Death of J. M. Smith.

Mr. J. M. Smith died at the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. J. M. Hook, in Columbia, on March 5th, after a long illness. Mr. Smith was a public spirited and popular citizen of that city having at one time served the city as Alderman from Ward 4th, and was a Magistrate for a number of years. He was a native of this county, having been born in the neighborhood of Leesville and was well known here. He will be buried tomorrow.

A Real Minstrel.

Smithdeal & Browne, the managers of the Columbia Opera House, deserve the thanks of the fun loving public for having succeeded in booking "Haverly's Minstrels," one of the most pronounced real minstrel combinations now before the public. George Wilson, the recognized king of minstrelsy, is with this company and he is a whole team within himself in fun making. This company will appear at the Opera House in that city next Saturday night and no doubt a large number of people will go over to the city from this place to see "George."

Supreme Court Decisions.

The State Supreme Court has just handed down two decisions which are of interest to some of our people. The first was that in the case of John Campbell Brice, appellant, vs. R. W. G. Cayce and James Cayce. In this case the judgment of the lower court was affirmed. The second was that of Elizabeth E. Haltiwanger, as administratrix, respondent, vs. the Columbia, Newberry and Laurens railroad company appellant. This was an action to recover $7,000 damages occasioned by the killing of plaintiff's husband, a verdict of $1,750 for the plaintiff was given by the lower court. The Supreme court has set aside this verdict and granted a new trial.

Mrs. Isaiah Haltiwanger Dead.

Mrs. Fanny Haltiwanger, relict of Isaiah Haltiwanger, died at her residence in Columbia on Friday, February 28th, after an illness of two weeks. She first contracted La Grippe which afterwards developed into a case of pneumonia, which resisted the treatment of the best medical skill. She was a Miss Counts before her marriage and was born near Little Mountain 59 years ago. She was a resident of this place for a number of years and her Christian graces and cheerful disposition won the love of acquaintances and the esteem of the community. Her husband preceded her to the grave about a year ago. She leaves ten children—two sons and eight daughters—one of whom is Miss Nola, who is now with the mercantile establishment of W. P. Roof, in this place. The orphaned children have the sympathy of the community in their hour of sore affliction.

High Winds and Deep Thunder.

Thursday night witnessed the severest wind, rain and thunder storm that has visited this place in years. The wind was at times terrific, reaching a velocity of forty-five or fifty miles an hour, and the bottom of the clouds seemed to have dropped out losing their accumulation of waters and it looked as if the world was again to be submerged in the deluge of a flood. The thunder was rumbling, deep toned and angry and the lightning was vivid and sharp, but the warring elements quieted down and a peaceful calm followed the disturbance. No damage to life or property has been reported, but many citizens were greatly alarmed and walked the floor in fear and prayer during the prevalence of the storm.

Court Adjourned.

When we went to press last week the trial was in progress in the case of D. T. Here vs. Thos. H. Caughman, Sheriff. An action for "claim and delivery." The verdict, which was in favor of the plaintiff, was rendered Thursday morning.

In the case of Henry A. Meetze vs. Jesse K. Dooley, trespass to try title, the verdict was in favor of plaintiff with $150 00 damages.

The case of J. C. Fort vs. Southern Railway Company, after the jury was empanelled, was non suited. This case was brought by Messrs. Graham and Nelson, and damages in the sum of $1500 00 were asked. Mr. Fort was a passenger on a Southern train from Pelion in June, last year, and when the train reached Cayce, the crew and engine returned to Perry, leaving the passengers at Cayce. Mr. Fort was compelled to walk from there to Columbia, as he alleges, and for these and the other facts set out, he asks for above damages. Mr. E. M. Thomson was counsel for the corporation.

The case of H. B. Senterfiet and others vs. Amanda Shealy and others, brought by Messrs. B. W. Crouch and Efrd & Dreher, came up Friday and Saturday. Messrs. Graham and Strother represented the defendants. This was an action to recover possession of one hundred acres of land near Batesburg, but the verdict was adverse to the recovery. Judge Buchanan ordered the verdict set aside and granted a new trial.

Upon the call of the calendar for the third week, only one case was announced for trial, and after the the jurors were empanelled for it, the others were discharged.

The case tried was W. H. Gibbes & Co. vs. J. Marshall Shealy, brought by Messrs. Thomas & Gibbes of Columbia. Messrs. Muller & Sturkie appeared for the defendant. The case came to an end yesterday afternoon, when the Judge called the jury out of the room and ordered a mistrial. They failed to agree. It is stated that the jury was evenly divided.

But few equity matters were heard, so the court was adjourned sine die, and thus ended a long term of court, with little business disposed of.

Dedication.

The corner stone of Pilgrim's E. L. church, near Midway will be laid with appropriate service on Saturday before the second Sunday in March, service to commence at 10:30 a. m. Recess for dinner at 1 p. m. On Sunday at 10:30 a. m., an address: at 11 s. m. Dedication of the church, and dedication sermon by Rev. J. K. Efrd, after which the Holy Communion will be administered.

The following clergymen are expected to be present and deliver addresses upon appropriate subjects: Revs. J. G. Graichen, E. L. Lybrand, S. C. Ballentine, W. H. Roof, and S. L. Neece.
The public is invited.

Both the Newberry papers state that Col. John F. Hobbs editor of the National Provisioner, of New York, will visit that town in April. Col Hobbs was born on his father's plantation which lies partly in Lexington and partly in Newberry counties.
