years old when the war broke out, but he plowed an old blind mule to make bread and meat for the soldiers, and two of his brothers shed their blood in the cause. What had Gary and Patterson and McSweeney done for the old soldiers whom they so profess to love? He put the laugh on Col. Hoyt. The latter had admired Walt's ability to fashion a new platform every day. Walt said Col. Hoyt had only one, a miserable old thing. He would not tackle Patterson as the latter was in such a miserable fix already. McSweeney was not here and he could not hit him in the back as he is lame and sick unto death anyway. He helped out Brooker in his charges against the tax department of the State. He would rather drink it than to talk about it. (Laughter)

He too held a hand primary in opposition to Col. Hoyt's and the result was that there were but three in the audience who thus indicated that they do not take "booze." The laugh was on the Colonel.

Gary Well Received.

Mr. Gary was received with some demonstration. He was glad that Pee Dee and Piedmont are alike—progressive and steadfast to the landmarks of Democracy. He declared that it was false that he had tried to inject partisan politics into the campaign. He had too many friends in all former factions.

A few days ago an editorial appeared in a leading daily paper calling on the people to vote against him because he was a prominent Tillmanite. He deprecated this departure from the understanding among Democrats to obliterate party lines. He himself had kept the faith. In public life he had known no Tillmanite, no anti-Tillmanite. He argued against the practicality of enforcing prohibition and declared in favor of the dispensary, with allowances to the counties wanting prohibition.

Col. Hoyt had said that the dispensary had brought the State into degradation and dirt. Gary asked what is the state of degradation. God forbid the day when free liquor will come into South Carolina. Col. Hoyt might not be in the coalition, but the result of his election would mean a riot of blind tigers.

Gary was applauded when he said that he was an original advocate of the dispensary, and although it has broken from its original moorings it is yet the best solution of the liquor question. He favored the common schools and especially institutions for industrial training. He was liberally applauded.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. ### Every woman in the country ought to know about

Mother's Friend

Those who do know about it wonder how they ever got along without it. It has robbed childbirth of its terrors for many a young wife. It also prevents the girl's figure and saved her much suffering. It is an external liniment and carries with it therefore, absolutely no danger of upsetting the system as drugs taken internally are apt to do. It is to be rubbed into the abdomen to soften and strengthen the muscles which are to bear the strain. This means much less pain. It also prevents morning sickness and all of the other discomforts of pregnancy. A druggist of Macon, Ga., says: "I have sold a large quantity of Mother's Friend and have never known an instance where it has failed to produce the good results claimed for it."

A prominent lady of Lambert, Ark., writes: "With my first six children I was in labor from 24 to 30 hours. After using Mother's Friend, my seventh was born in 4 hours."

FACTS ABOUT CHINA.

China and its dependencies have a total area of 4,218,401 square miles and a population of 302,680,000. To area it includes nearly one-twelfth of the total area of the globe, while its population includes nearly one-third of all the people in the world. As compared with the United States, the latter's island possessions being excluded, China has 800,000 more square miles of territory and more than five times as many inhabitants. The population of China proper per square mile is 292; that of the State of Rhode Island is 254, and that of Texas six.

China is the land where everything is upside down. Thus in Canton the women act as sailors, and boatmen, while the men are employed as chambermaids, laundresses, and seamstresses. In salutation the Chinaman shakes his own hand instead of that of his visitor. As a remark of respect he puts his hat on instead of taking it off. Their signboards are perpendicular instead of horizontal. In reading Chinese print it is necessary to begin at the right hand side at the bottom and read to the left and up. The Chinese raise the toe of the shoe and depress the heel instead of raising the heel, so that sometimes appear to be in danger of falling backwards.

The Tartars, who overthrew the native Chinese dynasty of China in 1644, are the ruling class in China. There are in the neighborhood of 10,000,000 Tartars in the empire. The Chinese "pigtail" dates from the Tartar invasion, when the Tartars forced the Chinese to grow cues after the Tartar custom as a mark of subjection. Thousands of Chinese were killed for refusing to plait their hair, and even now the New China party has as one of its objects the abolition of the old rule. There are, or were until recently, less than 12,000 foreigners permanently resident in China. Of this number 5,000 are British, 1,600 Americans, and 1,200 Japanese.

Most Christian ministers wear black clothes. The Chinese priest stick to bright yellow. People on this side of the world signify their sorrow at the death of a relative or friend by putting on black garments. In China the mourning color is white. In the United States most people believe that the living have the first call upon their charity and care. In China more precautions are taken for the preservation of the body after death than before, and a Chinaman will lie down senseless on his mat rather than neglect to light the evening joss candle in honor of his dead relatives. In most countries the dead is surrounded by weeping relatives, and often a minister and a doctor are present. In China the dying are carried out of the house and left alone in some vacant space to die.

There are three principal religions in China—Buddhism, Taoism, and Confucianism. The latter is almost without forms and ceremonies, consisting chiefly in study and contemplation of the teachings and works of the ancients. Buddhism and Taoism both have elaborate and splendid ceremonials. Taoism is the older. Buddhism having made its appearance in China about 1,800 years ago. It is now the religion of almost eight-tenths of the people. In the northeast and southwest there are 30,000,000 Mohammedans. The Roman Catholics have more than 1,000,000 adherents and support twenty-nine bishoprics. The converts of all the protestant churches are estimated to number not more than 50,000. Back in the remote interior of the kingdom the hill tribes are still nature worshippers or heathen.

At a grand dinner the Chinese begin with sweets and conclude with soup. They sit sometimes at table for five or six hours, with a midway interval or recess, during which bowls are brought in and the members of the party wash their hands and heads in hot water. Friedeese dog is a favorite dish, a special breed of puddles being raised for eating purposes. Stewed rat is another delicacy, and the Chinese are also fond of eggs when they have passed the point where even the cold storage man could call them fresh. Sharks' fins, bird nests, peacocks' livers, green ginger, cocks' combs, and fowls' hearts and brains are dishes which might be found on the menu of a high-class Chinese banquet.

During the year 1898 China imported from all foreign nations goods valued at $146,000,000. During the same year the exports of China amounted to $118,000,000. As an evidence of which nation has the greatest interest in China so far as trade and commerce go it may be stated that of the total of Chinese imports Great Britain and its colonies supply goods to the amount of $111,000,000, while of the exports it buys about $60,000,000, or more than one-half. Most of the English trade with China is transacted through the British crown colony of Hongkong, which was ceded to Great Britain by China in 1841. During the same year the United States imported goods from China to the value of $13,000,000 and sent back in return American goods valued at a little more than $9,000,000.

If the Chinese themselves are to be believed, the Chinese empire has been in existence for more than 100,000 years. Other students say that it was founded 2,500 years before Christ, and by some Fubi, supposed to be the Noah of the Bible, is considered the founder. The great wall of China, portions of which are still in evidence, was completed 21' B. C. Printing is said to have been known in China as early as 202 B. C. In 1517 A. D. the first European missionaries were sent to China from Rome. In 1662 a general earthquake shook the empire and more than 300,000 people were killed at Peking alone. Commercial relations between China and Russia began in 1719.

The policemen of Peking are, or at least, were, armed chiefly with small drums, which they beat loudly in order, it is presumed, to let burglars and other marauders know that they are coming. All night long the watchmen beat their way around the streets, and as a natural consequence are said to make few arrests.

The pigeons of Peking have each a light whistled to their tails, which gives forth a loud sound as they fly. Sometimes five or six whistles of different tones are attached, and the result is a more or less melodious confusion of sounds.

The blind, and in Peking blind men and women are numerous, also use drums to announce their coming and warn other people to get out of their way. By the difference in the sound as it is reflected back from walls or pavements it is said that the blind Chinaman can always locate themselves exactly, so that they need no guide.

The beggars of Peking are another peculiar institution. They are organized and have a ruler of their own, whose orders they are quick to obey. Sometimes a group of the beggars will gather in front of a merchant's store and make such an infernal racket that he is glad to bribe them to go away. Another method of extorting money is for a merchant to go to a merchant or householder and announce that unless he will promptly pay one or two dollars he will commit suicide on his victim's doorstep. If the money is refused he is likely to carry out his threat, in which case the authorities may give the unfortunate merchant much trouble and sometimes blackmail him out of a large amount of property.

The commencement of the establishment of the so-called "spheres of influence" in China was in 1897, when the Germans seized the port of Kiau Chau, on the east coast of Shantung, and during the next month secured from the Chinese a lease for ninety-nine years of the town, harbor, and district. Two months later Russia got possession of Port Arthur and Talienwan, with their adjacent waters, on a lease for twenty-five years, with the privilege of renewal. Within the boundaries of the leased territory, which are as yet undefined, Russia has supreme control. Port Arthur harbor and the larger portion of the harbor Sallenwan are therefore closed to all except the war vessels of Russia and China. In June, 1898, Great Britain took possession of Wei-Hai-Wei and is to hold the port as long as Russia holds Port Arthur. Finally, the French in April 1898, secured a "lease" of Kwang-Chuan Wan bay, on the east coast of the Tien Chau peninsula.

IS IT HTRGI

For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicine?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would have saved hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by J. E. Kaufmann.

Irish Potatoes and Bots.

So far as known the juice of Irish potatoes is better calculated to cause the bot to let go the lining of the stomach than any remedy that can, with safety, be given the horse. The juice does not kill the bots, but causes them to become numb. Hence they curl up and let go, and the horse is relieved from his bots. Six to twelve tubers will furnish enough juice, when scraped, to relieve the worst case.

After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvellous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50¢ and $1.00.
