DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best liver pills ever made. Easy to take and never gripe. J. E. Kaufmann.

Matrimonial bonds are not always a safe and profitable investment. There is more style about some boarding houses than there is grub.

A woman will pardon want of sense quicker than want of manners. Bryan will go down in history as the greatest speech-maker of the age.

Both makers and circulators of counterfeiters commit fraud. Honest men will not deceive you into buying worthless counterfeiters of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. The original is infallible for curing piles, sores, eczema and all skin diseases. J. E. Kaufmann.

Some people talk a long time before you can get at what they are trying to say. The hand that rocks the cradle can seldom throw a brick to hit anyone in sight.

A dealer in artificial limbs estimates that 300,000 Englishmen have lost one or both legs. DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve will quickly heal the worst burns and scalds and not leave a scar. It can be applied to cuts and raw surfaces with prompt and soothing effect. Use it for piles and skin diseases. Beware of worthless counterfeiters. J. E. Kaufmann.

The title of "R-verened" has been applied to clergymen since the middle of the seventeenth century. If you have ever seen a child in the agony of croup you can realize how grateful mothers are for One Minute Cough Cure which gives relief as soon as it is administered. It quickly cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. J. E. Kaufmann.

Never judge a man by the silk umbrella he carries; he may have left a cotton one somewhere in his place. Many people worry because they believe they have heart disease. The chances are that their hearts are all right but their stomachs are unable to digest food. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and prevents the formation of gas which makes the stomach press against the heart. It will cure every form of indigestion. J. E. Kaufmann.

Eve was the first woman, and probably the last, who did not gather up her skirts and run at the sight of a mouse. A Chattanooga woman cut her grandson into pieces with a hatchet because she said that he was a bad boy and smoked cigarettes.

Gentlemen:—Four years ago I was helpless with a misery in my back. I could not return myself in bed. I was treated by my physician, but he did me no good. I took one bottle of Dr. Baker's Female Regulator and it cured me. I think there is no medicine on earth like it. Mrs. Emma E. Myers. For sale at the Bazaar.

With the exception of a neglected husband there is no sadder spectacle than a neglected wife.

The highest price paid in greenbacks for gold during the civil war was $2 85, the quotation for July 16, 1864.

It takes a lifetime of experience to teach us that we are our own best friend; that we are our own worst enemy we never learn.

You can't afford to risk your life by allowing a cough or a cold to develop into pneumonia or consumption. One Minute Cough Cure will cure throat and lung troubles quicker than any other preparation known.

Many doctors use it as a specific for grippe. It is an infallible remedy for croup. Children like it and mothers endorse it. J. E. Kaufmann.

In consequence of the increasing cost of Holland oysters, American oysters are coming more and more into vogue in Germany.

Darwin tells us there was a time when man walked on all fours. He probably alludes to that period in early life when he approached a neighbor's melon patch from the rear.

There is no pleasure in life if you dread going to the table to eat and can't rest at night on account of indigestion. Henry Williams, of Boonville, Ind., says he suffered that way for years, till he commenced the use of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and adds, "Now I can eat anything I like and all I want and sleep soundly every night." Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest what you eat. J. E. Kaufmann.

The more we do the will of God the more delight we find in doing His will. He who gives himself without reserve to the service of God finds rest unto his soul.

"I have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and find it to be a great medicine," says Mr. E. S. Phipps, of Potosi, Ark. "It cured me of bloody flux, it never speaks too highly of it." This remedy always wins the good opinion, if not praise, of those who use it. The quick cures that it effects even in the most severe cases make it a favorite everywhere. For sale by J. E. Kaufmann.

I Hungary and Brittany, the young girls assemble on certain fete days, wearing red petticoats with yellow or white borders round them. The number of borders denotes the portion the father is willing to give his daughter. Each white band, representing silver, denotes 100 francs per annum, and each yellow band denotes gold betokening 1,000 francs a year.

Bismark's Iron Nerve. A large man eating shark was caught at Pensacola, Florida, the other day. His actual measurement was twelve feet two inches, and weighed over 1,000 pounds. The stomach was found to contain a mass of live and dead sea crabs, beef bones, small barrel staves, stones, pieces of pipe, wood and numerous other indigestible articles. His head measured two feet across, and his mouth and throat was large enough to swallow a man with ease.

The report comes from Germany that many Confederate $10 bills have been passed there recently as Uncle Sam's promises to pay.

BLOOD POISON. Mercury and Potash Make Wrecks, Not Cures.

In some cases the external signs of Contagious Blood Poison are so slight that the victim is firmly within the grasp of the monster before the true nature of the disease is known. In other cases the blood is quickly filled with this poisonous virus and the swollen glands, mucus patches in the mouth, sores on scalp, ulcers on tongue, sore throat, eruptions on skin, copper colored spots, and falling hair and eyebrows leave no room for doubt, as these are all unmistakable signs of Contagious Blood Poison.

Doctors still prescribe mercury and potash as the only cure for Blood Poison. They drive the disease never yet made a complete and permanent cure of Contagious Blood Poison. These powerful minerals produce mercurial rheumatism and the most offensive sores and ulcers, causing the joints to stiffen and finger nails to drop off. Mercury and potash make wrecks, not cures, and those who have been dosed with these drugs are never after free from aches and pain.

ever for this. All correspondence is held in the most sacred confidence.

THE SWIFT SPECIFIC COMPANY, ATLANTA, GA.

THEY SPEAK FOR EXPERIENCE.

Farmers Tell of Profits They Made by Patronizing a Roundlap Plant.

Seeing in a Southern paper the names of a number of farmers who hauled their cotton last year to the roundlap press operated by Mr. D. M. Ezell, at Faulkner, Texas, the Southern Farm Magazine of Baltimore wrote to them to learn whether their experience had shown the roundlap baling method to be profitable to farmers. Without exception the replies were highly flattering to the roundlap bale; not one contained any criticism of it.

Mr. H. W. Dickson, of Crisp wrote: "Mr. D. M. Ezell ginned my entire crop last season. Part of my crop I had ginned into roundlap bales and part I sold in the seed. The first that I had ginned was in the first days in September, for which I received 6 cents per pound. The square bale was selling on the same day in Eouis market for 5 50 to 5 55. On November 6, I sold eight round bales for 7 25 For cotton sold in the seed I got from two cents to 2 47. I would say that there was a square press in competition with roundlap press at the point where I gin, and I had the opportunity of comparing prices. According to my judgment, the roundlap press was a great benefit to the producer."

Mr. L. M. Julian, of Crisp: "I sold Mr. D. M. Ezell seed cotton, which I hauled past two square gins. Neither of these gins would offer me more than 2 cents a pound in the seed. They also stated that they would lose money at that. So Mr. Ezell's roundlap price caught me at 2 45."

Mr. J. L. A. Grizzard, of Bristol: "I received from $1 50 to $3 50 on each bale put up on the roundlap bale press operated by Mr. D. M. Ezell more than I could have received from the square bale. I figured very closely on the difference in the two presses, and it is my honest conviction that the round bale press paid its patrons more for cotton than the square bale press."

Mr. J. M. Andrews, of Bristol: "I had 100 bales ginned on the roundlap bale gin, and am well pleased with results."

These are samples of many letters, written by farmers all over the cotton states, bearing witness to the fact that roundlap bales bring the producer higher prices than square bales.

Work of the Next Legislature.

The next Legislature will have some responsible positions at its disposal. Each position has an incumbent, and each incumbent will no doubt try to succeed himself. But from work being done in behalf of some parties it looks as if there is some misunderstanding as to the vacancies to be filled at the next session which begins in January.

At that time there will be no dispensary officials to elect, but a Superintendent of the Penitentiary and two directors are to be elected, as the terms of Superintendent D. J. Griffith and Directors A. K. Sanders, of Sumter, and T. C. O'Dell, of Pickens, expire within the year. The Asylum R gets are appointed by the Governor, and there will be no vacancies in the board of trustees of colleges to be filled next January—February. There is no question as to the reelection of the efficient Superintendent of the Penitentiary, C. plain Gr. H.

A suc or Senator B. R. Tillman is to be chosen at the first session, and as he has been nominated in the primary, the election will be formal.

There are but two places on the Circuit Bench to be supplied at that time. The term of Ernest Gary, of Columbia, expires June 5th, 1901, and that of D. A. Townsend December 15th, 1901.

It is not until the session of 1902 that there is a vacancy on the Supreme Bench, that of Associate Justice Ira B. Jones, of Lancaster, whose term expires July 31, 1902. The Circuit Judges' terms expire in the following order: George W. Gage, of Chester, February 5, 1902; R. C. Waits, of Chesterfield, February 14, 1902; J.

AFAMOUS BEAUTY'S RESCUE

Zsally Marshall's Walk Over a Hedge at Niagara.

Writing of "The Loveliest Woman In All America," William Perrine, in The Ladies' Home Journal, recalls the thrilling adventure of Emily Marshall, the famous Boston beauty, at Niagara Falls. She, with Nathaniel P. Willis and a young, ungainly college student, Job Smith, attempted to go under the falls, in those days a perilous undertaking. After they had proceeded a short distance under the sheet of water there was a rumbling noise and a commotion, and a part of the ledge which formed the path disappeared, cutting Miss Marshall off from her companions by an abyss six feet in width and leaving her but a small stone in the swirling torrents to stand upon.

"In the commotion Job had been forgotten, but instantly a ray of hope shot into Willis' heart when he saw his rugged features, his sandy hair plastered over his forehead, his scanty dressing clinging to his form like a skin and his hand trembling on the poet's shoulder as he steadied his steps. Without saying what he intended to do he crept down carefully to the edge of the foaming abyss till he stood up to his knees in the breaking bubbles. It seemed impossible that he could reach the lovely creature or that she could jump forward safely from the slippery rock into his arms.

"Willis covered his eyes in fear and wonder. The next moment when he opened them there lay at his feet the quivering and exhausted girl. Job was nearly seven feet high. He had flung himself over the gulf, caught the girl with his fingers and with certain death if he missed his hold. Miss Marshall had quickly walked over his body in its bridglike posture. At this moment the guide returned with a rope, fastened around one of Job's feet and dragged him back through the whirlpool. When he recovered from his immersion, he fell on his knees in a prayer of thanks to God, in which the poet and the beauty devoutly joined him."

Reasoning From Analogy. Freddy is the son of a Fourth avenue stockbroker, you will understand, and is therefore familiar with some of the terms of the profession.

"Papa," said Freddy, "is there such a worm as a bookworm?" "Well, my son?" "There is such a creature, Freddy, but it is very rare. The term bookworm, however, is applied to a person who is continually poring over books."

"And papa?" "Well?" "The bookworm is a boring over the letter 'A' in worm?"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Appropriate Shades. A party of Americans were sitting on the upper deck of a Rhine river boat enjoying the charming scenery. One was reading aloud from a guidebook about the various castles as they came into view. Just as the boat was passing one of the finest old buildings a woman in the front exclaimed to her companions: "Why, that castle is inhabited. See, there are blinds at the windows."

"No," said a man standing by her side; "those are the shades of their ancestors."

Monstrous. "Dye notice, young change since ye was here before, son?" asked the native guide at the lakes of Killarney. "How do you know I was never here before?" asked the American tourist. "Faith, son, no man ever comes here that hasn't been here before."—Philadelphia Record.

Feminine Threat. He—Have you done as I asked, Elsie, and saved some money this month? She—Oh, yes. I spoke to the grocer and asked him not to send in his bill till next month.—Pileague Blatter.

HE ASPIRED TO OFFICE. And He Will Never Forget His First Lesson in Politics. One Detroitter who hopes some day to be elected to the legislature jollies the reporters by saying that he used to be a member of the craft. One of them, who prefers evidence to bare assertion, asked the political aspirant all about it and extorted this reluctant explanation:

"Well, just between you and me, it was this way: My father ran a weekly paper down in Indiana, and it was the party organ in the county. When I got home from college, I made up my mind that I was about ripe to be the clerk of courts. The old gentleman told me that I was pretty raw, but he agreed to be my strategy board and said he reckoned he could pull me through if I obeyed orders and make no moves on my own responsibility. I see now that he was a great general, but you know how heady a young fellow is before the world has bumped him a few times.

"So I put up what I thought was a great scheme and kept it from the governor. The truth is that I thought him just a little slow for my class. The man against me on the opposition ticket I hired in another town, and we had never met. So I went over there, told him that I was a reporter from my father's paper and proceeded to get his plans for making the fight.

"We had a delightful talk for an hour, smoking his cigars and sampling the juice of the grape from his own vineyard. I was too tickled to words to get into the business part of the matter, but I liked to have gone to a faint. It just dawned upon me that my smooth boss hadn't told me a confounded thing and had got out of me my campaign to the minutest details. I was beaten to a standstill, and the old gentleman advised me to move."—Detroit Free Press.

Mail Box Honesty. "That naive trust in human honesty that once here is distinctly American," said an Englishman, pointing to a letter box. "I would like to see a confident business man's packages and large envelopes on the top of the post boxes. They would be taken before the glue of the stamps was dry. There is another reason why we can't do that at home. Our dear old London fogs would wipe out the address in short order, and unless the collections were frequent the paper would be reduced to a pulp. A dry climate makes you Americans talk with a dreadful confidence, but it shows up your honesty."—New York Tribune.
