"Scraps of History."

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

It is not the purpose of the writer to attempt at this time any extended notice of the Indian tribes which once peopled the county in which our people are now living so happily and so prosperously. Two hundred years ago John Lawson, the surveyor and historian, visited the Congaree tribe on the river of that name and was much pleased with their appearance. He declares "these are a very comely sort of Indians, there being a strange difference between the proportions and the beauty of these heathens; the women being as handsome as most I have met withal, there being several fine figured brunettes amongst them. The lassies stick not upon hand long, for they marry very young, as at twelve or fourteen years of age." The Edisto and the Saluda likewise had their homes and hunting grounds here, while from time to time the forests, so familiar to us now, resounded with the hideous warwhoop.

Their first conflict with the whites in our county was in 1712 when Col. Moore assembled his forces on the Congaree and defeated a band of their warriors. In 1759 and 1760 this section was on the frontier and the Indians, under instructions of the French commanders, were guilty of outrages and atrocities unknown to civilized warfare, and the settlers here were forced to abandon their homes and seek refuge temporarily in Charleston, Orangeburg, Puryburg on the Savannah and elsewhere. The first white men came to Lexington in 1737 and settled along the Congaree river. They came from Switzerland and Germany, and there were among them names which are still known and honored; notably the Geigers, Kinslers, and Levers.

Later, from 1740 to 1750, an excellent class of immigrants came from the Rhine and from the banks of the Elbe and the Oder. The purpose of this paper is to show the beginning of the religious organizations in the section now known as Lexington. The first minister who ever preached here was the Rev. Christian Theus of the German Reformation Church. He began his work in 1739, just two years after the arrival of the earliest settlers, and continued to labor successfully till his death in 1789, a period of fifty years. He passed through great trials and dangers and was often persecuted for righteousness sake, but continued steadfast in the faith and accomplished most excellent results. His earnest piety has never been doubted and was manifestly a man of strong intellect and of a fair degree of culture. He was born in Switzerland early in the eighteenth century and died near his close and was buried near his home and the scenes of his labors, about eight miles from Columbia on the "State Road."

Some years after his death the Hon. Abram Geiger erected a tablet at his grave which has this inscription: "This stone points out where the remains of the Rev. Christian Theus lie." Testimonials to his high character also appear. The evidence is conclusive that the first church constituted in the county was St. John's German R-form Church which came into existence under the labors of Mr. Theus in 1744 probably. It was located near where Thom's creek crosses the old State Road about eight and one-half miles from Columbia; though the church was constructed about a half century before the city was laid out. This church is no longer in existence and has perhaps been extinct for more than one hundred years. It is believed that the building was destroyed during the Revolutionary War.

As early as 1750 there were said to be two hundred and eighty persons here of the Lutheran faith and they were trying thus early to have one of their ministers located among them. It is not clear, however, that they succeeded in securing church privileges until some ten or fifteen years later.

About 1765 the Rev. Lewis Hochheimer came to the Congaree settlements and organized the Salem or Sandy Run Lutheran church, and constructed a church on the banks of the river where the settlements were, about 3 miles from where the Sandy Run church now stands. The health of the people where they first settled was not good and they were forced to build their residences in the sandhills and the church was moved some years later. There is some doubt as to the uninterrupted existence of this church. It is told that it was so nearly extinct in 1811 that a reorganization was necessary. If there was continued existence, this is the oldest church in the county, as it antedates any other church now existing about two years. You church, near Lorick's Ferry, was constituted in 1767 on the spot where the church now stands, and enjoys the distinction of being the oldest church in Lexington which occupies the original nal site on which it was constructed. So far as the records show Rev. Lewis Hochheimer was the second minister who labored here; and the first Lutheran minister. The Rev. J. N. Martin was between the Broad and Saluda rivers as early as 1767 and was the first minister to reside there.

In 1784 there were fifteen churches incorporated in the State and among them, the following in Lexington county appear in the order here named: "Salem, on Sandy Run; Mt. Zion, on Twelve Mile Creek; Bethel, on High Hill Creek; St. Peter's, on Eighteen Mile Creek; and Wateree, on Wateree Creek."

Zion, on St. Peter's and Bethel formed a pastorate more than one hundred years ago. St. Michael (Blue Church) was constituted in 1814. St. Stephen's (Lexington C. H.) Nazareth and Platt Springs about 1830; St. Andrew's in 1835; St. David's 1845; Macedonia in 1840. Salem, on Hollow Creek, was probably constituted before the close of the Eighteenth century.

The earlier ministers of the Lutheran Church were Lewis Hochheimer, 1755-1774; J. N. Martin, 1767; F. A. Wallberg, 1787; F. J. Wallers, 1788; J. G. Bamberg, 1798; C. C. Bernhard, 1790-1809; J. U. Marsard, 1800; J. Y. Meetez, 1810-1832; Godfrey Dreher, 1810-1835; Michael Rauch, 1824; Jacob Moser, 1824; J. G. Schwartz, 1831; Jacob Wingard, 1831; Daniel Dreher, 1831; David Bernhardt, 1835-1843; W. Berly, 1835-1850; G. G. Halliwaenger, 1831; J. F. Leppard, 1841; S. Bouknight, 1840 E. L. Hazellius, 1831. The dates above given refer to the years when these Christian pioneers were in active work, without reference to the time of their birth or death.

The splendid record, the great achievements and the high character of these heroic soldiers of the cross entitle them to a far more extended notice than can be given here. These names are enshrined in the hearts of the people, and honored on the records of their Church.

The Lutheran Theological Seminary was established in 1839 and located at Lexington C. H. in 1833, and was in successful operation there for many years. Dr. E. L. Hazellius, a Prussian by birth who came to America in 1800, a Christian gentleman of exalted character and extraordinary culture, was elected President in 1833. Among the Professors were J. G. Schwartz, first Professor of Theology, who died before the institution was fully organized, Washington Muller, J. F. Leppard, Wm. Berley and S. E. Coughman.

BIG DRIVES IN ALL THE DEPARTMENTS.

Bates & Walker, COLUMBIA, S. C.

This school was afterward transferred to Newberry C. H. and became the flourishing and widely known Newberry College. After the war the buildings were occupied by United States soldiers, who abused them to such an extent as to render them totally unfit to be used for the purposes for which they were designed, and the Seminary went with the College to Walthalla, from thence it was carried to Salem, Va., and then back to Newberry, and from thence to Mt. Pleasant where it is now located.

The Lutherans have long been much the strongest numerically and financially of all the religious denominations in the county. The churches are numerous and the membership active and progressive. If the names of any of the older churches are omitted the writer can only plead that the information has not yet been acquired. It is not intended to include in these papers the more recent organizations. The origin and progress of the older churches of the other denominations will probably appear at some subsequent time.

Sausea, S. C. W. T. B. April 18, 1901.

P. S. Readers will remember that it was stated in the beginning that there would be no attempt at orderly arrangement of the "Scraps" at this time. The present purpose is to place the facts on the record so that they may not be lost, and it will be easily possible to arrange them properly hereafter.

Our sketches of earlier settlers and founders of large families will appear from time to time. Accounts also of skirmishes, battles and interesting incidents of various kinds are on hand and will be written up as information may be verified and as fancy may direct.

Facts and incidents are earnestly solicited and corrections will be gladly pencilled in copies of the "Sketches," which will be preserved. The writer takes this occasion to thank Mrs. M. F. Harman publicly for her recent correction in the county paper. Much of the information received is conflicting and errors necessarily creep in when attempts are made to record occurrences of the distant past.
