There is a time for the enjoyment of pleasure and a time to be devoted to hard work. The latter time is upon us now and about the first and most important thing to be considered is where can the best and cheapest family and plantation supplies be bought? In answer to this important query we ask have you ever tried the house of Wm. Platt & Co., of Columbia. If not call on them at once and see their immense stock of these goods and learn their prices. For cheapness they cannot be undersold and for superiority of goods they cannot be surpassed. Give them an order and you will be satisfied with the results.

A Beautiful Surprise Party.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

The old family residence of the late Rev. J. H. Bailey was visited on the night of December 29th, 1900, by a large company of the neighbors and friends of the family in the capacity of a donation party. This kindly deed was done in loving remembrance of the greatly revered father and mother of Mr. J. E. and Miss Laura Daily who still reside in the dear old homestead. The gifts were many and useful—among them, one attracted special attention, as it bore the name of the venerable and elect lady Grandama Corley.

The recipients of these gifts will ever feel deeply grateful to all who so royally and tenderly remembered them, and so beautifully honored their departed parents. A touching event of the evening was the directing of the attention of this assembly to the beautiful memorial tablet adorning the walls of the parlor, upon which were inscribed the names of father, mother and son with the appropriate words: "Gone but not Forgotten," being literally verified in the loving deeds of those present. Precious is the consolation that the memory of the pure and the just is fraught with immortality.

It is most gratifying to all our Lutheran people to know that Rev. J. H. Bailey, for many years the beloved pastor of St. Stephen's Lutheran church, is held in such affectionate and sacred remembrance and his children are so greatly respected and loved.

It is not at all pleasant to be eternally dunning delinquent subscribers nor is it profitable either, therefore we are determined to strike the names of all such from our list. Before doing so, however, we will give them another opportunity to settle. A representative of the Dispatch will attend the Auditor on his rounds and it is hoped and expected that all who are in arrears will meet him when in their neighborhood and pay a portion if not all what they owe you that you can.

There is to be no cutting and slashing of Lexington county. Every attempt to do so has proven a dismal failure.

Swansea's Doings.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

Another Christmas has come and gone and one more year will soon be added to the thousands since the Creator in his might and wisdom, made the wide creation. The first day of January is next Tuesday and another century will commence its momentous circles. It has not so many years since the first day of the year was the 25th day of March. That is how the name of September, October, November and December came into common usage. September means seventh, October eighth, November ninth and December tenth months, when they are really ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth months.

Christmas has been a quiet one, but little drunkenness and rowdiness around. "Santy Claus" made his visits to the dear little children and none have been neglected. To see the little happy faces, telling of the many happy hearts within and witness their festive, innocent, childish glees makes us older ones vainly wish to be children again, if only for a little while, and really could we but gain the poet's prayer and desire when years ago he wrote: "Turn backward, turn backward o time in thy flight; And make me a child again just for tonight!"

How many of us would so joyfully forget the dignity of manhood or womanhood, and join in these gambols with our little ones.

The sacred historians tell us that we are the children of a king, the offspring of a prince that owns all nature and all her extended realms. With such an inheritance why are men and women not cheerful and happy too?

On Christmas day the head of a household near Swansea sent the little ones to the place where safely, (as they thought) had been placed two large cakes for the happy day but quickly returning the messengers told that that "some mean, greedy dog" had broken in and had eaten both cakes, Mamma, Mamma! A kind of sigh passed over the elder ones, and the astonished little messengers conjecturing was a fine occasion for the artist to display his calling.

With our joys and gladness we have had our distress and pains. Mrs. L. V. Gant has been confined to her house for some time but her physician considers her condition much improved. Several cases of sickness in the vicinity but none dangerous or critical.

The school here continues to thrive and grow and Jas. V. Smith has over one hundred and twenty pupils enrolled.

Archie Martin, who graduated last summer at S. C. College with distinction, is teaching a flourishing school at Oak Grove, about five miles east of Lexington.

Linwood D. Corbett from Furman University and Vivian Rust from Columbia Female College are home for Christmas.

Swansea's Doings.

The British government has placed an order for fifty thousand mules to be purchased in America at once, consequently mule flesh is on the upward grade, those of our farmers needing farm mules had better purchase at once before the prices go out of sight. The Gregory-Rhea Mule Co., of Columbia, have on hand 85 head of mules and horses, which they bought right, and they propose to sell quick so as to get out of work and get more before the Brits get started. Now is the time to buy as the "early bird catches the worm."

All property shall be valued for taxation at its true and honest market value, in all cases not specially provided for by law, shall be held to be as follows: To wit: For personal property the usual selling price on the usual terms of similar property at the place where the return is made; and for real property, the usual selling price on the usual terms of similar property at sales for public order under order of court, at the place where the return is made. If there is no usual selling price, then at what is honestly believed could be obtained for the same at a sale under the conditions above mentioned.

It shall be the duty of each owner of lands, and of any new structures thereon which shall not have been appraised for taxation, to list the same for taxation with the Auditor of the county, in which the lands are situated, on or before the 25th day of February next, after the same shall become subject to taxation.

Section 6. Tax on land and after the passage of this act, there shall be assessed and levied on all taxable lands in this State a tax of one dollar on each pole, the proceeds of which tax shall be applied solely to educational purposes. Every male citizen between the ages of sixteen and sixty years, except those incapable of earning a support, from being natural or from other causes, and except those who are exempt by law, shall be deemed liable for poll tax. All returns for taxation must be filed with the Auditor not later than February 20th, 1901, after that date the law requires an addition of 50 per cent. to the last year's return.

The entire Hutto family here have gone to Chiriquin to spend some rest under the paternal roof. One farmer near here has demonstrated that his cats eat more than the rats destroy and that it is economy in him to kill or sell them. Our Saxo ancestors did not know the word cat at all but named it "The Custos 'Horrei', or custodian of the barn, and was deemed of such importance that for one to kill another's cat was a severe offence and had to be paid in grain, for it was that it was considered to guard. The punishment for cat killing was to swing up by the tip end of its tail, and just allow the nose to tip a level floor in the master's barn and the killer had to pore on shelled grain till it's tail was entirely hidden from sight. In case of a very large cat it would take several bushels to rise in the shape of a potato stack till the entire cat and tail were hidden.

Mrs. Spector says she has two cats that get more than that and that two of them she will sell for less if there is any demand for them.

Prof. Brooker of Orangeburg Collegiate Institute and Mrs. Minnie Simpson and Ethel Brooker are spending the holidays with the family in Swansea. Spectator.
