The Lexington Dispatch G. M. HARMAN, Editor and Publisher. LEXINGTON, S. C.. WEDNESDAY, JULY 17, 1901.

Swansea Doings.

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

The coru- and cotton crops are both badly behind and the prospects now far from bright. From excessive rains we are having it very dry, but appearances now are for rain in a few hours.

The Union meeting on the fifth Sunday was well atlended and was a very good off ort for the Baptist. The Rev. G L Finch from Brookland preached the introductory sermon on Saturday, and Rev. Henry Fallaw on Sunday in place of F. H. Poston, the appointce, preached the charity sermon. The queries were interesting and well and humorously discussed. The Baptist have decided to protract their meeting on 4th Sunday next.

A party left here last Wednesday on an excursion train for Asheville, N C. W. B Rast and wife and Miss Lillie Gantt of our town and some others went on it.

Prof. Wilfred Brooker has been confined for several days to his bed with fever but is improving.

Mrs. Leila E Knotte, and her little boy, Willie D, and Mrs. M. C. Corbitt have gone on a visit to relations in Leesville and Mt. Willing in Saluda county.

Mr McDaniel has purchased the dwelling vacated by Mr. J. B Nunamaker and he and family have moved into it, and on Toursday night the young folks of the town had quite a nice time with them in their new home.

The County Board has appointed W. T. Brooker, L. P. Smith and J. L. Jumper as trustees to conduct our school here for the next two years.

We hear a great deal about blood and blue blood, etc., but one lady below here in Orangeburg county, so far as I know, is the only person who can boast of cow blood in her veins. While in Atlanta some time ago she came near bleeding to death and to prevent the end, if possible, the doctors there injected over two quarts of blood from a young heifer and

Dead. To the Editor of the Dispatch:

William Brooker Plunkett was born in that portion of our county known as "new Lexington", now a part of Aiken county, on the famous waters of McT:er, known for generations as the birthplace of soldiers and statesmen. There on the farm William was brought up accustomed to out door labor and active exercise, he grew up a model in physical man hood as well as moral worth, but ere he was fully grown be heard the bugle call of his country and at the first blast he fell in line with the brave sons of Carolina and for four way of the gallant 14th S.
