LEXINGTON, S. C., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1900.

The result of the primary election show that it was a regular landslide for Governor McSweeney. It is possible that he carried every county in the State with the exception of three or four. We consider the large vote given Governor McSweeney a fitting endorsement of his administration and that the people had such confidence in his ability and judgment that they were willing to entrust the ship of State under his guidance for two years longer at least. It is such a victory that he should be proud of and his best endeavors, which no doubt they will be, should be directed toward preserving unsullied the confidence that has been placed in him. Colonel Hoyt entered the political arena a strong man and he retires from it stronger than he was when he entered it. He has made numerous new friends, and as far as we have been able to observe not an enemy. He carries with him to his private life the well wishes of all

We give below the incomplete returns by counties for Governor as published in today's State; McSweeney. Hoyt.

The Fair management have gone to work in earnest to make the Fourth Annual Fair the big success. The committee on grounds and buildings are now at work building twentyfive additional stalls for stock, and are baving two additional wells dug. so that there will be an abundance of water for both man and heast. Other improvements will be made to the premises when those now underway are completed. Inquiry at the Secretary's office show that great interest is being manifested for the Fair, both at home and abroad. He is in receipt of numerous letters making inquiries about the Fair. Our own people should be alive to the importance of this Fair as a means by which the advantages of Lexington can be brought prominently before the cap italist and home seekers, and they should unite as one man in making it the best Fair yet held.

The State and county primary elections are over and sufficient returns have been received to indicate the successful candidates for political preferment. The defeated ones should not be so narrow minded as to bear hard feelings against their rivals in particular and the voters in general. It is only a matter of choice between men and measures that determines the result of a primary election and none should find fault with that result. Now that the election is past beyond recall, we should all turn our attention to matters of business and development. It should be our aim to better our condition financially and commercially as well as in manufacture and thus make our county the most thriving and progressive one in South Carolina.

It is reported that the natives of Alaska are dying in great numbers. There is great destitution among the gold seekers.

The following commissioners have been appointed by the Governors of their respective States for the South Carolina Inter-State and West Indian Exposition to be held at Charleston next year: The Hon. Thomas Tonge, for the State of Colorado; Col. A. J. Blethen, Proprietor of the Sattle Times, for the State of Washington, and the Hon. J. J. Leeson, of Socorro, for the Territory of New Mexico. These gentlemen will make it their duty to see that their several States are adequately represented at the Exposition, which is expected to be the most varied and comprehensive

The Mayor of Galveston, Texas, estimates that 3,000 persors were killed during the late terriffic storm. This estimate is considered a conserative one. There is great destitution and suffering among the survivors and an appeal has been made for contributions in cash, provisions and clothing or any useful article to relieve the suffering.

Arthur Sewall, the Democratic nominee for Vice President four years ago, died at his beautiful summer home in Small Point, Maine, the morning of September 5th, from a stroke of apoplexy received the Sunday before. He was a successful business man of Bath, Maine, and was a life long Democrat. As he died so he lived honored and respected by all who knew him.

Our only regret about the primary election yesterday is, that we could not support both McSweeney and Hoyt for they are both good men. We admire the faithful and conscientious discharge of duty of the one and the pure Christian character of the other.

A. F. Lever Commended.

To the Editor of the Dispatch: Please allow me a short space in your columns to give the readers of the Dispatch the brief but brilliant career of A Frank Lever, who was nominated in the recent primary for the House, which furnishes another proof of the assertion that "push and pluck" will bear down all opposition and crown all effort with success. Left an orphan at four months old, he has by sheer force of will and brain pushed his way up the ladder until now his last effort for fame and his first for the suff-rage of his peo -ple, results in his triumphant nomi nation by the largest vote ever given a candidate in the history of the county. It is remarkable that a man note quite twenty-six years old without any large or wealthy family connection, with no political prestige and only a limited personal acquaint ance in the county should receive upon his first asking over two thirds of the vote cast in the primary. The like has never happened before. No man in the county has ever gotten twenty-two hundred and twenty-six of fellow citizens to think him the proper man to represent their interests in the Legislature of the State; and the victory is the more remarkable when it is remembered that his opposition consisted of four of the best and strongest men the county affords. We don't think the people will have cause to regret their choice. He has never in all his life lost fight or failed to win in any competition test, and we think he will win laurels both for himself and his county in the House.

Both Bepresentatives are well chosen and the two Franks will likely hold high the banner of old Lexing-Admirer.

Sept. 10, 1900.

Card of Thanks.

I canvassed the county as best I could for the office of County Auditor and am one of those whom the people did not choose, however, I feel very grateful for the vote I received and I assure the people of Lexington county that the handsome vote I received will be a stimulus to me in after years if I should ever ask f r flice again.. I remain.

Yours respectfully. Paul E Hutto. Swansea, S. C., Sept. 8, 1900.

WIND AND WAVES.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 9 .- Informaion has just reached here that about 3,000 lives have been lost at Galveston, with enormous destruction of Houston, Texas, Sept. 9, 10 p. m. no further and came back to Hous--The West Indian storm which reached the Gulf coast yesterday wrought awful havoc in Texas. Reports are conflicting, but it is known hat an appailing disaster has befallen the city of Galveston, where, it is reported, a thousand or more lives have been blotted out and a tremend. ous property damage incurred.

DESCRIPTION AT GALVESTON.

"Galveston is situated on an island extending east and west for 27 miles, and is seven miles in its greatest width north and south. No city could be in greater danger with such a horrible visitation as has now come to Galveston. In no part of the city with its 38,000 population is it more than six feet above the sea level. The flat condition not only points to the desperate situation of the people at such a time as thie, but their danger may be considered emphasized when it is known that exactly where the city is built the island is only one and a quarter miles wide.

"On the bay, or north side of the city, is the commercial section, with wharves stretching along for nearly two miles, lined with sheds and large storage houses. Then, in that portion of Galveston there are three elevators, one of 1,500,000 bushels capacity, one of 1,000,000 and the third of 750,000. The island from the north side is connected with the mainland by railroad bridges and the longest wagon bridge in the world, the latter nearly two miles in length. In 1872 the entire east end of the city was swept away by the tidal wave that followed a terriffic storm that swept the Gulf coast for three days. Then the eastern land on which buildings stood was literally torn away. The work of replacng it has since been going on, and Fort Point, that guards the entrance to the harbor, has since been built and on its parapets are mounted some of the heaviest coast defense ordinance used by the government. By the force of the storm of 1872 six entire blocks of the city were swept away.

"It is on the south side of the city, beginning within 50 yards of the medium Gulf tide, that the wealthy resident portion of the city is located and which was the first part of Galveston to be stricken by the full force of the recent storm and flood. All of the eastern end of the city must certainly be washed away, and in this quarter, betwoen Broadway and I street, some of the handsomest and most expensive resi dence establishments are located. There was located there one home which alone cost the owner over $1,000,000. Most of the residences are of frame, but there are many of stone and brick. In the extreme eastern end of the city there are many of what we call 'raised cottages.' They are built on piling and stand from eight to ten feet from the ground as a precaution against floods, it being possible for the water to sweep under them. "The only protection that has ever peen provided for the Gulf side of the city has been two stone breakwaters, but many times with ordinary storms coming in from the Gulf, the high tide water has been hurled over the low stone walls right to the very doors of the residences. From Virginia Point, six miles from Chalveston, in ordinary conditions of the atmosphere the city can be plainly seen. If it is true that Galveston cannot now be seen from the point, then the condition of the people in the city must be indescribably horri

THE DAMAGE IN HOUSION.

Houston, Texas, Sept. 9 -The storm that raged along the coast of Texas last night was tho mest disastrous that has ever visited this section. The wires are down and there is no way of finding out just what has bappened, but enough is known to make it certain that there has been great loss of life and destruction of property all along the coast and for a hundred miles inland Every town that is reached reports one or more dead and the property damage is so great that there is no way of computing it accurately. Galveston remains isolated. The Houston Post and the Associated from their moorings and stranded in Press made efforts to get special in the bay. trains and tugs today with which to reach the island city. The railroad companies declined to risk their locomotives. All sorts of rumors prevail but with no substantial basis. It is known that the railroad bridges across the bay at Galveston are either wrecked or are likely to be destroyed with the weight of a train on them; the approaches to the wagon bridge are gone and it is ren dered useless. The bridge of the Galveston, Houston and Northern railroad is standing, but the drawbridges over clear creek and at cannot get trains through to utilize the bridge across the bay. A train went downt the Columbia Tap road this morning as far as Chenango Junction. The town was greatly damaged and the bodies of nine negroes were taken from the ruins of one house. The train could proceed

Angleton, Columbia, Branzora, Velasco and Quintana uncertain. The small town of Brookshire on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas was almost wiped out by the storm. The crew of a work train brought this information. When the train left three bodies of four persons had been recovered and the search for ton, leaving the fate of the people at other was proceeding. Hempstead, across the river from Brookshire, was also greatly damaged, but so far as known no lives were Sabine Pass has not been heard from today. The last news was received from there yesterday morning and at that time the water was surrounding the old town at the pass and the wind was rising and the waves coming high. From the new town, which is some distance back, the water had reached the depot and was running through the streets. The people wero leaving for the high country known as the back ridge and it is believed that all escaped.

The property damage is great, a conservative estimate placing it at $250,000. The merchants and planters oil mill was wrecked, entailing a loss of $40,000. The Dickson Car Wheel works suffered to the ex'ent of $16,000. The big Masonic temple, which is the property of the grand lodge of the State was partly wrecked Nearly every church in the city was damaged. The First Biptist, Southern Methodist and Trinity Methodist, the latter a negro church, will have to be rebuilt before they can be used again. Many business houses were unroofed. The residence portion of the town presents a delapidated appearance, but the damage in this part of the city has not been so great as in some others. The streets are almost im assible because of the litter of such s trees, fences, telephone wires and poles. Much damage was done to window glass and furniture Mary narrow escapes are recorded.

LATER ACCOUNTS. Houston, Texas, Sept. 10 -The first reports from the appalling dis aster, which has stricken the city of Galveston, do not seem to have been magnified. Communication was had with the island city by boats today. and reports received here tonight indicate that the death list will ex ceed 1,500, while the property loss cannot be estimated, although it will reach several million dollars.

The stricken city is in imminent danger of a water famine, and strenuous efforts are making here to sup ply the sufferers. Relief trains are being organized and will leave here at an early hour tomorrow.

Reports from the interior confirm he loss of life and destruction of property reported in these dispatches.

The storm began at 2 o'clock Saturday morning. Previous to that a great storm had been raging in the gulf and the tide was very high. The wind at first came from the north and was in direct opposition to the force from the gulf. While the storm in the first part piled the water upon the beach side of the city, the north wind piled the water on the bay part of the city.

The bay front from end to end is in ruins. Nothing but piling and the wreck of great warehouses remain. The elevators lost all their superworks and their stocks are damaged by water.

The life saving station at Fort Point was carried away, the crew being swept across the bay 14 miles to Texas City. I saw Capt. Haines yesterday and he told me that his wife and one of his crew were drowned.

The cotton mills, the bagging factory, the gas works, the electric light works and nearly all the industrial establishments of the city are either wrecked or crippled. The flood lef a slime about one inch deep over the whole city and unless fast progress is made in burying corpses and carcasses of acimals there is danger of

Of the new Southern Pacific works little remains but the piling. Half a million feet of lumbar was carried away and the enginesr says as far as the company is concerned, it might as well start over again.

Eight ocean steamers were torn

It will take a week to tabulate the dead and the missing and to get anything near an approximate idea of the moneytary loss. It is safe to assume that one half of the city is wiped out and that one-balf of the residents have to face absolute

At Texas City three of the residents were drowned. One man stepped into a well by mischance and his corpse was found there. Two other men ventured along the bay front during the height of the storm and were killed.
