The County Pension Board. The County Pension Board will meet at Lexington, C. H., Monday, January 21st, 1901, at 11 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of organizing and receiving applications for pensions. Widows are required to sign their applications with their own initials. All applicants for pensions must make out new blanks. All blanks must be suitable to each applicants case. Old blanks will not do. Each applicant must have one or more witnesses, who are not applicants for pension and who knows the conditions as set fourth in your application. All disabilities arising from disease or otherwise since the war will not be considered. Pensioners who have moved to another county must have there names transferred to that county. All applicants must give their names and initials in full. Be sure you have the blanks to suit your case. Blanks can be had by calling on each township representative, where there is no representative call at the Clerk of Court's office and you will find them.

I thank my friends and customers for their liberal patronage in the pas', as I certainly feel very grateful to them. I will devote most of my time to the dry goods trade and will be glad to see any Lexingtonian at my place of business. The ladies especially are invited to call and examine my complete stock and I will quote prices that will please them. I bespeak a liberal share of patronage for Mr. J. A. Platt.

Salesday in January.

January salesday is perhops the most im portant commercial day of the 365 which comprises the calandar year No matter how stormy and tempestous the weather. or how fair or ca'm it may be, the farmers of the county, as a rule, leave the cheerfulness of their comfortable and pleasant homes to congregate at the Court House for the purpose of transacting such business as they may have in hand and also to complete all necessary arrangements for the succe-stul prosecution of farming operations for the coming s ason. This might also be considered as as a gala day for mere social considerations are the inducements which impels many of our Country Conssins to spend one day out of the year in town, and this class swelled the already large crowd into huge proportions and our streets presented quite a lively and busy

It is an omen of good to see town and country folks commingling in friendly relation. It draws us closer together and cements and rivets the bonds of humanity which should, and was so intended by the Creator of all things, bind frail humanity in bonds of love. We can better understand the needs and necessities of one another and thus be able to lighten the burden of some poor stuggling brother who is tottering under a weight of cares and adversities and by doing so make the world happier and brighter for ourself. Every good deed performed will bring its own reward.

We too often neglect or of entire as shut our eves and stop our ears to the demands of social duties. In the mad rush after the Almighty Dollar we are forgetful of our higher and nobler relations in reference to God and man. We are prone to crush and grind, to smother and drown all that impedes our way, totally regadless of the suffering and misery, the pain and sorrow we leave behind as milestones of condemnation that will surely rise in judgement against us in the day of reckoning when we will be forced to ask ourselves the question, "Am I my brother's keeper."

Let us turn over a new leaf and upon its unsaliied page write the determination to be more thoughtful and considerate of the feelings of others in our intercourse with our fellow man and more sociable with our friends and neighbors in the future than we have ever been in the past. This can be accomplished without doing ourself an injury or without the loss of a copper. And having faithfully and conscientiously performed our duty according to the stan 1 ards laid down in the laws of nature, the sun shall shine more brightly, the flowers bloom more beautiful and the birds sing more sweetly and we will be the happier in the thought that the world is better by reason of our sojourn in it.

The legal sales drew quite a crowd in in front of the court house and at times the bidding was lively and spirited and the property changed ownerships at fair prices. The Sheriff made the following sales:

Removal Sale.

Mr. W. F. Fartick, who by the way, is a Lexingtonian by birth and raising, has met with such marvelous success in his one year's business career in Columbia, that he has been compelled to seek larger and more commodious quarters. About February 20th, he will move into his new stores, next door to his present one, which have been built expressly for him. In the building there are three floors. The basement will be used for the house furnishing goods which will contain one of the best assorted stocks ever seen in that city. The middle floor will be used exclusively for the retail department and the third floor as the wholesale department. In the meantime to facilitate moving he is offering his immense stock at a great sacrifice. See his advertisement in this issue and consult your interest by making your purchases there.
